It's the time of year again when the big, wide, and sometimes not so wonderful world prepares to greet thousands of graduating high school students who will be launching their search for success.

And "Old Man World" had better step aside if he doesn't want to get caught in their hustle and bustle.

Many of these leaving high school will go to college, take jobs or join the Armed Services.

They will exchange: caps and gowns for work uniforms, morning ride on the school bus to a car pool which will take them to their job downtown, lunch in the cafeteria with classmates for a ham sandwich and cup of coffee at the corner drug store during the noon rush.

Many will find what they are seeking in a manner of days while some probably search the rest of their lives. They will join the melting pot and next year another group will follow.

It's a sequence, one after the other. They come and they'll keep coming. Let's help them get started.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The benefits that aluminum foil offer sportsmen have been kicking around now for about 10 years. But as time goes on, even more developments are in common use. Campers seem to be the most ingenious when it comes to finding uses for this material.

For best results in aluminum foil cookery in the outdoors, the double strength foil should be used.

The old standby for lunch when in the field, is a "package" made up of a large hamburger patty, sliced potatoes, a little onion and seasoned to taste. This is folded securely in two thickness of heavy-duty foil, and slipped in your creel or hunting coat. At lunch time you build a small fire of dry wood so that it will burn down to coals quickly. Place the package on the coals and wait. Some modern-day outdoorsmen carry a fork with them, and after the lunch has steamed and sizzled a while they poke to see if the potatoes are done. Do not puncture the foil too soon, for by ruining the seal you will prolong the cooking time.

Fashion It Into Cups

But now, coffee and tea have been added to the menu. Pack an extra piece of foil, and as your lunch cooks you can fold it double and form it around your fist. Curl the edge back around the outside for added strength. Fill about one-half full of water and put your "cup" on to boil. This can be used for bouillon, instant coffee or a tea bag will produce a welcome brew. If coffee is desired, some outdoorsmen take little packets of sugar and powdered cream with them to stir in.

If you have been accustomed to eating a cold, smashed sandwich on your jaunts afield, a meal in foil will seem like a banquet.

If you are camping out, foil has even more possibilities. A throw-away frying pan can be made from a wire coathanger. Hold the hook in one hand, and grasp the bottom wire in the center with the other hand. Pull down until a square is formed, and stretch a double thickness of foil over the square and crimp under on all sides. By using the hook as a handle, you have a frying pan for bacon and eggs, flapjacks and the like. This "pan" may also serve as a plate, if you are like most campers and want to keep dishwashing chores to a minimum.

A rather sizeable pan can be built from foil by forming several thicknesses over a small tree stump of appropriate size. Fold back the edge for added strength as in the case of the cup. Those more advanced in the art of foil sculpture can form a handle at the lip of this pan.

One word of caution — foil will not rust away nor will it deteriorate. Leaving paper and tin cans at campsites and in the field are bad enough, but in time nature will destroy them. Foil seems to last forever, so you must either take it back home, bury it in the field or put it in a trash container.

Fishing Report

Walleye fishing at Hoover has been hot. Best catches have been made with nightcrawlers fished deep. If the weather holds out, I'll give you a first hand report next week.

ONE MAN'S Opinion . . .

Men Slaves To Clocks; Gals Live For Past

So you sit and wait for hours for your favorite young lady and you can't help wondering why.

Auble

You begin to think that she probably doesn't care very much about you or she wouldn't keep you waiting like this. But, this isn't the case at all.

The way I see it (and I've done my share of waiting) every man is like a clock and not very much like a calendar. On the other hand, every woman is like a calendar and not very much like a clock.

Men remember times. They're used to daily pressure from appointments and live by the second hand. But, how many times do they forget to send cards and flowers to their wives on a 10th wedding anniversary?

And, who's the first to cry when they do forget? The women. They remember every date — from a third cousin's birthday to Fathers' Day but, alas, 8 o'clock is as good as 7 to them.

The reasons?

It seems that women are slaves to the past. Men, on the other hand, are slaves to the future.

Going on the assumption that most women are sentimentalists anyway, the whole thing seems pretty logical.

A man, by nature, is supposed to have an adventurous spirit and always looks ahead to new horizons. The future, or the clock, means more to him than Valentine's Day.

A woman tends to look back at yesterday's romance but a man usually looks forward to next year's enterprise. She wonders what she has lost, while he calculates what he has to gain.

Of course, this is just one man's opinion. I suppose that all philosophies, if pushed to their logical and ultimate conclusion, are nonsense. The universe is too vast, too varied and, I suppose, too subtle to be contained in any structure or system of thought.

But, it is one philosophy that makes it a little easier for me when I'm waiting in the restaurant an extra 30 minutes for the main interest to keep her appointment.

— JOHN AUBLE, JR.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

From the Bible

The work of righteousness shall be peace.

—(Isiah 32:17).

Love, understanding and good will in the hearts of individuals are an absolute necessity before there can be love, understanding and good will among nations.

Feather Down

Shut In

Juvenile court hearing in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, was delayed for 15 minutes because a policeman accidentally locked himself in a cell with a prisoner.

Firetrap?

Flight Were Them Hurt

A masked bandit walked into a grocery in Tulsa, Okla., and said, as he drew his gun, "This is it." The proprietor pulled a 44 caliber pistol from under the counter. "You wouldn't shoot a man in the back," said the bandit as he fled from the store.

Reader Alarmed At Trend Of Current Legislation; Urges Individual Action

To The Publisher:

For some time I have wanted to write to you expressing praise and appreciation for two articles in the Hartley Newspapers, your Spectator column of Mar. 7 and the full-page speech "Who is Tampering with the Soul of America?" of Apr. 11.

In recent months, I have acquired an appreciation for pullishers who use their privilege of the press to mold public opinion to the conservative side. There is a dangerous philosophy being emanated today from most of the press and communication services.

You have an enviable opportunity to inform the citizens of the rural or fringe areas of the need for them to accept a greater responsibility in influencing their governmental processes, while they still enjoy that right.

In the last year, I have been doing extensive reading providing a background of the dangerous state we now find ourselves in as a nation. Of course, first, one must realize that we are in that dangerous state! Lack of this understanding is what is so alarming.

The next step, then, is to educate oneself to the point that one can exercise his powers intelligently to influence others, whether by conversation, writing to newspapers, or congressmen. Of prime importance is making individuals interested enough that they will search for themselves to find and recognize the truth, to keep informed on current legislation — much of which is fast leading us towards a stronger centralized government which means the loss of freedoms.

The quote is "no nation ever voted itself into communism", but it seems to me the voters of the United States have done a good job of putting us next door to that form of government.

I hope you have received some comment from your readers on these samples of conservative thought. My aim is to encourage you to pick up where you left off and do a weekly column on the economic and political aspects of a democratic republic, stressing the importance of the individual responsibility. I'm sure your satisfaction would be great in knowing you have contributed to the preservation of the basic principles of the original government of the United States.

"My problem is to make Frank stand still for the twelve-fifty!"

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK:

Tips Given For Your June Market Basket

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Strawberries, fresh pineapple, frozen orange juice.

June is the month for entertaining . . . with its weddings, graduations, Father's Day and just plain fun-togethers.

Mrs. Franks

And, the dairy industry reminds us that June is also Dairy Month — a period when our nation's cows give out a peak flow of milk, which means all dairy products are plentiful. Other June "plentifuls," say the marketing specialists, will be broiler-fryers and vegetable fats and oils.

Together, these foods can give you a chance to serve tasty, summertime meals at less than usual cost. Come June, most of us will have the charcoal grill out on the patio. So why not combine these plentifuls for a cook-out? Put a chicken on the spit, some potatoes or a few ears of corn over the coals. Add a tossed salad (to use those salad oils) and a tall glass of milk—and ice cream for dessert.

Eggs — any way you use them — give a lot of high-quality protein for your money. Egg prices have dropped to their lowest point in more than two years. Large supplies and low prices should be the story for the next several weeks.

Fresh fruit values are increasing at a more rapid rate than vegetables. Strawberries from California and our neighboring states are at peak of season. You'll find a wide range in quality and price, depending upon the source, as some areas have been hard hit by weather. Growers in the Columbus area expect the bulk of their berries the second and third weeks of June.

Watermelon volume is picking up and prices dropping Cantaloupe supplies are increasing and market men say they are good quality this year; sizes are running large. This is also pineapple season — mostly Mexican these days. Oranges continue to be in good supply from California and Florida, but grapefruit supplies are dwindling fast. A few peaches and sweet cherries are arriving — price in the luxury class.

Vegetables — asparagus and rhubarb, two of our nicest spring treats, are still available but will disappear shortly. There's still time to freeze those last packages.

Tomatoes — lots of them — is the story for the weeks ahead. Marketings of Ohio greenhouse tomatoes are seasonally heavy and harvest of early spring field-grown tomatoes in Florida, Texas and California is near its peak.

Cabbage prices remain higher than normal, but should drop as harvest gets underway in Southern Ohio by mid-June.

From a seasonal standpoint, the weeks ahead should bring larger supplies of green beans, beets, sweet corn and cucumbers and a steady volume of carrots, celery, peppers, potatoes, onions and radishes.

New Art Scholarship Awarded At Central

FIRST RECIPIENT of the new Bellows Art Scholarship at Central High is Julie Evans, shown with Miss Grace McGrath, teacher instrumental in events that led to the scholarship, and Hans Rietenbach, art teacher.

Many talented art students graduating from Central High in years to come, will have cause to be grateful to one teacher's interest in the field and her pride in an alumnus of the school.

Funds of the George Bellows Art Club, named in honor of Central's famous graduate, were used wisely and well by Miss Grace McGrath to purchase an original Bellows lithograph in 1940.

Then the art teacher at Central, she traveled to Dayton and an auction from the estate of Mrs. Valentine Winters to buy the work for $97.

Too valuable to hang unguarded, the lithograph was never displayed publicly at Central.

With the two-fold wish that the public might view the work and that Central students might benefit from it, Miss McGrath, now a history teacher at the school, discussed the matter with Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts officials.

The lithograph was formally presented to the College of Arts and Design last spring, and in return Central was given a perpetual $500 scholarship, to be awarded each year that the school has a gifted, qualified art graduate.

Julie Evans, June graduating senior of Central, is the first to receive the study grant. Miss McGrath and Julie's art instructor, Hans Rietenbach, were on hand Tuesday at the presentation.

A NEW BIBLE... for ME!
She really is delighted because her church is presenting her with a new Bible. She understands and appreciates this gift, because in earning it she has committed many verses to memory, and thus learned to value God's word. The churches desire that all would study and learn to love God.
Plan to attend church this Sunday and share in this knowledge and joy.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FRANCES SCHROEDER BECOMES BRIDE OF PAUL CHRISTIN IN MAY 12 RITE

MRS. PAUL A. CHRISTIN

St. Mary Magdalene Church was the scene of the solemn nuptial mass uniting Miss Frances Marie Schroeder and Mr. Paul A. Christin, Saturday, May 12.

Fr. Raymond Bauschard, assisted by Fr. Jerome K. Raiser and Fr. Robert E. Scheider, officiated at the ceremony at 11:30 a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Schroeder, 288 S. Roys-av, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. Ernest Christin, 665 Sulen-av.

The bridal gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta and net was designed with a basque bodice trimmed with pearls and iridescents, and a bouffant skirt featuring a tiered back of ruffled lace and tulle that extended into a wide, circular court train.

A queen's crown of lace and crystal held her fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a sheath carcade of Amazonicas surrounding pink demure sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Kathleen Wagner served as matron of honor for her sister and Miss Margaret Wagner, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, Mary Louise Wagner, also a niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Attendants were gowned in pink peau taffeta frocks with circular floor-length skirts, styled with back-inserted panels of contrasting tints of pink.

Four brothers of the bridegroom served as his attendants. Mr. Robert E. Christin of South Bend, Ind., was bestman, and ushers were Mr. John J. Christin of Gahanna, Mr. Milton J. Christin of Columbus, and Mr. Edward J. Christin of Dayton.

A reception was held at Ilonka's Provincial House.

The new Mrs. Christin was graduated from Mount Carmel Hospital School of Nursing and is now associated with the medical department of General Motors Ternstedt Division.

Mr. Christin attended the University of Detroit and was graduated from the College of St. Charles Borromeo. He also attended Mount St. Mary of the West in Norwood, and is now associated with Maxwell House Division of General Motors Corp. as area sales manager.

Following an extensive wedding trip to Ireland and England, the couple will return on the SS France and will be at home at 1197 St. Matthew-av.

Janet Gove And David Dye Exchange Wedding Vows Saturday At Westgate

The altar of the Westgate Methodist Church was decorated with sunburst arrangements of white carnations and emerald foliage, and banked with 14-branch candelabra and emerald trees for wedding of Miss Janet Marie Gove and Mr. David C. Dye, May 26.

Rev. Sydney C. G. Everson read the marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. Roger M. Gove, 301 Binns-blvd, are the parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carmen Dye, 1019 Loretta-av.

The bridal gown of organza over taffeta was designed with a pointed basque bodice, portrait neckline bordered with flower motifs, bracelet-length sleeves and bouffant skirt continuing into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet outlined with iridescents, and she carried a cascade of white snowdrift Fugi pompoms with yellow sweetheart roses.

Miss Joann Gove and Miss Judy Gove, twin sisters of the bride, served as maids of honor; Mrs. Ronald Shank, sister of the bridegroom, as bridematron, and Miss Linda Snider as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of pale turquoise organza over taffeta, styled along the same lines as the one worn by the bride.

Mr. Dale Rogers served as bestman, and guests were seated by Mr. Donald Shanks, Mr. Jon Gove, brother of the bride; Mr. Larry Price, Mr. Jerry Williams and Mr. Alton Hale.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church.

The new Mrs. Dye attended Ohio State University, College of Education, and Mr. Dye was graduated from Ohio State University, College of Commerce and Administration.

Following a wedding trip through the Eastern States, the couple will be at home, after June 15 at 32 N. Roosev.

He started in Columbia's Line Inspection Department in Columbus in 1928, was promoted to the Auditing Department in 1931, was transferred to Cincinnati as an auditor in 1937, and returned to Columbus with Ohio Fuel in 1943.

Reservoir Projects In Area Pushed At Capital Meeting

The Projects Committee of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at Washington has been urged by an Ohio delegation to place in Classification 1, which means endorsement, reservoir projects on Deer Creek, Big Darby Creek and Paint Creek, all in the Scioto River Basin.

The speaker at the annual meeting was Gen. Herbert B. Eagon, director, Department of Natural Resources, and the 25-man delegation represented agriculture, commerce and industry, recreation public water supply, public interests and state government.

The three projects are part of a comprehensive water management plan proposed by the Corps of Engineers for the basin. They have been authorized by Congress and placed in an active status. The basin plan includes additional reservoirs on Alum Creek, Salt Creek and Mill Creek, and local protection works at Columbus and Chillicothe.

"The Scioto River Basin is the most vulnerable to flood damages of any basin in Ohio," Gen. Eagon told the committee. "Damages in excess of $75 million are forecast from a flood of the magnitude of 1913, if no new protection works are built."

Each convention's project recommendations are presented to the president, vice-president, speaker of the house, the proper congressional committees and appropriate federal agencies. If the trio of Ohio projects gets top approval, congress will be asked to provide $250,000 for each for advance engineering.

The projects had received prior endorsement by the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, a semi-public body, in testimony before the Pubic Works Subcommittees of the House of Representatives and Senate in Washington on May 9-10. A statement approved by Governor Michael V. DiSalle was submitted by the director in support of the recommendations and discussed by John W. Ferguson, assistant director, at the time.

HOME BREW NIXED

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Times have changed and what was good for grandma isn't good for you so you can stop wiping your brow and complaining about the heat.

For, when the heat got to be too much for grandma—bless her heart—she'd trot herself to the basement, pull out the crocks and whip up a batch of home brew faster than you could say "Hey Mabel."

"There's been a lot of misunderstanding about the home brew law," said Glenn McAvoy, investigator in charge of the Columbus district for the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

So much misunderstanding in fact, that the Columbus police department wasn't even sure.

According to Lt. George Watts, he thought it was legal to make home brew for private consumption within the family circle.

"Not so," insists McAvoy. "Home brew is malt liquor and the private making of malt liquor went out with a state law passed in 1934 right after the repeal of prohibition."

And, the law is strictly enforced.

One interesting point, however, is that Ohioans are allowed to manufacture wine for their own consumption.

All you have to do is to notify the Federal Government that you intend to make wine in your home, then tell them how much you plan to make to keep within the alcohol tax unit restrictions, and a permit will be sent to you, quickly and cheerfully.

It might be pointed out that bootlegging and illegal manufacturing of booze are big problems in Ohio—and, according to McAvoy, "getting bigger all the time."

The Federal Government has revenue officials stationed in various cities throughout Ohio who work closely with the Ohio investigators.

"The bootleg problem is most prevalent in large cities and in smaller, rural areas that have been voted dry," McAvoy said. "There's many people bootlegging legal whiskey (selling legal whiskey without a legal permit—and, at a premimum) and giving us headaches, too."

Columbus Police Chief George Scholer joined in agreement with McAvoy's agreement. The chief stated that 12 arrests were made in Columbus last year for people processing moonshine or untaxed alcohol. Two small stills were found in this city last year, too and another one was found last April in East Columbus.

There must be some attraction to the fine art of still raiding.

A woman did apply for a job as a "revenooer" in this state, but she had a hard time convincing anyone of her capabilities over the laughter of a male civil service examiner after he heard her intentions.

"For her own personal safety as well as the arduous duties involved, I don't think a woman would be a good revenue officer," said George R. Pettway.

Cincinnati's district officer, Robert J. Zanone, chief of the technical rulings and services section of the U.S. Alcohol and Tobacco division, voices a slight note of alarm at the thought of a lady "revenooer" in Ohio's rural sections.

"There's often the element of chase," Zanone said, "for the violator may have to be pursued on foot."

It would be low heels all the way and little time for make-up or bubble bath.

About raiding a still, well . . .

Though it's overdramatized, combat may be one of the hazards of the profession. "It's a form of police work, let's face it," the Cincinnatian maintained.

The moonshiners simply might not submit peacefully to the lady's firm "halt."

It's a man's world when it comes to enforcing liquor control laws in this state and they are being enforced.

So, before you make that trip to the supermarket for a can of malt to help you beat the heat this summer, remember that times have changed. Tight controls are making sure that Ohio's liquor laws are obeyed.

Nothing left to do but crack the crock, I guess.

Aboard Heavy Cruiser

Paul T. Lane, radarman seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Dorothy M. Jones of 797 Whitehorne-av is serving aboard the guided missile heavy cruiser USS Boston, which took part in Exercise Quick Kick, a joint training operation held May 7-10 at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Frankoma Pottery Shoppe Offers Unique Ceramic Art

Mrs. Frank D. LeSueur is one of those rare women who has had the good fortune to have a love for fine art grow into a self-supporting business.

It all started with a trip out West, where she discovered unique Frankoma pottery in a gift shop. When she brought it home, the ripple of interest grew to the point where she now has taken on a dealership status carrying the complete line of Frankoma pottery in her home, 1959 Fairmont-av.

Frankoma pottery was designed and created in 1933 by award winner, John Frank, a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute and for several years an instructor of art at the University of Oklahoma. More than 300 pieces and four patterns of dinnerware, made in Sapulpa, Okla., retaining the traditional art of the Indians and molding the spirit of the American pioneer, are included in the line.

Brides-to-be are given special consideration by Frankoma Pottery Shoppe. Mrs. LeSueur stated: "The shoppe will present to the bride-to-be the first piece of the pattern which she selects, as a gift." She can list her selections in the shoppe's bride's book, so that friends will be able to purchase matching pieces.

In the privacy of the LeSueur home customers can leisurely inspect complete table settings and many other pieces of the Frankoma oven-proof pottery. In addition to the pottery there is personalized stationery, greeting cards, gift wrappings, decorative wood plaques created by a local artist, and other gift items of unusual designs.

Among the more popular new gift items are artificial flowers and planters. Two striking examples of these can be seen at Explorers Restaurant, 1080 Dublin-rd, and Anthony Thomas Candy Co., 1026 W. Broad-st.

Mrs. LeSueur points out that many clever effects can be achieved by combining various pieces of pottery with the aid of florists' clay. Demonstrations are by appointment.

Participates In Exercise

Jerry W. Ricketts, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mrs. Helen D. Ricketts of 250 S Hague-av is serving aboard the general stores issue ship USS Antares, which took part in Exercise Quick Kick, a joint training operation held May 7-10 at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

DURING THE 1960-61 school year, there were 1,702 part-time teachers employed by Ohio school districts.

JOE EISEMAN, manager of the Pub Restaurant, greets customers in front of the restaurant's mural of an English country carnival scene, inspiration for the name "Pub."

'Pub' Claims Steak Fame

Columbus' answer to an English pub is located at 38 W. Gay-st. The Pub Restaurant, inspired by "ye olde English" idea of what an eatery should be, has an atmosphere conducive to lingering over a glass of beer and conversation.

Most customers come for serious eating, however. The specialty of the house is the famed rib-eye steak. Its reputation, claims manager Joe Eisman "has spread as far as Texas. Last week a man from that state came in to see if the steaks were as good as he had heard they were. He didn't go away disappointed."

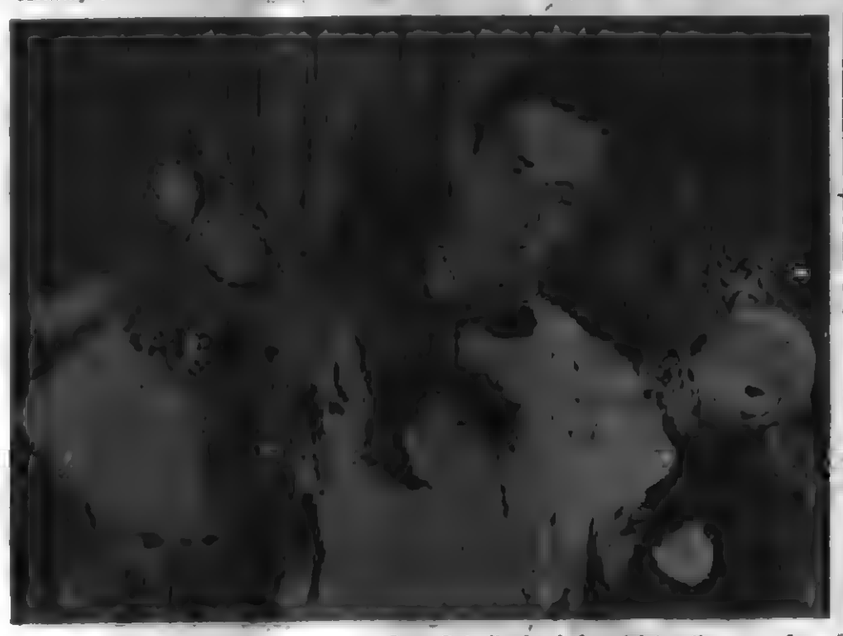
On a Saturday night from 4 to 9 as many as 300 steaks are served with all the trimmings.

Eisman, who has managed the Pub since 1956, boasts of a veteran kitchen crew who specialize in home-made dishes.

The Pub features business men's lunches and dinners, and has rooms available for private parties.

62 Symphony Has Varied Program

The Columbus Symphony will present nine concerts during the 1962-63 season.



Featured artists will include Casadesus, duo-pianists, who played to Columbus audiences several years ago; Michael Tree, American-born and trained violinist; Roberta Peters, famed coloratura soprano; Erica Morini, violinist, and Lorin Hollander, teen-age pianist.

The all-Brahms program will feature the Brahms Double Concerto with concertmaster George Hardesty and principal cellist Gordon Epperson.

The pops concerts will be a Lerner and Lowe program and a Viennese Night.

Liberto Coming

The Grandview Inn will feature the famed Dixieland group, Roy Liberto and his Bourbon Street Six, for a one-week engagement, beginning Monday, June 4. The versatile group excels in a well-rounded show in addition to their playing of Dixieland.

JOHN SUTTON is a young man from Detroit who, before joining the crew of the S.S. Aquarama, had toured the midwest with the Philip Morley Marionettes for four seasons. He has been heard as such varied characters in Toby Tyler, the Wicked Witch and the Cowardly Lion in the "Wizard of Oz," and the Grand Vizier in "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp." He has appeared in television, movies, radio and on the stage. Some of his varied portrayals include the Leprechaun Og in "Finian's Rainbow"; the Son in "The Desperate Hours" and Curly in "Green Grow the Lilacs."

'Sound of Music' and 'Molly' In '62 Theater Guild Season

Two eagerly awaited musical hits, "The Sound of Music" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," will adorn the '62-63 subscription program in Columbus of the Theater Guild-American Theater Society, under the auspices of the Council of the Living Theater.

"The Sound of Music," the last of the Rodgers and Hammerstein collaborations, won the Antoinette Perry Award (Tony) for the best musical in 1960. Now in its third season on Broadway, it is an amusing and sentimental story of how the Trapp family, bereft of wife and mother, became the joyously singing Trapp family under the guidance of a gay spirit brought to them as governess.

"The Unsinkable Molly Brown" is the exuberant new musical which enjoys a score by Meredith Willson, who previously captivated the country with "The Music Man." It tells the robust story of a girl from the mining camps who pitted her aggressive spirit against Denver society.

Renewals by old subscribers will be processed by May 28. Applications by new members who wish to be assured of seats for a most exciting series may be obtained this week and thereafter from Miss Wilson. Telephone: 224-6621.

Cast Announced For '62 Season

Denison Summer Theater personnel for the 1962 season includes three players from recent seasons, Lynne Kothera, '1960 Denison graduate who will be present for the first three productions before joining the Martha Graham Dance Co., on a U.S. State Department tour of Israel; John Schuck, 1963 Denison graduate who will appear in the final four productions, and Jack Johnson, who appeared in recently completed "Three-penny Opera," off-Broadway musical in New York.

Johnson will direct the opening play, "Make Mine Mink," to be staged June 12 in the tent on the lower campus of Denison University for five nights at 8:30.

New players to be featured this season are Joel Neshkin, 1959 Ohio State University graduate and both Theater and Stadium actor there with summer stock experience; Tom Ligon, 1962 Yale University graduate with one season's experience in stock in the East; David Selver, 1961 graduate of Kansas State College with experience in the Pittsburg, Kans., tent theater.

Others are Sherry de-Rhoden, junior at Carnegie Institute of Technology who toured in California as Daisy Mae in "L'il Abner" last summer; and Elizabeth Cole, senior at Lawrence College, who recently played a leading role there.

Summer Opera In Cincinnati

A season of eight operas will be presented in the outdoor covered pavilion of the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens, Vine and Erkenbrecher-ave., Cincinnati. Beginning June 20 the program will be given Wednesday through Sunday evenings each week for four weeks at 8:15 p.m. The season closes July 15.

At Ease . . . Timely Tips . . . For Pleasure

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Those who wandered into Larry's, 2008 N. High last Sunday night got an unexpected treat.

Californian Jessie Fuller, singer-folk singer, was there with his footdolls. This homemade contraption consists of a bass rigged up with two sets of cymbals that Fuller plays with his feet while accompanying himself on his guitar. When he is not singing, he plays a few bars on his harmonica fixed on a neck brace to leave his hands free for strumming. The result is one of the most original performances this side of a one-man circus. Out of this comes, surprisingly enough, good, hand-clapping music.

Beverly

Larry's, one of the liveliest places in town on a Sunday night, has a regular program of folk music, played straight.

Alain Resnais, whose "Hiroshima, Mon Amour" won acclaim last year, has another will-be-talked-about film in "Last Year at Marienbad."

This mysterious picture of three people and their shared experiences in an international hotel has already caused flurries of excitement in the movie world. We won't give away what happens—mostly because even after seeing it, one isn't quite sure.

Director Resnais is as mysterious a fellow as his own movie characters. Seems that even his best friends in Paris don't know exactly where he lives, whether or not he is married, or what he does when he is not film-making.

While shooting Marienbad" in Nymphenburg, the palaces of mad King Ludwig orf Bavaria, Resnais slept in the bedroom suite he used for filming the picture. "Last Year at Marienbad" is coming to the World and Bexley theaters.

New York Hit To Open Here

The "Marriage-Go-Round," which has its Columbus premiere at Playhouse-on-the-Green on Wednesday, June 13, played to packed houses in New York for 18 months. The comedy will play a ten-day engagement at the Playhouse tent theater.

Lisa Loughlin, who can be seen on the television series "Car 54," will appear in the POG production of "The Marriage-Go-Round."

Season tickets and individual tickets are on sale for all performances at Central Ticket Office, 46 N. High-st.

Mail orders must be accompanied by self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'Weeklies' To Spearhead Parade Of Homes Campaign

An extensive Parade of Homes advertising and promotion campaign, spearheaded by area weekly newspapers, will begin in early June, Neil E. Crabbe, chairman of the event, announced.

In addition, daily newspapers, television, radio and billboards will be used to publicize the nine-day event. Running from June 23 through July 1, the 1962 parade is the 11th such event sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus.

The Parade of Homes, being held this year in the Heritage area in Gahanna, has 23 cooperating builders, all members of the association. Twenty-six model homes will be on display representing all types of popular architecture — ranch, style, split level and two story.

According to Crabbe, all advertising and promotion will feature the theme of the event, "Patterns For More Pleasant Living" and will emphasize the new ideas to be seen there.

"A series of ads will be run in weekly newspapers for several weeks in advance of the parade opening," Mr. Crabbe pointed out.

"This is the second year the parade has relied heavily on weekly newspapers as a primary advertising media," the chairman continued. "The decision to use weeklies again this year was based on the results of last year's campaign."

Local Company Headquarters Of Home Contest

Rupert's Home Modernizing Co., Inc., 4400 Indianola-av., has been named as official contest headquarters in the Better Homes and Gardens 1962 Home Improvement Contest offering $30,000 in cash prizes, according to Joseph E. Rupert, president of the firm.

The firm will provide preliminary entry forms for the contest, give contest information, and help in planning home improvement projects. The contest, which will consider home improvement projects completed during 1962, is divided into four divisions: (1) exterior improvement, (2) interior improvement except in the kitchen and utility areas, (3) additions of any new, enclosed space to a house, and (4) kitchen and utility room improvements of existing areas or the addition of new areas.

A total of 111 cash prizes ranging from $100 to $10,000 will be awarded by the magazine.

Persons sending in preliminary entry forms, available at the firm, will receive from Better Homes and Gardens a final entry form which, when completed, will provide all the information necessary for judging. Rupert said "before" and "after" photographs and floor plan sketches are required.

The Golden-65 makes three coverages available: a 65-plus plan offering basic hospital-surgical protection; a $10,000 reserve plan that helps meet big hospital expenses, nursing home and surgical expense; an a $5000 Medical Plan that offers out-of-hospital protection to anyone who joins 65-Plus or the $10,000 Reserve or both.

A complete outfit made of Natural Gas!
Modern miracle fibers created by chemists are made using natural gas as a chemical raw material.
The suit, hat and sweater are made of Orlon. The handbag, gloves, shoes and luggage are different kinds of man-made fibers and plastics.
Chemists break the molecules of natural gas and combine these elements with other elements or chemicals. As a result, invisible natural gas becomes part of thousands of familiar, useful products.
Just as modern natural gas is used in so many wonderful things today, it will play increasingly important roles in the products of the future. Gas is truly the "ageless" fuel.

Sewer Line Injunction Now In Court

A suit asking the installation of any sewer line that would cause water from the west side of Phillippi-rd south of W. Broad-st to flow north, was filed last week in Common Pleas Court.

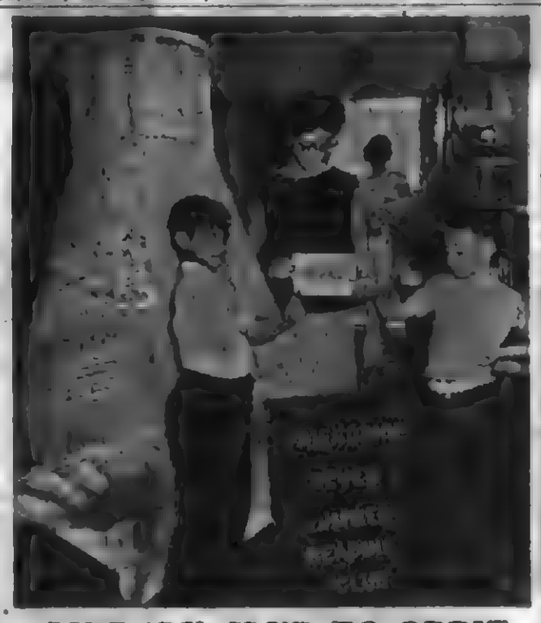
The suit was filed by Champion Amusement Co., 1187 N. High-st, owner and operator of the Miles West Broad Street Auto Theater near the northeast corner of the intersection, to prohibit the highway department, E. S. Preston, from installing the sewer line.

It is claimed the water would cause flood danger to the auto theater property.

A hearing on the suit, asking for an injunction to prevent the installation of the sewer line or damages of $75,000, has been set for Tuesday, May 29, 3 p.m., before Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman.

The sewer line would serve property where a proposed Lazarus store and a branch bank will be built.

Defendants in the suit, along with Preston, were Nationwide Development Co., Federated Department Stores Inc., the Huntington National Bank and the Complete General Construction Co.



The suit also charges Preston is spending state money illegally on the sewer, and that Nationwide has agreed to pay $103,887 to the state treasurer as a contribution to the project.

News 'n' Notes of Camp Fire Girls

A Camp Fire Sing will be held at the closed shelter house at Westgate Park June 7, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. The program committee urges all groups to attend.

The May West Leaders' Association luncheon-meeting was held at Nationwide Inn. It was a combination business meeting and fun party to express the district's appreciation to its director, Miss Marjorie Brehm, who will be replaced before the fall meetings begin. Miss Brehm is being transferred to another district.

The Matanda Camp Fire Girls, Marcia Armstrong, Mary Beth Canfield, Annette Clark, Alice Marie Ehman, Joyce Lape, Betsy Lehman, Debbie Randall, Kristie Stauch, Connie Tingley, and Mary Ann Vonlas, cooked and served a spaghetti dinner to their mothers to honor them for Mother's Day. This also completed their requirements for Fire Makers Rank. Their guardian is Mrs. Donald R. Ehman and her assistants are Mrs. Roy Vonlas and Mrs. John Canfield.

LIBRARY CLUB TO ORBIT

SPACE BOUND are youngsters who take part in Friendship Seven Summer Reading Club at all agencies of the Columbus Public Library. Enrollment begins Monday, June 4. Here, Miss Ellen Metzger, Hilltonia Branch librarian, gives a "pre-countdown" briefing to Eduardo Ruiz (left), 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Ruiz of 771 Hi[illegible]rne-av, and to Don Greve, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greve, 2570 Spentz-av. Young stars will read a specified number of "worthwhile" books and report on them to duplicate the three-orbit trip of Astronaut John Glenn and earn certificates of completion.

JUST TOO MANY PONIES!

Latham Grandchildren Started Hobby With Two, Now Have 25

When little Paul and Sue Ward and Linda McDavid were given two ponies in 1954 by their grandfather, Clarence Latham, little did they realize that they'd wind up with 25 only eight years later!

But that's just what happened — and that's become their problem: just too many Shetlands for a hobby. So, come Saturday, June 9, at 7:30 p.m., they — and Grandpa Latham — will hold a "reduction" sale.

Most of the animals, some not much larger than a large Shepherd dog, will have to go, according to their masters. It is their hope that they will find as nice a home as has been provided for them at the Latham farm, 6500 Scioto-Darby Creek-rd, where the sale will be held.

They're cared for them and worked with them and know the personality of each — and they do have individual personalities, the youthful groomers declare.

"We just hope," they chimed in, "that the ponies will give others as much pleasure as we've had."

Incidentally, the Latham grandchildren have matured, too! Paul, Sue and Linda are now 17, 15 and 12, respectively.

APPROPRIATELY NAMED Bunny, the Shetland colt at right was born on Easter morning at Latham farm, 6500 Scioto-Darby Creek-rd. Bunny's mother, Lady, is held by her owner, Linda McDavid.

Members of the battalion participate in continuous training exercises in the Caribbean and Mediterranean areas and at Camp Lejeune. Included in these maneuvers is the corps' concept of vertical envelopment, which employs helicopters and armored landing craft to attack an enemy simultaneously from the front and rear.

Satisfaction . . .

"There are days which occur . . . wherein the world reaches its perfection, when the air, the heavenly bodies, and the earth, make a harmony, as if nature would indulge her offspring . . . when everything that has life gives sign of satisfaction . . ."

Emerson said it.

This past week I observed it.

The place was the French River in Canada.

The occasion was an annual sojourn with good fellows seeking relaxation.

The affinity of man on earth to the heaven above is nowhere so pronounced as in the blending of the blue waters of a northern lake or river, bordered with evergreens, as the sky in the distance drops down to join the two together.

Radio Plane Reported 'Hijacked'

Airplane "hijacking" has hit a Hilltopper two times in the last eight months.

James Lett, 240 S. Hague-av, said his radio-controlled two-wing model plane went out of range the evening of May 29 between the State Hospital and State Highway buildings. Chasing it to the northeast, he came upon a railroad brakeman who said he saw two fishermen carrying the bright red plane away. It apparently dropped just beyond the railroad yards at McKinley and Grandview-avs.

Lett had a similar experience with an almost identical model last fall just north of Great Western Shopping Center. Witnesses said two boys carried that one away.

Lett said the first plane was valued at $70. The latest took almost a year to build and was made of $100 worth of hand selected materials. Both bear F & M Electronics decals and have Lett's identification on the inside.

A novice would have to acquire a $30 transmitter to fly the radio planes properly, Lett said. He reported the loss to police.

Street Vacating Request Denied By Valleyview

Zoning issues topped the Valleyview city council meeting Monday night.

A request to abandon the unimproved section of Powell-av, from Elliott-av to Valleyview-dr, and to annex it to the resident properties along each side was turned down by the council because half of the street would then go into the city of Columbus.

Council also discussed the possibilities of rezoning a corner lot of Valleyview-dr and Hague-av, which had previously been requested for multiple family dwellings, but denied

It was decided to install drain tile along Valleyview-dr, from Eldon-av to Dibblee-av before the street is resurfaced this summer.

A special meeting will be held June 18 to plan the budget for the next fiscal year and to clean up other matters not regularly handled in council meetings.

The budget has to be submitted to the county auditor by July 15 for certification.

June Dance Set At St. Agnes

June Dance, sponsored by the Athletic Association of St. Agnes Parish, will be held at the social hall, W. Mound-st at Wheatland-av, Saturday, June 9.

Round and square dancing will be to the music of Bob Husky's Orchestra from 9 p.m, until midnight, indoors and out, depending upon the weather.

DOUBLE DOUBLES IN THIS FAMILY

WELCOME WAGON representatives lead a fascinating life. Mrs. Dolores Perkins, seated, did a double take when she went to greet the Lowell Snook family, formerly of 3710 Rakin-rd, and, now of West Jefferson. She found two sets of twin girls less than a year apart in age. The twins are Cheryl and Carol now five weeks, and Joanne and Jackie, 12 months. Accepding to Mrs. Snook, standing, both pairs were born at the same hospital, Mt. Carmel, and delivered by the same doctor. "Twins were expected at the first birth, but the second set was a surprise," she said. Daddy is employed by the Westinghouse Corporation.

Play Field Migration Begins Here June 13

Takes a lot of work to organize a summer of play.

That was evident this week as the Columbus Recreation Department announced plans to open 77 supervised summer playgrounds Wednesday, June 13. Thirteen of the sites are on the Hilltop and West Side.

Hilltop Community Council again will see that the season gets off to a grand start in its territory. Representatives, mainly from the PTA's, have announced special opening ceremonies at all the playgrounds starting at 1:40 p.m. June 13.

Eager young buglers, most of them in Scout and Camp Fire uniforms, will sound the notes for flag raising and pledge. Then there'll be group singing, invocation by a neighborhood minister or priest, introduction of the playground staff by committee chairmen, a reading of the rules, and an afternoon full of contests and games. Groups will be divided into those 11-13, 7-10 and six and under.

From June 13 through Aug. 24, the city will maintain a Monday-through-Friday schedule of organized fun. Hours will be 12.30 to 8:30 p.m.

Playground highlights during the rest of June will include: June 14 — Flag Day, "Display Your American Flag"; June 13 and 14 — Junior Jet Baseball League meetings; June 18 — physical fitness programs begin; June 18-21 — playground pet shows; June 22 — sectional pet show at 6:30 p.m. at Glenwood Center; June 25 — four squares, horseshoes, and tetherball tournaments begin; June 27 — playground clown contests, and June 29 — clown contest finals at City Hall.

Indian Village Day Camp trips for boys and girls eight through 12 will be offered at each playground. Near West Side children will board buses at Sunshine Park, June 18. Hilltop boys and girls will be picked up

WATER-SEWER TAP ACTION DRAGS—

Engineering On River Work Approved

West area residents have an interest in several of the things which concerned City Council this week—namely flood control, the water-sewer tap freeze and annexation.

Tired of waiting for the Federal government to come through with cash for local flood control, council decided to spend $50,000 in bond issue money for engineering channel improvement of the Scioto River. From now until the end of the year planners will study ways to streamline the river's flow from Greenlawn Dam south to beyond Frank-rd.

Actual work on repair of old retaining walls and levees and removal of silt and snags is expected to start next year, said Service Director Ernest Stork. Council is working on the assumption that the city will have to pay no more than $125,000 of a total project costing $722,000.

Fellow council members failed to act on a proposal by Golda Mae Edmonston to return the control of water and sewer taps to the service department. Councilman object to the pressure they get from persons in outlying areas who want the city's services. Director Stork has indicated that if the controls are tossed back to him he will enforce the present freeze even more rigidly.

Action this week was delayed when Councilmen Robert Southwick and William Fornof said they want more time to study a pending study of water-sewer rates.

Meanwhile, Loren C. Mathys, 1070 Harrisburg-pk, finally was granted a water tap to the service building of his trailer camp which lies just outside city limits and an assessed water line at 1168 Geneva-av. He had brought the matter before council regularly since last fall.

The south boundary of the Hilltop took another jog across Briggs-rd last Monday. A 67.5-acre tract in Franklin Township, west of Parma-rd, was accepted for annexation. Extensive home building is under way in the Briggs-rd area now.

Council also answered a request from Mayor Westlake and alloted $3,000 to pay a $10-an-hour consultant to supervise current maintenance and operation of the Jackson pk Sewage Treatment Plant. The present manager is expected to resign.

Alkire-rd Reminds Youth Hosteler Of Rolling English Countryside

By Edward Beardshear

Joan Eggington, a dynamo of smiles and pithy comments, is from Wolverhampton, England.

She was chosen to come to the United States because of leadership and activity in the American Youth Hostels Inc. (AYH).

In exchange for two months in this country she will lead a group of 10 AYH'ers on a tour of Europe early in July. The group will visit Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Miss Eggington previously visited New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

She was the guest of fellow AYH'ers, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Nelson of 4138 Alkire-rd

She commented that the country around the Nelson's was similar to her native England in the "gentler undulating parts."

After visiting Great Western Shopping Center, she commented that "one would probably spend more than one wanted because of the attractive displays and supermarket layouts."

She visited Ohio State University and thinks the campus is "well laid out," but the football stadium particularly impressed her. Woody Hayes will appreciate knowing that his stadium looks "like a Spanish bullring from the outside." We assured her that in season it was the site of more than one slaughter.

In England, the "news" of America consists mainly of nuclear testing and election results. The papers there carry the oddities of America, Miss Eggington said.

Her attitude is that the world is divided between Russia and the United States in the arms race.

We asked Joan what she thought of the American labor system as compared with England's.

A comptometer operator for a civil engineering firm, she said the labor situation is "comparable."

Of course the coffee break has spread to England. Asked about "tea-time," she laughed and said that it was very seldom that formal tea was held any more.

The modern kitchen of the Nelsons' impressed her. Mechanical dishwashers are a rarity in England. As for the mechanization of America, she was doubly impressed.

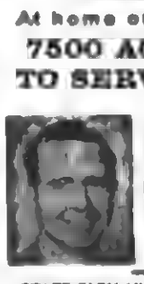
She said that it seems to her the American housewife has more time to "indulge" in other activities besides her homemaking.

As for the family, Joan stated that it seemed over here the family is more closely knit and the wife has more to say in family affairs.

While traveling, people seemed more friendly here than in England. She was ecstatic over American buses and said that she could sleep magnificently in them.

Being a hiker, Joan could not understand people taking cars for short distances.

On one of her walks near Grove City, a motorist stopped her and asked if she would care for a ride. When she answered that she enjoyed walking she said the man was dumbfounded.



The local AYH took Joan for a cycling Memorial Day from Kenyon College to Denison University. The 30-mile distance was only a starter for the athletic miss, because she is used to covering upwards of 100 miles a day.

Joan was only here for three days, leaving for Elida, O. Her tour will take her through most of the Midwest.

Advice On Mail Boxes Is Given By Post Office

"Mail Box Improvement Week" has passed but the post office has released some advice about mail boxes. Patrons should see that their receptacles are big enough to handle their daily volume of mail.

Also that doors, hinges and handles are in good repair. If they need painting, spruce them up.

If a mail box closes after delivery of the mail, it is a good deterrent to adolescents and others who might tamper with mail.

short absences that a neighbor

It is best during vacations and short absences that a neighbor hold a patron's mail. Nothing advertises absences more than a stuffed mail box. Another alternative is to file a written temporary hold order with the postman.

Individual mail receptacles in apartment houses should bear the apartment number and the patron's name.

Prairie Players Officers Elected For Coming Year

The Players' Guild of Prairie Township has completed election of officers for the coming year Mrs. J. J. Lane, president Richard Ireland, vice-president; Mrs. Richard Cooper, secretary, and Rolfe Harper, treasurer, were installed at the last general meeting May 27.

At the executive session the following permanent committee chairmen were appointed: Membership, Mrs. Richard Butler; program, Mrs. Albert Calland; reading, Mrs. Rolfe Harper, and publicity, Tom Haydock. The remaining position on the executive board will be filled by the past president, Dr. Robert Chosy.

The Players' Guild has scheduled three major productions each year, and as many minor productions as may be produced. The executive board is now in the process of selecting a play for September production, and try-out dates will soon be announced.

Active memberships are available to persons interested either in the acting or production functions of the Guild.

The Players' Guild is a non-profit organization formed by interested residents of southwestern Franklin County. The purpose of the Players' Guild is to provide entertainment, both to its members and to what audiences it can command.

Its actors and actresses, its directors and production staff members are all amateurs. Proceeds from productions go to the Guild treasury where they are used to finance future productions.

Anyone interested in further information may call Mrs. J. J. Lane, 878-5449, or Mrs. Richard Butler 878-4764.

Planned Center Will Step Up Pilot Dog Training

Pilot Dogs, Inc., 625 W. Town-st, has announced plans to construct at 500 Stimmel-rd a Treatment Center for the care and training of animals to be used as guides for the blind.

This completely new facility is designed to provide for the examination, care, and housing of the dogs once they are entered in the training course. Deficiencies that might tend to shorten the working life of the guide will be recognized and only the healthiest, trainable animals will continue in the [redacted].

Thomas J. Tally has been named as the architect. According to Dwight C. Swepston, president of the board of directors of Pilot Dogs, "this addition will enable us to serve even more of our sightless friends." In the past 12 years 464 guide dogs have been supplied to their blind masters. With the advantages of this new building it is estimated that an additional 80 dogs will be placed each year.

Pilot Dogs, Inc., is a non-profit organization serving the blind of this country. There is no charge made to the blind person for this service. Students are received on the basis of need and desire. Dogs have been given to people in 38 states, Canada, Puerto Rico and Guatemala.

Mental Health Group Honors Joe E. Brown

Ohio-born actor, Joe E. Brown, was honored Friday, June 1, at a luncheon at Derby Dan Farm, Koebel Sudyam-rd, by leaders in the citizens mental health movement who served with him on the Ohio Mental Health Association, Inc., Mental Health Week Committee last month.

The large group heard the internationally known entertainer interpret in his inimitable manner the theme of the year: "People Who Care are Part of the Cure for the Mentally Ill." He urged the statewide group to hasten the expansion of their chemo-therapy program—a plan to provide drugs to dischargeable patients of the state's mental hospitals — and called for more volunteers to join the movement.

He said that he could see that progress has come in mental health in a direct proportion to the numbers of people who have come increasingly into the program but warned that there was certainly a long way to go to reach the level such an important health movement ought to occupy.

Brown, who has had honors of all kinds heaped on him for numerous services was honored again when the OMHA presented to him a bronze plaque, in the form of the map of Ohio, as a material token of appreciation for his leadership and service in speaking frequently on behalf of the mental health program.

Everyone pictures his house differently. At First Federal we see a house as our chance to lend a helping hand toward home ownership. We do this many hundreds of times a year in all parts of town. May we help you?

COMMISSIONERS COOK OUT

Bruce Miller has been appointed as an assistant district commissioner for the Grove City area of the Southwest District.

Area High School Students Win In Tuberculosis Writing Contest

Students from nine Columbus and Franklin County high schools have been named winners in the Tuberculosis Society's new spring health-science writing competition.

The five top winners are Christina Hepner, 991 Bulen-av, South High School; Nancy Parr, 2494 Meredith-dr, Mifflin High; Carol Watschak, Lockbourne, Hamilton; Margaret Zschach, 3800 Henderson-rd, and Judy Lewis, 2971 Wellesley-rd, both of Watterson.

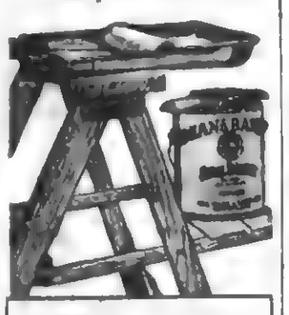
The 10 winners will receive token awards and their schools certificates of honor.



The contest is basic to a new health education campaign of the Tuberculosis Society to inform Columbus and Franklin County residents about tuberculosis and other lesser known respiratory diseases.

Many of these diseases are similar to TB in symptoms and on X-ray. Medical authorities agree that we must learn more about such diseases as emphysema, bronchiectasis and histoplasmosis if we are to better control TB and improve treatment and diagnostic techniques.

As part of the contest, participants attended a research tour at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital, a question-the-expert session, and compiled a report based on the statement: "Through research and information, progress is being made in control of TB and other respiratory diseases."

Judges included Dr. Robert H. Browning, nationally known authority on TB and RD; Dr. Howard Giles, member of the TB Society's medical research committee, and Gerald D. Fry, executive director of the society.

A Hartley Headliner Report

OHIO'S BUC LEADER DONALD LEACH

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

With at least two outs recorded in the "Tax League" scorebook, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation will step into the batter's box this January against state legislators who have been playing a tough game through long innings.

It's the top of the ninth, now, and an out could prove fatal. The BUC staff has its eye on John $ Businessman—a bonus baby sitting in the stands—but is finding him a little reluctant to sign with the team.

Without Mr. Businessman's support, even a hard-hit, well-placed ball won't clear the glove of either the legislators or Ohio's Michael V. DiSalle.

Another futile swing at the fiscal pitch and the BUC will be out.

Getting Mr. Businessman to play ball with the BUC isn't going to be easy. The feeling is strong that he's in the stands but is unable to follow the play without a program.

This play-by-play report came Thursday from Donald B. Leach, administrator of Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, who sketched a dark-clouded picture of the low fund situation.

"Our biggest problem here at the bureau," Leach commented, "is battling a lack of understanding by the businessman in Ohio. It's not so much a matter of public apathy. It's more a lack of total grasp of what's happening."

The facts seem simple enough. The bureau's compensation fund is at an all-time low. About $100,000,000. Leach says that a recession next year might break the bureau's bank book. "We could go broke in 1963," Leach lamented.

The way Leach sees it, "everybody agrees that a change in the tax rate is needed, but the public is afraid of 'loopholes' which have been greatly exaggerated.

"Even if everything that's called a loophole was one," Leach continued, "the total cost of all of them wouldn't be five per cent of the annual payments. It's a philosophical question —not a financial one."

In the hard, cold facts of reason, the bureau has been financially unsound since 1953 when changes in the tax law were made. Why? Leach explained it this way:

"For one thing, the cost of a week of unemployment continues to increase every year and, in all probability, it'll continue to rise. And, secondly, the tax base."

The first unemployment checks were slightly more than $10 a week, or about 37 per cent of the average weekly wage at that time. Last year's benefit checks, however, were only 36.7 per cent of today's average pay ($160 per week).

The bureau is faced with the problem of raising the liability of the employer. If you increase the tax rate you'll, naturally, raise more money but the question is, "Who's going to pay it —the high-wage or low-wage employer."

There are two possible ways to raise money against increasing employers' liability to the compensation fund.

One is increasing the total insured work force in Ohio, which increases the tax take, and two is increasing the dollars raised with respect to the exising insured work force.

The insured work force, however, has been relatively stable for the last 10 years even though the total work force has increased substantially.

Included in the proposal for the legislators in January is the matter of changing certain qualifications. The last change in compensation qualifications was in 1959. Two other change bills were passed by the houses in 1961 but one bill increasing employer rates was vetoed by the governor because he felt it put the "squeeze" on the small businessman.

To illustrate the qualifications change, Leach said:

"A man works for company A and quits. He gets another job with company B and is the youngest on the payroll in seniority. Business goes down and he's laid off by company B through no fault of his own. He's eligible, basically, for unemployment compensation.

"His claim is set up and it's charged to company A because he worked there during his 'base' period and benefit year (base period is the four calendar quarters before you file a claim).

"The employer of company A feels that charging his account with this man will affect its liability tax rate. It may or may not but employers believe profoundly that it will and they don't like it.

"The problem is that, in most cases, the man ought to be allowed to draw unemployment compensation, but I agree that company A ought not to be charged," said Leach.

The administrator reported that he suggested during the last legislature that so-called company A shouldn't be charged, that the money for the man's compensation check should come from the general trust fund or "pool."

"I suggested it informally, however," said Leach. "It wasn't even adopted in committee."

So what happens if the proposals miss the legislators and the governor's liking and the bureau goes broke? Leach had this to say:

"The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation serves a social need. It's inescapable and cannot be dissolved.

"If it does run out of funds, there's a provision under Federal law that says we can borrow from the government," he added.

Both Pennsylvania and Michigan had to do just that because fund-support didn't come. The money, however, must be repaid within a certain time.

"We're not in imminent danger now," Leach said, "but we are in an unsound position and the day of imminence is drawing closer."

(NEXT WEEK: What are the possible solutions to these problems faced by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in Ohio—if any?)

THE BUC STORY-1

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a three-part series explaining the problems, possible solutions and logical evaluations of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The series is being run to better acquaint John $ Public with unemployment compensation and its dangerously low fund as a proposal is readied for presentation to the state legislature in January. The articles are offered in an effort to combat the Bureau's most serious problem—a lack of understanding. The simple fact is that the BUC will probably touch the lives of every resident in the state at one time or another which makes for one more reason why you should be informed. The first of the series, dealing with the problems facing the BUC, is printed herewith.

Fishing Pleasures Are Not Measured In Catches Alone

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Joe, at the bait store, said they were hitting nightcrawlers. "They" referred to walleyes, our target for the evening at Hoover Dam. Walleyes dominated the conversation around the bait store, and hardly anyone admitted to catching fewer than 18 or 20 a day.

A running tally of recent catches was recorded on a blackboard on Joe's wall, and at the top of the list was Tom Knelsley with a 27½-inch, six pound, eight-ounce walleye. "It was the biggest walleye I ever saw," said Joe as he read my thoughts.

The lore of Hoover is colorful and names crop up like, Red Bank Road, Twin Bridges Inlet, Lake of the Woods, and Africa Road. Everyone has a favorite place to fish for walleyes, and it gets a little confusing standing around listening to the free advice proffered at the bait store.

We decided to proceed up the west side of the lake, turn on to Africa-rd and begin fishing in the upper end. Ron Carlson and I launched the canoe, motored out to a likely looking spot off a little island and baited up with Joe's nightcrawlers. The wind was rather brisk so we put out the anchor.

It was a weekday and few boats were out — only a half dozen walleye anglers were visible in the whole upper third of the lake. Terns were coursing overhead looking for baitfish to pick up. The sun began to go down and the wind gentled.

'Cats' Were Interested

The nightcrawlers were doing their job, for we caught a couple of channel catfish. But no walleyes. So we hoisted anchor, motored in toward shore and drifted across the lake fishing as we drifted. Still no walleyes.

We began to watch a couple of boats trolling, but they were not catching anything and seemed to be watching us.

By now the sun was only a red glow in the western sky. The lights in Galena began to come on and the roads surrounding the lake could be traced by the automobile lights. We snapped on spinners and began to cast for bass.

Night was upon us as we headed back. Bank fishermen were out with their fires and lanterns angling for catfish and carp.

Carp were spawning in the shallows and a bullfrog began to tune up. The night sounds were louder than the day sounds, or so it seemed.

As two throughly rested fishermen loaded the canoe, we had to admit that we had not added to the reputation of Hoover. We had not caught 18 walleyes — in fact, we had not caught one. But we had watched the sunset from a canoe, and this seemed to be enough.

Long Overdue

An overdue copy of the western, "The Oregon Trail," was returned to the Lexington, N.C., library recently. The book was checked out of the library March 24, 1931.

God meant it for good. —(Gen. 50:20).

Even when it appears that someone is deliberately cruel or unfair to us, we can remember Joseph's words to his brothers, "Ye meant evil against me; but God meant it for good."

Iniquities Of Taxation Methods, Extra Spending Cited By Hamilton-rd Citizen

To the Editor:

A pat on the back to Miss Patty Hartley for her concise views on the school tax problem. For one so young she sure has an adult approach to problems of our tax dollars.

There is just so much a taxpayer can stand and yet keep his home. For those who are retired or retiring the tax problem looms as a threat to their very homes.

We who have been thrifty and saved and sacrificed to eventually own a home, find it most difficult to swallow all of these bond issues for the purpose of raising our taxes. We live in a home 10 years or more and we expect a decline in the appraisal of our property. What happens? They reappraise it, estimate what it will cost us to replace it, and bang—another 10 per cent is added to its value.

The poor relief tax was defeated and justly so. The fathers and perhaps mothers of these children spent their money in beer parlors, horse racing, etc. It was easy come, easy go. They perhaps both worked in defense plants, made big money, bought big cars, then came the letdown. Laid off, they sought relief and after their unemployment insurance was over, "Let the rich take care of our kids."

Thousands of dollars were spent on a nursery at the Columbus Zoo for an ape. Did the city fathers wail about poor relief then?

The Park of Roses cost thousands. Yet the taxpayer has to pay admission to see the roses.

Why wasn't poor relief considered ahead of this?

Give some politicians some money and they consider patronage first — if something is left, throw the crumbs to the public to keep them quiet.

Can't you see great statesmen like Lincoln, Jefferson, and the rest—coming out of school playing basketball and football? Education was the primary subject, not athletics. They had no lavish cafeterias, no terrazzo floors, shower rooms, no big gyms. Yet, they left their mark on history.

I for one sincerly hope that now that the property owner has been properly aroused, he will veto all of these unnecessary bond issues and toss the ball back to the politicians and let them know we've reached the limit of our capacities to pay. Then perhaps they, like us, will try living within their income.

Papers Back Youth

To The Editor:

Just a short note to express my appreciation to you for the wonderful coverage of Scouting over the past few months. I realize this is of course "news" and therefore a part of your business but I know also that when it comes in this "quantity" it stems from an even deeper root.

I'm sure that many people in our community are well aware and deeply appreciative of the fine support given not only Boy Scouting but all the other fine youth activities. It is unusual and highly complimentary to you to pick up any of the Hartley papers and see youth being supported and commended for the job they are doing and realize you are backing the "95 per cent" of juveniles who are non-delinquents rather than "headlining" those who have a negative attitude and set of actions.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Let's Take A Look At The Dairy Picture

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK, LOOK FOR:

The nation's dairy industry is once again directing special attention to its many wares. The array of products is wide — as usual for June — with a few new ones on the horizon, too. Americans are taking advantage of the situation by spending nearly a sixth of their food money for milk and dairy products. And the returns are large, for no other food gives more valuable nutrients or good eating for the money you spend.

Mrs. Franks

But, there are some problems in the dairy industry that need realistic consideration from all concerned, including consumers. These are inter-related and include:

- An over supply of milk and dairy products relative to demand for them at present prices.
- A declining per capita demand for some dairy products.
- Increased competition from substitute products.

Production is up, yet the number of dairy cows on U.S. farms has declined each year since 1953 and is now the smallest since 1909. But the ones on farms are better managed, so that milk production this year is expected to set another new record—about two per cent above last year.

U.S. Department of Agriculture's figures show that, during the last decade, per capita consumption of fluid milk, cream, butter and evaporated milk has declined steadily, remain about the same for ice cream and frozen desserts, and increased on cheese and non-fat dry milk. This apparently reflects such factors as long term changes in diets, a greater variety of food products available and concern about weight control.

A factor of major importance is the availability of competing substitute products. The replacement of butter with margarine is the most important example. Vegetable fat, frozen desserts, and more recently vegetable oil substitutes for cream are others.

What is the solution? Many say lower production is one way to bring milk production in line with needs. Legislation intended to help do this is being considered by Congress now. To improve demand, alertness to present day consumer demands for dairy foods, and tailoring products to appeal to these demands appear essential. At the same time, real facts based on exhaustive research must be presented for consumer consideration.

Miss Carol Ann Garity became the bride of Mr. Richard Edward Berger Saturday, June 2, 10:30 a.m. at St. Mary Magdalene Church.

MRS. RICHARD EDWARD BERGER

The marriage ceremony was celebrated by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann of Columbus, assisted by Msgr. James J. Carroll, Msgr. Roland T. Winel and Msgr. Harold J. O'Donnell.

The solemn nuptial mass was offered by Rev. Raymond Bauschard with Msgr. George F. Schorr as deacon and Rev. Carl P. Clagett as subdeacon.

Single tapered candlebra topped with pouis of net and weigelia florets marked the aisle, and the altar was banked with arrangements of white stock and pink rubruum lilies against a background of frosted emerald foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Garrity, 345 Binne-blvd are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Berger of 219 North-av, Buffalo, N.Y.

A large cabachon rose trimmed in pearls held her bouffant veil of silk illusion and she carried a full sheath cascade of phaelenopsis orchids.

Mrs. Anthony J. Mangia served as matron of honor and Miss Rosemary D. Berger of Buffalo, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor. Bridesmatrons were Mrs. John J. Power and Mrs. Richard F. Weisenbach.

They were identically gowned in cocktail-length, semi-sheaths of orchid organza over taffeta, with shoulder jackets of sheer Chantilly lace. Each wore a small cloche of horsehair petals with shoulder veil and carried a sheath line arrangement of pink rubuum lilies.

Mr. Eugene E. Berger of Buffalo served as bestman for his brother, and guests were seated by Mr. Frank J. Cafarella, Mr. Richard A. Kuhlman and Mr. Anthony J. Mangia.

Hostesses at the reception, held from 3 to 5 p.m. at Bonka's Provincial House, were Mrs. Richard L. Deibel, sister of the bride; Mrs. Robert P. Baumann, Mrs. James R. Butts and Mrs. Edward E. Fisher.

Following a wedding trip through the southwestern states and the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash., the couple will be at home at 2960 Janet-ct, Apt. B.

The new Mrs. Berger was graduated from St. Joseph Academy and is associated with the Diocese of Columbus as a secretary to Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann.

Camping Books Available At Hilltop Branch Library

"Operation Outdoors" will begin shortly for many families as they set out on summer vacations of camping, outdoor recreation, and sight-seeing.

Numerous books that will be of interest to camping and outdoor enthusiasts are available at the Hilltonia Library, according to Librarian Joann Sopkovich.

One newly published guide—William Riviere's "The Camper's Bible"—offers invaluable advice for both sportsman and vacationist.

Other available manuals include "The Complete Book of Camping and the Outdoors," by Larry Koller; "The Golden Book of Camping and Camp Crafts," by Gordon Lynn; "Camping and Outdoor Cooking," by Rae Oetting; "Camping," by Scouts of America;" America; "Boy's Complete Book of Camping," by Stanley Pashko, and "Camping for All Its Worth," by William Swanson.

Family camping, which has grown by leaps and bounds, is covered in the "Ford Treasury of Station Wagon Living," "Sunset Ideas for Family Camping," and "Sunset Ideas for Outdoor Family Fun in the West."

"Handbook of Wilderness Travel," by George and Iris Wells, is a complete guide to wilderness lands of the U.S., with advice on how to carry out wilderness trips, while Theodore Kesting's comprehensive "Outdoor Encyclopedia" covers a wide range of outdoor topics, including camping, boating, outdoor cookery, fishing, first aid, maps and compasses, and outdoor accessories.

Places to visit and things to see are covered in such books as Duncan Hines' "Vacation Guide," Devereux Butcher's "Exploring Our National Parks and Monuments," Horace Coon's "150 Budget Vacations," George Wells' "Handbook of Auto Camping and Motorist's Guide to Public Campgrounds," and his "American Vacation Book."

"Barron's Teen-age Summer Guide" offers many suggestions on camps, canoe and wilderness trips, and travel in the United States and abroad especially for the teen-ager.

Hale In Thailand With Wolfhounds

Army Pfc. Edward A. Hale, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hale, 2242 Whitehead-rd, is serving in Thailand with the 25th Division's 27th Infantry (Wolfhounds). The 27th Infantry was the first U.S. Army combat unit in Thailand, as President Kennedy announced the movement of U.S. Forces to that country.

Hale, a fire team leader in the infantry's Company B, entered the Army in Aug. 1959 and arrived in Hawaii in July 1960.

LAST YEAR 91,824 seniors were graduated from high school, 68.9 per cent of the youngsters who started in the first grade in 1949.

STARLING ATHLETES LAUDED

The team defeated Crestview, 7-4, two weeks ago to assure them of at least a co-championship.

Under Coach Michael O'Leary, the school on Valleyview Drive topped Medina (8-7), Linmoor (5-4), Everett (14-1), Indianola (7-1), Linden (18-), Aquinas (8-0), Clinton (10-0), Champion (11-0) and Crestview.

The pitching department was a bright spot, having given up only 24 runs through nine games.

Darrell Rohrer has a bright record, having given up only 15 hits in 6 games, and has pitched a no-hitter, a one-hitter, and a two-hitter. Mike Baker has won two, lost none, with a two-hit shut-out to his credit, and John Morlan has a 1-0 record.

AUBLEGRAPH

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

The Young Will Come of Age Monday on OSU Gray Course

With all due modesty, it can safely be said that I hold the undisputed golf crown championship in the Hartley newsroom. I shoot in the low 70s and I can't even find any challengers. In fact, if it gets any colder than that, I don't even take my clubs out of the garage.

Even so, on Monday, June 11, local golfers under 18 will probably burn up a Columbus course in fewer strokes than I use tees.

The occasion is the tenth annual Columbus Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament which will be played off on the tricky, but smooth, University Gray course.

Tom Thomas, Jaycee general chairman for the event, reports that the only real drawback in the get-together is the fact that it will be held on a weekday, perhaps cutting down the number of participants.

All of the courses were booked up for the Saturday and Sunday times, and a Monday was the only day an open slot could be found.

Everything Else Is Same . . .

All of the excitement and skill of amateur youngsters will be there, though, as the nationwide event is promoted in a big way on the local level.

Last year, 20 to 25 boys turned out. The meet is divided into two age classes. One for boys 15 and under the other for lads 15 and under 18 as of Aug. 15, 1962.

Winners of both divisions will advance to the Jaycee State Tournament at Highland Meadows Country Club in Toledo on July 30-31 and winners from this one will go to the national contest set for Aug. 20-25 on the Spring Valley Country Club course in Huntington, W. Va.

The Jaycee Junior tourney is co-sponsored here by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. and the Columbus District Golf Association.

Some Winners Returning . . .

Three of last year's winners are expected to compete, including Mike Strapp, Jack Meyer and Mark Hessler. Hessler, for example, is a 14-year-old who fired a sizzling 72 for the course last time around.

Jack Wood, 17-year-old Westerville High School student and winner in his age bracket, won't return, however, due to age ineligibility.

For those who have followed this tourney for the young, you'll probably remember the young man who won it in 1957 and was runner-up in 1956. His name is Jackie Nicklaus.

This is the "proving ground" for the kids. It's where the real interest in golf as a profession is made. And, the galleries of serious golfers with their eyes of the young prove it.

Tonight's Night For Strawberries

Hilltop Y's Men's Strawberry Festival will be held tonight (Wednesday) from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr. The public is invited.

Tickets may be purchased for 50 cents on the "Y" grounds, which entitles the holder to one serving of strawberries over ice cream, a piece of cake and coffee or milk. A fish pond will be set up for the children who wish to try their luck. Members of the "Y" Mothers' Council will hold a bake sale in conjunction with the strawberry festival.

Dr. James Hardie, chairman and president of the local club, announced that all proceeds from this event will be used to further the program of the Hilltop YMCA.

Hilltop Kiwanis To Hear Bell Telephone Man

Harry E. Erb will be the guest speaker at the Hilltop Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday, June 14, in Monaco's restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st.

Erb will speak on "Communications in Space," a report on project "Echo," the space communication experiment conducted by Bell laboratories in collaboration with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A native of Columbus, Erb first joined Ohio Bell in 1953 as an outside representative in Dayton. He has held positions with the commercial, traffic, and marketing departments in Dayton and Toledo. In Columbus, he is the assistant customer relations supervisor.

Erb was graduated from Ohio State University in 1953 with a BS degree. From October, 1953, through October, 1955, he served as a sergeant in Alaska with the US Army.

He has served as vice-president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and on its board of directors. He is also past president of the Toastmaster's Club and a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Ohio State University Alumni Association.

Mike Hastings Is Discharged

Michael Hastings, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hastings, 774 Wedgewood-dr, Apt. 4, was discharged from Children's Hospital Monday, May 28.

He had been burned Thursday when he pulled a kettle of hot chicken grease on himself.

EDWARDS GETS SURPRISE 'GIFT'

Johnny Edwards, Hilltop resident and star catcher with the Cincinnati Reds will celebrate his double-dozen birthday June 10 but he got a pre-celebration present from Danny Murtaugh, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"He's the most improved young player in the National League," said praise-heaping Murtaugh. "Edwards' fielding and hitting are both better than I had anticipated and he feels he belongs. I think he'll be around and do a pretty good job for a long while."

CINCINNATI TEAM WINS SOCCER GAMES

CINCINNATI KOSSUTH won the eighth annual Soccer Cup Games, sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department of Sunshine Recreation Center Sunday, May 27. They defeated Columbus Germania Club 2-1 in the final. At the trophy presentation were, from left, Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake, Soccer Queen Carol Renee Thompson, Cincinnati Kossuth's Laszlo Lifusy, Columbus Germania's William Cressen, Dayton Edelweiss's John Wagenbach and Germania's Horst Smith. The Dayton team was in third place and Smith was voted the outstanding player of the tourney.

It is estimated that some 17 million Americans suffer from some form of mental illness.

Plan Now to Fly The Flag on June 14

Most of us are quite proud of the fact that we are citizens of the United States. As such, we believe it is fitting and not too old-fashioned to shout it to the world.

One of the simplest and yet most effective ways is to proudly display the flag of the U.S. next Thursday, June 14, our National Flag Day.

Flying the flag is a custom that needs to be revived.

It is an honor to be able to point with pride to our flag.

Get out your old flags . . . or better yet get a new one . . . fly it with pride on June 14 and again on July 4.

Russian Prosperity

Butter has just gone up 25 per cent and meats up 30 per cent.

This means that an average industrial worker in Russia must work three hours and 48 minutes to earn enough for a pound of ground beef while in this country a worker in the same category can earn enough in eight minutes to buy the same amount of beef. The ratio for a pound of butter is three hours and 31 minutes as against 12 minutes in the U.S.

How long can the Russians stay so ignorant?

'Old Pro' Don Rumley Heads Ticket Sales For Scioto Downs

Let's face it. The awful truth is that most of the 90 members of the Hilltop Lions Club don't know one end of a horse from the other. When it came time to name a chairman for ticket sales to Lions Nights, June 19 and 20, at Scioto Downs, President Ervin Schmidt shrugged his shoulders and called on "faithful workhorse" Don Rumley.

Twelve Lions Clubs in Franklin County have banded together to promote Sight Saving Nights at Scioto Downs on the third Tuesday and Wednesday of June. Through the cooperation of the management, tickets selling for $1 will permit holders to tax-paid admission to the grandstand or clubhouse area. To assure a seat, phone for reservation TE. 2-1361 in grandstand, or TE. 2-1920 for dinner reservation in club house. Two TV sets will be given away each night.

Best part about it is that 60 cents out of each ticket fee back to the Lions Club selling it. All proceeds are earmarked for Sight Saving projects. Ask any Lion for additional details.

But back to Don Rumley, who lives at 2970 Wicklow-rd. He definitely knows the stern from the bow of a horse, because he practically grew up in the business of training and driving [redacted].

Don's father, the late C. P. Rumley, captured the world's record for the pacing mile from a standing start behind "Dick Napoleon" at the Toledo harness track in 1924. A famous horseman, "Charlie" Rumley was particularly known for his ability to train difficult two and three-year-old colts.

Don's elder brother, Charles J. Rumley, still races horses in the Chicago area and trains on a farm at Elgin, Ill.

Don was only 11 years old when his father gave up farming in 1918 and began training horses for a living. "I learned the front end of a horse the hard way," Don relates, "leading a hot one two or three hours on the towpath to cool out after a work-out is a real education."

Later, Don helped train the horses during summer vacation. He followed the fair circuit with his dad from 1930 to 1935 and drove his first race in 1933 at the age of 16.

In 1935 when his father took on the job of head trainer of a large private stable of 18 horses at Rockford, Ill., Don assisted him. In subsequent years, "Charlie" trained public stables in various towns in Illinois, including Springfield.

Starting in the mid-thirties, "Charlie" drove on the parimutuel track surrounding Chicago some nine months out of the year. "Dad" Rumley, who lives in the memory of sportsmen as one of the nation's leading harness racers, died in the summer of 1956 at his home in Princeton, Ill., a few months after a disastrous fire had wiped out his stable of horses.

Don had quit the harness racing business to become a guard and messenger for a mail contract firm in Sterling, Ill., in late 1925, but he was to come back to horses as a trainer in 1938 when economic conditions deprived him of other means of livelihood.

He accompanied the horses that year to Lexington, Ky., the "Mecca" of harness racing, and had the thrill of watching more world records shattered in one season than ever before. He saw the history-making performances of Greyhound, Her Ladyship, Billy Direct and Chief Counsel.

Since then, Don has been in the paint business. For the past 23 years, he has been the local manager of the Blonder Wallpaper and Paint Co.

"I've lost my really keen interest in the track since Dad died," Don said. But the record doesn't seem to support his statement. He has attended every one of the Brown Jug classics at Delaware since they began in 1946, has been to the Hilliard races on numerous occasions, has journeyed out to Illinois to watch certain races, and has followed all the big races at Scioto Downs track.

protested being left out this year and received a negative reply from the recreation department. Then the mothers took the matter into their own hands. They circulated petitions and collected more than 500 signatures.

Four of the women, Mrs. Richard Laird, Mrs. Paul Martin, Mrs. Alice Stinson and Mrs. Richard Gilliland, then carried the pleas to City Hall and argued that Georgian Heights is an established residential community and should again have supervised play areas.

The department, which has had its ups-and-downs lately with finances, juggled plans and has promised to staff both Georgian and Rankin playgrounds.

FIRST STORE of a nationwide chain of Woolco department stores opened June 6 in Great Southern Shopping Center. The 100,000-square-foot store is a mass-display self-service operation carrying departments ranging from wearing apparel to home appliances. Woolco, a division of the F. W. Woolworth Co., expects to open six stores similar in design later this year.

NEW CHAIN DEBUTS HERE—

Woolco Joins Stores At Great Southern

A new nationwide retailing chain was introduced to the Columbus area this week as the F.W. Woolworth Co's giant Woolco department store joined the sprawling Great Southern Shopping Center.

Woolworth president Robert C. Kirkwood, during a ribbon-cutting ceremony Wednesday with Columbus Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, predicted a very favorable future for discount store retailing and said his company's objective is "to make Woolco as predominant in the low-margin, mass merchandising field as Woolworth's is in the variety store field."

The store, separate from 40 other stores of Great Southern, is located at the northwest corner of the center. It is a one-story building with a 460-foot frontage and is 200 feet in depth. Adjacent to it is an automotive service center and a garden supply center. Woolco has a 15-year lease on the site. Great Southern has parking for 5000 cars.

Self-Service Operation

Lester F. Davis General Manager of the Woolco division, said the store is self-service mass-display type using the latest in retailing ideas and equipment and carries a complete complement of departments.

These include: home appliances, furniture, draperies, bedding, floor coverings, hardware and household accessories. Also wearing apparel for the entire family, jewelry, luggage, sporting goods, cameras, phonographs and records, sewing machines, books, toys, pets and pet supplies, pharmacy, optical department and candy. Wire shopping carts are available.

In addition, a "Red Grille" with a seating capacity of 94 is included.

Mr. Davis said credit facilities on both revolving and instalment basis are available. An accommodation desk located at the entrance will cash checks, make refunds of exchanges, check packages, take complaints and give information. A service control unit in the front of the store will aid customers by expediting sales personnel to waiting shoppers. Ten counters will handle checkouts with temporary ones available for rush periods. Freight facilities at the rear will handle four trucks.

At the Wednesday opening Mayor Westlake presented a golden key to the city to Woolco president Kirkwood.

Kirkwood pointed out that the start of the discount department stores was "one of the three most important decisions the Woolworth company has ever made." The first was when the company raised its price ceiling to 20 cents, in 1932 — and the second was when it abandoned all price limits in 1935.

Said Kirkwood: "The discount store today is at the same point of development that the supermarket was in the late 1930's."

Company officials said Columbus was selected as the primary site because of its growth potential. During the last 10 years it has grown 24.4 per cent, population-wise, and has a retail trade population of two million. They added that the experience and reputation of the Don M. Caste Organization in operating successful centers throughout the Midwest also contributed to the decision to locate in Columbus. Another store will be located in Graceland Shopping Center, and five others are being built in Virginia and Ontario.

Illinois Trip Set For Incinerator Study Group

The county commissioners' office was the scene of a meeting Monday to discuss the use of an incinerator for northwest Franklin County, including Hilliard and Dublin.

The commissioners released cost estimates that had been gathered on a tour of incinerator plants in Kentucky and southern Ohio.

Costs ranged from $300,000 to $900,000 for the complete set-up.

The county sanitary engineer, the state sanitary engineer and representatives from Upper Arlington, Grandview and possibly Hilliard, are leaving Friday or next Monday to investigate a plant in Highland Park, Ill., and to find out the differences in the quality of the disposals.

A question was raised on the differences in prices and whether or not the $300,000 outfit would be adequate, if it were good enough quality.

Child Levy To Be On Ballot

Franklin County Commissioners will put a three-tenths mill levy for an education program for mentally retarded children on the ballot in November.

PRODUCT EASILY APPLIED—Shrake Protein Foam Shampoo for carpets and upholstery may be used by hand, or can be used in any type applicator, and on all types of fabric, the producers say. It is produced by the Shrake Manufacturing Co., a division of the Grand Rapids Shops.

Shrake Protein Shampoo Adaptable To Applicators

The Shrake Manufacturing Co., 461-465 N. High-st., which produces Shrake Protein Foam Shampoo, states that it can be used in any type applicator, hand brush or sponge. It can also be used for cleaning many fabrics in addition to its use for all kinds of upholstery and carpets.

The company also produces furniture polish, Mothspray and Hard Surface Cleaner, Dog-Gon, Plastonic, and other products.

An "Optical Color Brightener," the company reports, is imported from Switzerland, and a "Deodorant and Foam Booster" are two new ingredients used as components in the making of this Shrake Protein Shampoo.

IT ALSO is described as a Columbus-made product developed by furniture men having 40 years of experience, along with professional cleaners, with the result that it is now used by furniture dealers and cleaners in a number of states.

Each of the 11 components is cited for its particular function in the cleaning action, such as soil suspension and removal, soil retarding, residue elimination, color safeguard, color brightening, deodorizing, etc.

The product is further described as an exceptionally high concentrate and very economical to use. Shrake also is said to have proved highly efficient in cleaning white gloves, knit dresses, sweaters, blankets, spot cleaning, and other uses. It also is harmless to airfoam contructed furniture.

ALL PRODUCTS made by Shrake, including the "Protein Foam Shampoo," furniture polish, Mothspray, Hard Surface Cleaner, etc., are said to carry the manufacturer's money-back guarantee.

These Shrake products are available at Lazarus Annex, Zettler's, Bush, Salt Brothers, H & H, Fells, Hudson-High, Oakland Park Clinton, Carter and Ward hardware stores, Apex Grandview Market, Wiseman Hardware, Haas Delicatessen, Home Market, Worthington; Home Supply, Westerville, and Grand Rapids Shops.

DiSalle, Rhodes Will Address Area Graduates

Probably the only time between now and Nov. 12 that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and State Auditor James A. Rhodes will speak on succeeding nights at similar occasions, in locations less than four miles apart and not on political campaign topics will be at the commencement exercises at Grove City and Pleasant View high schools.

Pleasant View commencement will feature DiSalle as principal speaker on June 13, and Grove City will have Rhodes the following night as their speaker.

According to officials from both schools the contrast of speakers was purely accidental.

Topics of the respective speeches have not been made available, but school officials don't believe that either speech will be of a campaign nature.

Chiropodists Change Name of Association

The Ohio Chiropodists Association, organized in 1916 and affiliated with the American Podiatry Association, officially became the Ohio Podiatry Association, May 25, according to Dr. J. D. Ferritto, foot specialist, 2530 W. Broad-st.

The change in name follows the change in 1958 of the national organization from National Association of Chiropodists to the American Podiatry Association.

FTC Help Spurs War On Stamps

Spurred by the possibility of help from the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) later this month an association of gasoline dealers in the greater Columbus area will renew their fight against the use of trading stamps.

Paul R. (Mac) McCarley, operator of a service station at Main and Yearling-rds in Whitehall and president of the Greater Columbus Gasoline Dealers Association, said the organization will "go all out" in a renewed, concentrated effort to outlaw the stamps and "show coercion" on the part of the oil companies.

The FTC recently confirmed that it is studying the use of tradings stamps in gasoline retailing.

Rufus E. Wilson, chief of the General Trade Restraints Commission, said FTC officials have been probing stamp uses in Columbus and Cleveland for the past four to six months, "primarily in petroleum."

The main question facing Wilson is whether or not present stamp agreements violate Section 5 of the FTC acts which prohibit "unfair and deceptive acts and practices."

Charges as a result of the FCT violations could ecur, but Wilson said in a recent phone conference in Washington, D.C. that he "could not say at this time what the charges would be."

He added that it would be a month to six weeks before the investigation in the Columbus and Cleveland area would be completed.

FTC investigators from the Cleveland regional office are participating in the study here. Wilson said he could not reveal if the investigation is being made as a result of complaints or suspected violations. "Matters have arisen that we think we should look into," he said.

FTC does not consider the matter a "crusade or crash program," Wilson inserted.

In seeking to determine if the use of trading stamps is having a "dilatory effect" on certain merchants, "FTC wants to know," McCarley explained, "the following:

"1. Is there any coersion to force dealers to use stamps?

"2. Is there any collusion between stamp interests and outlets to compel the use of stamps, and

"3. Would there be any effect on some dealers who might be unable to obtain the stamps while their competitors can obtain the stamps?"

Wilson emphasized "there is nothing wrong in the use of trading stamps. However," he added, "stamps might be used to aid restraining of trade."

McCarley also said the FTC is now looking into the situation of the small retailer who does not give a name brand of stamps and wants to know "do customers pass them up and pick the retailer giving name brand stamps?"

Other questions asked include:

"If a stamp company agrees with a retailer that it will not sell stamps to the dealers' competition, is that legal?

Wilson's answer to those questions was that "it might be," and added that "these are some of the situations we're looking into."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Robert Dwight Worthen, who gave his life for our country, June 7, 1944, on France.
Although the world so soon forgets—
Fond memory will not fade.

The sacrifice you made.
It was for me, and the whole world,
That you, and others too,
Willingly gave the life you loved,
Were loyal, brave and true.

Make your life have the right . . .

Impact

. . . on others

The carpenter knows that there is a proper way to hold the hammer, and that the nail must be hit from the right direction or the nail will bend.
As children of God we need to make the right impact on others. When we attend church we learn how to treat others, and at the same time are setting an example for others. If we remain straight as a well hit nail, then others are less likely to bend.
"For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Cruise Party Will See Many Foreign Ships

On Sunday, July 22, you can join the Hartley Newspapers one-day economy package Aquarama cruise sailing out of Cleveland and see two of the bustling ports of our great new inland seaway.

Ships flying the flags of all the leading nations of the world ply the waters of the Great Lakes. The Aquarama very probably may be berthed next to a large ocean liner from Japan or Liberia as you board ship. All day long you can keep a log of ships of various countries that you will see on the cruise.

Reservations have started rolling in for the second annual Aquarama tour sponsored by the Hartley Newspapers. Many persons who made the trip with us last year were the first to make reservations for this year's outing.

The tour includes transportation from Columbus on chartered busses from Columbus to Cleveland and similar transportation back upon completion of the delightful cruise aboard the Aquarama on beautiful Lake Erie.

The day's schedule is shaping up like this: You will board a chartered bus at 4 a.m. in Columbus. Present plans call for boarding the buses at the Great Western Shopping Center on W. Broad-st. Arrangements have been made with the shopping claim your seat (and pillow) aboard the bus and arrive back in Columbus soon after midnight. How does that sound for a one-day package vacation?

center to permit parking your car at the center near the miniature golf course near Wilson-rd. One or more alternate pick-up sites are under consideration at the present time. Pillows will be provided for you to catch up on your snoozing. These pillows will be supplied to you as a courtesy of the Hartley Newspapers.

The chartered buses will arrive at the dock at approximately 9 a.m. in time for you to capture the thrills of the departure usually accompanying the launching of an ocean-going liner. You will board the luxury liner in time for sailing at 9:30 with bands playing and the raucous blasting of the ship's horns and whistles. By the time the skyscrapers of Cleveland recede on the skyline you will have your sea-legs on and be ready for a dozen solid hours of cool comfort and pleasure aboard the block-long vessel.

You will find a myriad of things to do. A whole realm of shipboard recreation facilities is at your disposal.

During the busy day you will see the city of Detroit looming before you on the skyline. Although the ship will dock at the motor city briefly, cruise passengers will not be permitted to leave the ship. It will be thrilling, however, to see the Detroit harbor and to view the metropolis from the comfort of your deck chair.

horizon you will be approaching the lights of the Cleveland harbor. You will re-Clip the accompanying reservation coupon and mail it with payment today.

By special arrangement the Hartley Newspapers are able to offer their readers this economy excursion for only $18.50 for adults. The price for children five through 11 is $12.50. Children under five are free. The package includes both the bus fare and your Aquarama cruise ticket. Not included are your meals, which can be purchased at nominal cost at the various cafeterias and lunch counters aboard ship.

Persons desiring to drive their own automobiles to Cleveland may purchase Aquarama tickets from the Hartley Newspapers for even less. The prices are $11 for adults and $6.50 for children five through 11. These prices include a small service charge.

I would like to reserve space for ..... adults and ..... children on the July 22 Hartley Newspaper Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise. Enclosed you will find check or money order for $..... which is the correct amount for these reservations. (Note: fares are $18.50 for adults and $12.50 for children five through 11. There is no charge for children under five). In addition my party will include ..... children under five years of age.

The Play's The Thing At Area Summer Theaters

HARTLEY NEWSPAPERS

DENISON SUMMER THEATER "Under the Big Blue Tent," will open June 19 with a carefree farce "Make Mine Mink." Its season of 10 plays runs through Aug. 25 on Tuesday through Saturday evenings at 8:20 in Granville.

Denison's '62 Season Includes Old Favorites

Several audience favorites will return for the sixteenth season of the Denison Summer Theater at Granville.

Among them will be John Schuck, Lynne Kothera, and Jack Johnson.

Schuck has spent five seasons with the Denison Summer Theater and played in some forty productions. This season he will be featured in "Li'l Abner," "The Fantasticks," and "Paint Your Wagon." Johnson is returning for his third season in Granville. Last year in New York, he appeared in "The Three Penny Opera" and in the off-Broadway production of "The Merchant of Venice." He will appear in five productions this summer.

Lynn Kothera was seen this season on Broadway in Martha Graham's dance company, appearing most prominently in the production of "Clytemnestra." Kothera has been with the Denison Summer Theater for three seasons and played leads in "The Reluctant Debutante," and "Brigadoon."

Other members of the company who are returning for their second season are John Davidson, Helen Brown, Mary Kay Williams, Jonathan Reynolds, and Robert Armstrong.

William Brasmer, who has been with the Denison Summer Theater since 1949, will be managing director. Richard G. Smith is technical director and Kenneth Roberts of 854 Bricker-blvd will be associate director.

POG To Star Peter Harris

Playhouse - on - the - Green opens its theater-in-the-round June 13 with the production, "The Marriage-Go-Round."

Playing the lead will be Peter Harris, who makes his first appearance with POG this season. Harris most recently played the lead in "Rhinoceros." He also toured with Ethel Barrymore and was opposite Helen Hayes on Broadway in "Harriet."

Supporting roles in "Marriage-Go-Round" will be played by Don Barton, another newcomer to POG this year; Lois Kibee and Lisa Laughlin.

WRFD Makes Outdoor Show Plans

Final plans have been made for the WRFD Outdoor Living Show June 8, 9 and 10. The 1962 edition of the show designed for the outdoorsman will highlight many interesting exhibits and demonstrations.

The show will present exhibits of boats, camping trailers, tents, sports equipment and marine equipment. Demonstrations on archery, scuba diving, camping, marine radio and outdoor cookery will be given during the WRFD Outdoor Living Show.

Over 50 valuable prizes will be given away during the show. These include an outboard motor, a 10x15 ft. deluxe cottage tent, rods and reels 22-calibre rifle, $100.00 bow, camping equipment, boat dolly and winch, marine equipment and many more items of outdoor living equipment.

The WRFD Recreation Park is located five miles north of Worthington on U.S. Route 23. The gates open on Friday, June 8, at 4 p.m.; Saturday, June 9, at 9 a.m. and Sunday, June 10, at 10 a.m.

Maiden Of Roses To Receive Gifts

A generous donation of prizes and trophies will accompany the honor of wearing the 1962 Maiden of Roses crown. The crowning ceremony will take place at the Columbus Park of Roses June 13.

To the maiden will go a pearl necklace donated by Rogers Jewelers, a gold wrist watch by the Men's [illegible] Club, a $300 scholarship by the State Auto Mutual Insurance Co. and a modeling course by Mrs. Clarence Nonnemaker.

Trophies donated by Station WLW-C, producer of the program, will be given to the maiden and her four court members. Carved ivory necklaces will be given to all contestants by the Columbus Park of Roses.

Schools Get Tougher . . .

If you think school was tough in your day, pity the poor student today. Dr. A. Richard Baldwin of Columbus recently reported that man's knowledge of the world will double by 1967. He added that this will be the fourth time. Previous times were between 1750 and 1900, between 1900 and 1950 and between 1950 and 1960.

FIRST NIGHT — JUNE 12

Classic 'Carousel' Opens Kenley's Second Season

The Kenley Players came, saw and conquered Columbus audiences last year with an unprecedented season of summer theater. Offering name stars in Broadway hits, staged in the air-conditioned comfort of Mershon auditorium, with the top seat price of $2.50, the Kenley Players couldn't have helped but succeed. And succeed they did.

From the looks of the present activity at the Kenley box office, Columbus theatergoers are giving their vote of confidence to insure Kenley a second smash season.

Part of the Kenley Players' success story is in the big name talent they bring for each performance. On this year's bill, for example, are Betty Hutton, Jane Powell, Arlene Dahl, Juanita Hall and John Raitt — to mention a few.

"If the stars bring in the audience, it's the rest of the production that makes them rave," commented director Joe Vispi, who demands perfection down to the smallest role. The Kenley Players boast of the highest paid chorus in America, drawing their singers and dancers mainly from New York's Broadway. Their elaborate sets and costumes are exact copies of the ones used in the original Broadway productions.

Opening this year's season of 12 plays is the classic musical favorite, "Carousel." Based on the novel "Liliom," by the Hungarian playwright Ferenc Molnar, it is the moving story of a young widow, who reveres the memory of her circus barker husband and their daughter.

The play has everything: pathos, comedy, romance, dancing, and the beautiful music of Rodgers and Hammerstein. From the play come such well-known songs as "I'll Never Walk Alone," "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," and of course, the haunting melody of its title—"Carousel."

John Raitt, who played in "Pajama Game," will star in the Kenley production "Carousel"—a role he originated on Broadway.

Appearing with Kenley for second time is Cecelia Ward, who played the head wife in last year's "The King and I." She will be in "Carousel" as Aunt Nettie.

The opening night for Kenley productions is Tuesday, June 12.

Commented director Vespi, "I can't sleep until the last ticket is sold." If this season is as rewarding as their last —and all indications are that it will be—we don't think Vespi should lose too many nights.

JOHN RAITT stars in the Kenley Players' production of "Carousel," opening the season of 12 plays at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, Tuesday, June 12, at 8:30 p.m. Each production will run Tuesday through Sunday evening with matinees Saturday and Sunday, at 2:45 p.m.

At Ease . . .

TIMELY TIPS . . . FOR PLEASURE

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Who's In The Director's Chair?

There is a saying that if you know a play has been directed, it hasn't been directed well. Pushing this theory to its logical conclusion, a good play would seem to emerge without the aid of that particular and necessary breed of theater personality—the director.

Being optimistic about Columbus' forthcoming summer theater season, we're not taking any chances that Columbus theater directors go this-sung. For the group associated with the four central Ohio playhouses — Playhouse-on-the-Green, Kenley Players, Denison Theater and Stadium Theater — are men of exceptional vision, with definite opinions of what a summer theater should be. Due to their imagination, Columbus audiences will enjoy a variety of summer entertainment, ranging from the farcical plays such as "L'il Abner" to more provocative dramas such as "All the Way Home."

JACK BOSTICK, Playhouse-on-the-Green director, who recently finished a three-month stint with the American Theater in Rome, is emphatic that the summertimes should be a time to laugh rather than to worry. One of the things that influenced him to come to Ohio's POG was its light-hearted schedule.

BEVERLY

Bostick, however, found a few unique problems with POG's famed theater-in-the round stage. "Playwrights just don't write for the round. It presents a real challenge to the director and designer," he commented. Take away a designer's walls and what does he have left?

"'The Marriage-Go-Round,' however, which will open the season, is silk off the spool, perfect for theater in the round, beginning with its title."

JOE VESPI, director of the Kenley Players, has his own reputation to live up to. Last year the Kenley Players debuted in Columbus with the biggest group of name stars to hit the city in a summer theater season. Running successful large-scale shows in Warren gave Producer John Kenley, brother Jack and Director Joe Vespi the idea to bring their group to Columbus.

Handling this star-studded season of big shows does not lack in headaches. Vespi's desk top drawer is filled with pills for pepping up and calming down. He confided that he is now awaiting someone to invent a meal tablet to help him avoid dripping [illegible] roast beef sandwich on the [illegible] combined lunch-time and directing before hectic first nights.

WILLIAM BRASMER, Denison summer theater director, a veteran of 14 years of the theater's 16 seasons, envisions Denison's theatrical task as two-fold: entertaining the audience and giving experience to aspiring talent. Brasmer has had a chance to see a change in the tastes of his audiences over the 14 years he has directed Denison's plays.

"Audiences have become more discriminating," he commented. Denison started off by producing good family comedies, but has now moved into more sophisticated theater. Director Brasmer has staged both Shakespeare and Shaw in the last few years. Because of the musical talent it has this year, Denison will emphasize musical comedies for the season.

ROY H. BOWEN, managing director of the Stadium Theater, has been with the OSU group since its first season in 1950. In a share-the-direction plan, the Stadium Theater draws top talent from community theaters to direct its productions. Each of the six directors are responsible for one play.

Opening the Stadium Theater season will be Harold Eisenstein's production of "Three Penny Opera." He staged the show here this year with his group of Gallery Players at the Jewish Center and will bring his original leads—all excellent singers—to play in the Stadium rendition. The other talented men, in addition to Bowen, who will be in the director's chair, are Everett M. Schreck, Jack Conner, Charles C. Ritter, and Bob Richey.

State House Grounds Site Of Arts Festival

Ten pavilions will be located along the west wall of the state house grounds during the Festival of Arts celebration, June 15, 16 and 17. They will contain displays of the Gallery of Fine Art, School of Art and Design, Art League, Board of Education, Ohio State University, Capital University, Recreation Department and American Institute of Architects.

The pavilions will open at 5 p.m. on Friday; noon on Saturday and Sunday; and close at 9 each night.

In addition to the displays there will be demonstrations during the day and evening by students and professional artists.

Pavilions are being leased through the Three Rivers Art Festival, Pittsburgh, Pa. They will be erected and dismantled through the courtesy of the Columbus Home Builders Association. The state house grounds will be obtained through the courtesy of the Department of Public Buildings, Theodore Kauer, director. Jerry Brakey has charge of the lights and sound and Noverre Musson of the AIA has charge of the designs. George C. Stine will supervise the entire construction.

The Festival of Arts is sponsored by the Downtown Area Committee.

Concert Slated At Art Festival

The Columbus Symphony Orchestra will present a Pop Concert on Saturday, June 16, at 8 p.m. on the State House steps, during the Sesquicentennial Festival of Arts celebration.

The concert is free to the public and will be an hour to an hour and a quarter long. The concert will consist of show tunes, Strauss waltzes, and other popular selections.

Try-Outs For Stadium Theater Are Underway

Try-outs for the 1962 Stadium Theater productions are now in progress. Roles are available for both student and community actors, with or without experience.

The June try-out schedule is as follows: "The Play's the Thing," June 5-6, Derby Theater; "Hotel Paradiso," June 12-13, Derby Theater; "The Philadelphia Story," June 19-20, Derby Theater; "All the Way Home," June 26-27, Derby Theater; "Kiss Me Kate," June 26-27 (6 p.m., singing and dancing try-outs; 8 p.m., acting).

Series Features Theater Groups

"Summer Playbill," an all-new eight program series, produced by WOSU-TV, will begin Wednesday night, June 6 following the "Tonight" show.

Host for the series will be Gladys Lattie Thomas and John Crawford, both well-known figures to Columbus theatre-goers. Guests will be from the four Central Ohio summer theater groups: Kenley Players, Denison Summer Theater, Playhouse - on - the Green, and Stadium Theater.

CLUB TAKES TOP HONOR AT MEET

CENTRAL OHIO ANGLERS and Hunters Junior Rifle Club took top honors at end-of-the-season awards program of the Buckeye Junior Rifle League, Friday, May 18, at Ft. Hayes. Posing with the General Beauchamp Trophy for first-place team are shooters who also won the Ohio Prone Championship at Dayton, Apr. 8. Two weeks earlier they won the Ohio Sectional for Positions at St. Mary's, O. Other awards received May 18 are the Ludwig Trophy for high single match and the NRA trophy for high team. Janet Hanley took "high individual"; John McCoy took second and the others also received trophies for team achievement. The local club shoots at Ft. Hayes Wednesday nights. Paul J. Hanley, Janet's father, is head instructor, assisted by Wilbur Mefford, Ray Davies, and Art McCoy. The club hopes to exemplify the merits of safe gun handling, encourage young people to develop a skill, and in the near future to build a range on the Hilltop. Seen left to right are: (Front row) Dick Barlow, 2513 Sullivant; Janet Hanley, 644 S. Ogden; Bill Morrow, 2535 Sullivant. (Back row) Mike Bland, 397 S. Central; John McCoy, 547 S. Terrace; Brian Mefford, Worthington.

HILLTOP YMCA SPORTS NOTES

BASEBALL CLINIC

Boys 6 and 7 years of age will again this year have the opportunity to play and learn the sport of baseball. A baseball clinic for this age group will be held at the "Y" diamonds, 2879 Valleyview-dr.

This will be a six week program beginning June 25th at 1:30 p.m. Fundamentals of batting, throwing, fielding, base running and sportsmanship will be emphasized.

This program will be run and supervised by the Hilltop YMCA physical director.

EX-LITTLE NINERS

The Hilltop YMCA is offering a program for the summer months which will provide fun and enjoyment for boys from 14 to 17 years of age.

An Older Boys Baseball League is being formed and information concerning this league has been sent to all "Y" members in the 14-17 age group.

If you have not received an application for participation in this league, copies are available at the YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr. Games will be played two afternoons a week beginning June 18 at 1:30 p.m.

All boys wishing to participate in this league should fill out an application and return it to the "Y" office before June 11. Team tryouts will be held June 14 at 9 a.m. Team assignments will be posted at the YMCA on June 15 after 10 a.m.

LITTLE NINE

The Little Nine Baseball League plans are being made and league play will begin in the middle of June. Tryouts for the league will be held before the opening game.

These tryouts are for the purpose of assigning boys to teams for a balanced league. No one person will be refused, and each boy is guaranteed participation in every game that his team plays.

The games will be played during the day, with each team playing at least one evening game. Coaches for these teams will be junior and senior high school age boys, with all games being supervised by the Hilltop YMCA physical director.

The following schedule will be used for Little Nine tryout sessions. Read this schedule carefully and come to the "Y" diamonds at the time your last name initial indicates.

Last initial "AH" (8-10 yrs. old) June 11, 9:30 a.m. "A-H" (11-13 yrs. old) June 11, 1:30 p.m. "I-P" (8-10 yrs. old) June 12, 9:30 a.m. "I-P" (11-13 yrs. old) June 12, 1:30 p.m. "Q-Z" (8-10 yrs. old) June 13, 9:30 a.m. "Q-Z" (11-13 yrs. old) June 13, 1:30 p.m.

Free Christian Theatre Plans New Films

The Free Christian Drive-In Theatre, located just south of 1900 W. Mound-st, will show the full-length feature film in full color of Billy Graham in "The Heart Is A Rebel," starring Ethel Waters, Sunday, June 10.

A double feature will be shown Saturday, June 9, "Dead Men On Furlough" and "Winsome Witness."

Show time is 8:15 p.m.

Jimmy Rea, director of the Drive-In, announced that starting June 1, the theatre will be open both Saturday and Sunday night.

A large Sallman painting of Christ will be given to the group having the largest number, and each child 15 years or under will receive a free bottle of pop.

Five West Siders Injured In Crash

A Sullivant-av two-car crash injured five persons late Tuesday night. The accident occurred just west of Clarendon-av.

Charles Foster, 42, of 386 S. Wayne-av, and three of his six children were treated at local hospitals.

Foster suffered chest injuries and was pinned for several minutes in the wreckage. He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Also treated at Mt. Carmel for face cuts were sons, Henry, 11, and John, 8. Another Foster boy was treated at Children's Hospital.

Shirley Weaver, 17, of 3415 Plainview-dr, an occupant of the other car, was admitted to Mt. Carmel with fractures of the right wrist, left arm and face cuts.

JDC Teachers Are Refused Injunction

Myron B. Gessaman, Common Pleas Court judge, denied an injunction May 31, requested by two Juvenile Diagnostic Center teachers who sought to retain their jobs.

William Jenkins, 234 Woodland-av, and Rolla Beach, Pickerington, two of seven teachers dismissed in the educational reorganization of the JDC, claimed that their removal from classified civil service is "illegal, unlawful and a violation of the civil service statutes and constitutes a sham and pretense."

The suits also claimed that the state plans to re-establish the positions and fill them with other people.

Gessaman said he had no authority to grant an injunction because the teachers had other remedies at law to try to save their jobs.

The state claims that the dismissals result from abolition of the jobs.

Hilltop Family Improves After Collision Injuries

Mrs. Mary Katherine McGonagle, 37, wife of Edmund McGonagle, 74 S. Burgess-av, was reported in fair condition Tuesday, June 5, at University Hospital where her husband was listed in satisfactory condition.

The McGonagles, with daughter, Mary, were returning home from a picnic at Hoover Dam, Saturday, June 2, when their car was struck head-on about 300 feet west of Woodland-av and 17th-av.

Mrs. McGonagle suffered head and possible internal injuries.

Mary was not badly hurt and was released from University Hospital Sunday, June 3.

William Adams, 23, of 2240 Barry-dr, was the driver of the other car. Adams was taken to University Hospital with chest injuries. Police said that they would question Adams.

Westgate Baptist Church To Hold Vacation School

New Walk For Broad-st Bridge

Franklin County is installing a new sidewalk across the Broad Street Bridge over the Scioto River. The north sidewalk and curb lane was closed Monday as construction began and County Engineer Guy Elbin said it would remain so for an indefinite period.

The southbound right turn lane on Marconi-blvd, just north of Broad-st, will also be closed, the engineer said.

Only nine players in the National Football League had touchdown runs of more than 50 yards in 1961.

Deny Order To Stop Sewer Work

Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman denied a petition to build a sewer line project at W. Broad-st and Philippi-Georgesville-rds, which the petitioners, Champion Amusement Co., claimed was an illegal state contract.

The judge said that testimony during the three-day hearing did not warrant the issuance of a restraining order but that allegations will have to be proved at a full-scale hearing later.

The amusement company claimed it will be a victim of continuing trespassing and that the auto theater would be damaged. Opposing the theater owners were the State of Ohio, Nationwide Development Co., Lazarus, Huntington National Bank and the Complete General Contractors Co.

Nationwide, Lazarus and Huntington have developments on the 160-acre tract at the southwest corner of the intersection. The construction firm holds the contract to install the sewer mains.

Weather Conditions Are Looking Better For Local Farmers

Crop conditions in Franklin County are looking considerably better than they did a few weeks ago, County Agricultural Extension Service officials report.

Ted Pierce, local AES meteorologist, said that rainfall as of last week had been spotty but moisture conditions had improved with the ground water logged down to around 15 inches.

"We have had some good rains," he reported, "with amounts ranging from three-fourths to two inches."

He added that some portions of the county had been slighted because most of the precipitation has fallen in the northern area.

"Everybody did get some rain," said James Kendell, agricultural statistician in charge, Ohio Crop Reporting Service.

"We were really worried about the moisture conditions for a while," he added, while agreeing with Pierce that things were looking up.

He said that more rain is needed and "we have no reason to assume that we aren't going to get it."

Throughout the county Kendell said that crops seemed to be ahead of schedule.

Corn has been 90 per cent planted as compared to 75 at this time last year. Showers also have helped this crop considerably. Kendell added the 90 per cent was a record in corn progress since 1954.

He had this to say about other crops in the area:

SOYBEANS: They are 75 per cent planted, compared with less than 50 per cent last year. At this time the average amount is a little over half. Progress is about 25 per cent ahead of schedule.

BARLEY and RYE: Most of it is out. Over half of the wheat is headed. Farmers have probably hit the average or maybe are a little ahead.

OATS: This crop has just started to head. Oats tend to like cooler weather and may have pretty short straw.

HAY: Late rains have not helped the first cutting. It also did not have a chance to grow before, because of dry weather. However, the second cutting should be better if rains are persistent and timely.

STRAYBERRIES: Production is slow. Most of them on the local market are coming from Southern Ohio and Kentucky. However, rain has been a big help. The dry weather has lowered the size.

VEGETABLES: Most of them are out. The heavy tomato acreage in Northern Ohio is producing good. Cabbage is being cut in the southern area.

WINTER GRAINS: Questionable. Nothing definite will be known until a little later. Wheat is also still up in the air.

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service will have another tabulation which is due on June 11.

Kendell implied that conditions would probably be looking better at that time with no particular problem arising for local farmers.

Completes Course

Army Pvt. Jerry W. Coffman, son of James A. Coffman, 112 Midland has completed an eight-week supply handlers course conducted by the 100th Division at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Qualifies as Rifle Expert

LCpl. Ronald L. Whaley, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Whaley of 272 N. Maple-dr, has qualified as a rifle expert at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif.

SPEEDER STOPPER is this new 1962 cruiser, the pride of Darbydale's policemen. The completely equipped patrol car is village-owned and sees most of its action in traffic control on Route 665. Chief Lovell Skaggs, recently appointed permanent head of the department, stands ready for duty beside the cruiser, waiting to direct school children safely home.

CONSTABLE CONCEPT CRUMBLES

Remember Small Town Cops? Darbydale Boasts New Type

By Ron Coffman

The skies may be too crowded, as many aviation experts claim, but in Darbydale some jet-age traffic problems of a more down-to-earth variety have prompted development of a unique concept in small town law enforcement.

In place of the traditional constable drawing part-time wages the village boasts a five-man force complete with a new light blue cruiser, radio and radar and some of the finest police training available.

And all this is in use at little more cost and much greater benefit than the conventional one-man operation.

How did this happen?

For years village residents did a slow burn as Hot Rod Harrys executed high-speed automotive gymnastics over narrow, winding Route 665, main Darbydale thoroughfare.

The traffic situation reached its critical point, though, when hundreds of Lockbourne and Wright-Patterson air base workers began using the road as a short cut to the Columbus and Dayton installations.

Worried parents and people "just tired of playing chicken-in-the-road," as one man put it, pressured council to act about five years ago.

The solons broke with tradition and accepted a novel suggestion that several young men already holding other jobs be assigned to police duty on a rotation system.

What has grown from this is being studied for possible adoption by several other small central Ohio towns.

Chief Lovell Skaggs, 26, a daytime Westinghouse employe and father of two children, is on official duty Mondays and Fridays from 5 to 10 p.m. Working with him is Capt. David Helwagen.

Sgt. David Stokes works the Wednesday and Saturday evening tricks while patrolmen James Helwagen and Robert Strogha patrol the village from 5 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. All are available on Sundays — usually the heaviest traffic day — and many times an officer is on hand during weekdays.

Calls come to Skaggs' home. "We handle every one possible," the chief said. Close cooperation with the Franklin County Sheriff's Department insures constant protection for Darbydale.

Each man draws two dollars an hour while on duty.

A new auxiliary police unit authorized last month by council will provide additional patrol help this summer when traffic — the department's biggest headache — is at its heaviest.

The radar system nips many violators. "We get called a speed trap and a bunch of crooks, but the town has maintained an accident-free record for many years," Skaggs commented.

The force points with pride to a village juvenile delinquency record among the lowest in the state while Darbydale has one of the highest adolescent population percentages in Ohio, more than five youngsters per family unit.

The police unit has added a modern touch to other areas of its operation, too.

"The old technique constables used to use if they ran into a troublemaker was to take a club and beat the tar out of him," Skaggs said with a grimace.

"That doesn't go any more," the chief added, stating, "Selling law enforcement — I mean giving a pleasant 'officer doing his duty' attitude to a speeder or anyone else—is 75 per cent of the battle."

This "sales approach" has won favorable reaction from both local citizens and persons from other areas cited for minor infractions.

"If they leave thinking you're a pretty good fellow after you calmly explain what they have done wrong you're going to have a lot less difficulty," Skaggs noted in explaining his department's philosophy.

All officers have undergone training programs supervised by the State Highway Patrol in Grove City.

Discussions have covered proper methods for making criminal arrests, halting autos, investigating accidents, administering first aid and operating cruisers. "As long as any officer has a question he wants answered all our men will go to a meeting," Skaggs said.

Good conduct on and off duty is required. Officers seek better ideas and methods from other departments.

All this has paid off in better protection for the town and a good reputation for the police.

"People here didn't depend on the local force in the past They called the sheriff. Now they are calling us," the chief noted.

Officers said most speeders now are persons who don't expect to see police in the village. Signs have been posted at Lockbourne and Wright - Patterson cautioning drivers to slow down through Darbydale.

"We want the department to be a credit to the community and promote a good name. Our efforts are going to continue to be directed toward improving our relationship with the people to give them better law enforcement," Chief Skaggs concluded.

Why Not A Renewed Call To The Colors?

Are you too timid to fly the American flag?

There are those who are . . . and they seem to be growing in numbers. Perhaps it's not timidity after all. It could be the blight of snobbism that makes it unpopular to show emotion for God, mother, and yes—the flag.

Chances are these people have never participated in the sacrifices that have made America great — that made her free and have kept her free.

If you fought in the mosquito-infested marshes of Spanish Cuba, the mud of the Marne . . . if you bled on the sharp sands of Iwo Jima, or chiseled out a foxhole in the flinty ridges of Korea . . . you understand what freedom means. How great it was to see the Stars and Stripes, however rarely displayed, when the victory was won and you returned!

Sure, the younger generation knows about the flag. They've seen it in schools, the churches and at youth meetings. But to some it is a mere decoration gathering dust.

There are persons whose jaded eyes see nothing inspirational in the red, white and blue — just a trite combination of colors.

Perish the thought that we have backslid to this! There is still time to renew that old-fashioned, deep down respect for the American flag unfurled in the breeze.

Every American, every home, and business still has that privilege. Every day is an appropriate flag day, but especially so on June 14 and Independence Day, July 4.

Don't be timid — or a snob. You are among 180 million of the luckiest people in the world. Fly the flag!

A Prayer For People Growing Older

Lord, Thou knowest that I am growing older.

Keep me from becoming talkative and possessed with the idea that I must express myself on every subject.

Release me from the craving to straighten out everyone's affairs.

Keep my mind free from the recital of endless detail. Give me the wings to come to the point.

Seal my lips when I am inclined to tell of my aches and pains. They are increasing with the years, and my love to speak of them grows sweeter as time goes by.

Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally I may be wrong. Make me thoughtful, but not nosy; helpful, but not bossy. With my vast store of wisdom and experience it does seem a pity not to use it all. But Thou knowest, Lord, that I want a few friends at the [redacted]

National Foundation Enters New Fields

It was our privilege to sit in on a report of the local chapter of the National Foundation (March of Dimes) this past week and a real revelation it was.

Now that the biggest portion of the polio battle has been won, and a great tribute is due this organization, it has now entered the field of prevention and cure of birth defects and arthritis.

So, when the time comes to assist in the March of Dimes, don't just assume that they have finished their job. They have merely started on two more and ones that need your help.

West Side Conservation Plan Is Pushed

COMMUNITY CENTER EARNS CITY-WIDE ACCLAIM

HILLTOP'S COMMUNITY CENTER along Valleyview-dr, west of Hague-av, is impressive at ground level but equally attractive from the air. The overall project on May 25 was given an award for planning excellence from The Junior League of Columbus. It was accepted by C. H. Campbell on behalf of the community. Visible in the 33-acre complex are (from foreground): Glenwood Methodist Church. (A parsonage is to be built nearby this year and an educational building will follow.); Hilltop branch YMCA (swimming pool to be added); Valleyview Elementary and Westmoor Junior High School. Developments yet to come include a temple for Luther B. Turner Masonic Lodge and a 15-acre park belonging to the Columbus Division of Parks and Forestry. (Ball grounds already are in use; two small shelterhouses are planned for 1962.) This is the second year the Junior League has sponsored PLAN awards "in the interests of a more beautiful community." Local Agencies To Ask For City, Federal Aid

In a spirit of "let us help ourselves to progress" West Side civic leaders this week prepared formal request for a unique experiment in neighborhood conservation.

A six-page proposal for an 11-year, $315,800 project to prevent the spread of urban blight in the near West Side has been prepared by the Gladden Community House board of trustees. It should reach John P. Willison, director of the Urban Renewal Commission, by Friday.

The plan received the endorsement of the West Side Board of Trade Tuesday night and is expected to get similar action from the West Side Neighborhood Council tonight.

Mayor Westlake heard the details last Wednesday afternoon and was enthusiastic. The mayor was told that one effective approach to neighborhood rehabilitation is the voluntary participation of the residents.

Contracting through the city for some services, the planners hope also to qualify for federal aid. If it can be shown that 95 per cent of the area is reclaimable property this aid could be forthcoming and would amount to two-thirds of the total cost of the project.

Gladden trustees, over the signature of Herschel E. Stephan, president, are asking the city to advance $15,400 for first-year planning and $20,000 annually during the 10-year period to follow.

Council To Assume Task

It was pointed out that the Neighborhood Council could be a powerful tool in the rehabilitation. Such matters as more and better playgrounds, retention of single-family dwellings, home ownership and improvement, rezoning, better traffic control and improved street lighting would be engineered by the council in cooperation with Urban Renewal and City Planning authorities.

Only two years old, the council has already demonstrated its effectiveness. Taking note that the West Side has already been considered for rehabilitation, area spokesmen said that the lack of local resources has prevented progress beyond the drawing board stage. "There are indications," they declared, "that without immediate attention the neighborhood will deteriorate further both socially and physically."

The local leaders said they believe they can enlist strong cooperation from the persons who live, work or own property here. The four-square-mile area houses 19,000 people in 5,800 units, 2,300 units of which are owner occupied. In addition, they said, there is a significant number of public housing projects, recreation centers, highways and railroads, as well as a metropolitan hospital.

"There's nothing quite like this proposal anywhere else in the nation," commented Al Wilder, Gladden director. "Germantown, Pa. has come the nearest to doing it. They don't have a large neighborhood council like ours but have formed block clubs of residents who are making tremendous strides in rehabilitation. They have secured U.S. aid in their work.

"I am convinced," Wilder continued, "that West Side people can make their own decisions rather than asking the city to make all of them. As soon as Director Willison and Mayor Westlake formally approve our plan, it will be presented to City Council for ordinance action. Then exploratory talks will begin in the District Urban Renewal Office in Chicago.

"This procedure may take about six months and it is quite possible that our 'operation bootstraps' can enter the active stage here by the first of next year."

Wilder said the Gladden board established the following tentative budget in its proposed $315,700 program:

Annual salary of the project director, $7500; two other field workers, $6250 each; clerk, $4100. Other costs for each of the project years include social security, $560; office and publication supplies, $440; professional affiliations and conferences, $800; communications, $900; equipment replacement and repair, $200; miscellaneous, $300; and administrative overhead, $2730.

Soapbox Derby Site Shifted To Freeway

The 1962 Columbus Soap Box Derby will not be held on W. Broad-st hill.

Derby officials Monday revealed that the July 15 homemade racer classic will be run on an unopened section of Interstate 71, south of E. Fifth-av. The freeway stretch, approximately 1200 feet long, had been sought for the race early this spring. But complications arose and the W. Broad-st site was accepted as second choice.

A last-minute cooperative effort by the derby sponsors, city and state officials and the freeway contractor resulted in the change of plans last Friday.

While the W. Broad-st stretch had been declared ideal for the race, several problems had to be faced. City transit buses could not be rerouted, even during actual racing hours. Insurance companies were reluctant to assume liability risks of the crowd unless every bus had a police escort and would hold its speed down to five m.p.h.

In commenting on the change, Derby Director Tom Hawk of the Jaycees said, "We are pleased that through the cooperation of many people and agencies we will be able to hold the Columbus derby on the freeway." He explained that the State Highway Department will arrange for early acceptance of the needed highway segment from the Heldermen Construction Company. "This site, in many ways, is superior to the W. Broad-st location," Hawk said. "It is safer for the competitors, the track will be longer, the race will not interfere with regular city traffic, and there will be more room for spectators."

Mayor Helps

Hawk praised Mayor Westlake for lending city assistance in the project. The mayor appointed Assistant Safety Director James Worster as city derby coordinator. According to Hawk, the city will be responsible for crowd controls and will sweep and mark the racetrack.

Meanwhile, John Burpee, WLW-C derby coordinator, said purchases of racer parts from local Chevrolet dealers indicates

Iranian Finds Love, Sorrow, Sympathy Here

by Betty Deff

Capt. Houshang Jahangiri will leave Thursday with heavy heart for his homeward journey to Iran and his duties there as an administrator in the national police.

The trip had been planned joyously, to prepare a home in Teheran and a welcome for his American bride who would follow in two months; the miles will be marked instead by sadness and grief.

Mrs. Jahangiri

The former Nancy Guyton, his wife since Mar. 23, died June 3 following open heart surgery at University Hospital. Her father and stepmother are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomas, 860 W. Walnut-st.

In this country for study, to observe and learn American police methods, Capt. Jahangiri completed a course in finance at OSU in March, and was assigned to the Columbus Police Department in April.

He and Nancy met in January, in the TV room at University Hospital where both were patients. She was hospitalized for her heart condition, and he was there for treatment of a stomach ulcer.

"In just six months," he mused sadly, "I met her, married and lost her. And so, I grow old very soon."

Nancy, choosing to start her new life with a sound, healthy heart — or not at all — died after a team of surgeons had worked nine hours to correct the condition that had become increasingly serious, through the years.

She had planned to follow her husband to Teheran after a two months' convalescence.

"She knew the risk of the operation," Jahangiri said, "but her conversation with me was GENERAL CONSTRUCTION of Lazarus West, budget fashion store next to Nationwide Inn at the corner of Georgesville-rd and West Broad-st, passed the 75 percent completion mark this week. Remaining exterior work includes building decoration and Broad-st marquee, landscaping and parking lot lighting and paving. The store will be open for business about Aug. 15.

A MAIN CONSTRUCTION feature of Lazarus West will be an air curtain door, patterned after the main entrance to the downtown store. Jack Sosler, Lazarus West manager, points to the air ducts that will supply the continuous air flow system. The air curtain, nearly 20 feet wide, is on the broad street side of the building.

AUG. 15 TARGET FOR OPENING

Lazarus West Nears Finish; Employment Office To Open

Plans for opening the Lazarus West employment office were announced today as general construction on the budget fashion store passed the 75 percent completion mark.

Board Chairman Robert Lazarus and President Charles Y. Lazarus said the employment office will open Monday, June 25 in a suite at Nationwide Inn. Lazarus West, the 111-year-old Columbus department store's first branch, is located adjacent to Nationwide Inn at the corner of Georgesville-rd and W. Broad-st.

Employment office hours will be 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 25 through June 28. It is expected that the office will open in its permanent location in the Lazarus West store during the first week of July.

Shell of the new 80,000-square-foot department store is nearly complete. Major exterior work remaining includes landscaping and parking lot lighting and paving. Parking area, 13 acres in size to accommodate nearly 1200 cars, will completely surround the store.

The store will be open for business on or about Aug. 15. Interior work began this week and the first merchandise is scheduled to arrive in early July.

Job Plans Outlined

Certain of the regular full-time sales jobs are to be filled immediately, with the new associates scheduled for training in the parent departments at the downtown store.

It is expected that the basic staff of regular sales people will total about 100. Some 200 part-time jobs are available.

Business hours for the new store will be 11 to 9 Monday through Friday and 10 to 9 Saturdays.

"Store hours are such," the Lazarus statement said, "that we can be very flexible in meeting the needs of most anyone's schedule." Starting times and length of work days will be varied.

Thomas Raymond, Lazarus West assistant store manager, will conduct the employment interviews.

Merchandise at Lazarus West will include wide assortments of convenience merchandise in popularly-priced lines: apparel, accessories and shoes for men, women and children; radios, TV sets; bedding, housewares; toys; appliances; garden supplies in season; records; drugs; rugs, sporting goods; curtains; yard goods and cameras.

Special features of the store include complete air conditioning, picnic bar and an air curtain door at the Broad-st entrance. Other entrances both modified air curtains, will be located at the east and South sides of the building.

Automobile access to the store will be from both Broad-st and Georgesville-rd.

Seal Design Contest Is Scheduled

Local artists, amateur and professional, can compete for a $1000 prize to be awarded by the National Tuberculosis Association for designing the Christmas Seal for 1964.

The Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County, and the Columbus College of Art and Design will co-sponsor the contest open to any interested artist.

Judging will be on professional and non-professional levels. Prizes for non-professional entries include scholarships valued at $500, $250, and $75 to the Columbus College of Art and Design, and three family memberships to the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

Professional entries will compete for honors of $100, $50 and $25 and three family memberships to the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

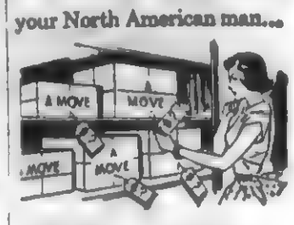
Deadline is Sept. 5.

Law Institute In Progress

The Sixth Annual Institute on Corporate Legal Problems is being held June 13, 14 and 15, at Lincoln Lodge. It is being sponsored by the Ohio State Bar Association and the Ohio Manufacturers Association.

The three-day program is designed for lawyers who devote all or a considerable portion of their time counselling corporations. The main topics of the Institute are foreign trade, patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets.

Recent developments in labor laws and taxation, and Federal Trade landmark cases are also being discussed.

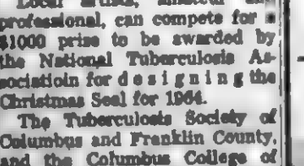


GROUP SALES MANAGERS for the new store investigate another unique construction feature of the building. James Jackson, in charge of the home goods departments, points to the steel framing suspended from the permanent ceiling girders. Acoustical tile panels simply rest in the frames to form the ceiling. Easy access is provided to the electrical and air conduits located between the girders and the suspended ceiling. Framing is suspended by heavy steel wire. Maintenance men simply lift up the panels to get to the conduits just as many persons get to their home attic through a lay-in ceiling door. Looking on with Jackson are (left to right) Mark Levine, in charge of women's and junior's apparel and shoes; Arthur Kaplan, men's wear and accessories, and John Waldner, children's wear and smallwares.

Open House Set At Girl Scout Camp

Open House will be held at Girl Scout Camp Ken-Jockety on Sunday, June 17, from 2 to 5 p.m. The camp is located on Hubbard-rd, which goes north from Rt. 40, about 12 miles west of Broad and High, between Alton and West Jefferson.

Camp Ken-Jockety is operated by the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council and accommodates approximately 600 girls during four two-week sessions from June 24 to Aug. 18. The camp is used for troop camping during the rest of the year.



June 18 is the only visiting day during the summer. The camp director, Miss Dorothy Gamber and her staff will be present to welcome visitors.

Improvement Licensing Bill Not Most Practical Answer

In the past weeks Reynoldsburg's freshmen administrators indicated their desire to serve the electors by introducing a bill that would require the licensing of home improvement contractors.

The measure was an attempt to stop the "suede shoe group" as they are known in the industry, or the "fly-by-nights" as the duped quickly label them.

The ordinance was on the verge of becoming law when building organizations asked for time to study and discuss the issue in a public hearing. The hearing was granted. The lengthy, strong languaged, "breeze-weave" bill was scorned and labeled "a license to steal" by one of its authors. Industry representatives and a former FBI agent examined it and handed back to the Council's Safety Committee a swiss cheese.

The bill as presently drafted has been stopped by the sponsors but probably will be revised and returned to the hopper. No one has condemned the efforts of these young lawmakers. Everyone who spoke against the licensing law opened and closed with complimentary remarks praising the concern and attempt to stop the corruption that operates barely within the law.

Disturbing, however, is the cold shoulder turned to the suggestions of the legitimate members of the building industry that the facilities of Better Business Bureaus and builders' associations be utilized and that the ethics and pitfalls of the door-to-door operators be publicized.

Quite frequently the press is condemned for hanging a man before he is tried, swaying public opinion on a variety of subjects and numerous other offenses, but suddenly a newcomer to the field of public administration can see little good in exposing the shady operator through news media.

Reynoldsburg City Hall attitudes indicate there is still a strong determination to license and penalize builders just because that is their trade, without consideration of past reputation or service rendered.

Previously we warned of the pitfalls of government as proposed by a charter without ward representation, pointing out the opportunity to duck responsibility to every one of the city's voters.

Now the importance of ward representation is evident. Every Reynoldsburg resident has the right to inform his ward representative of what he wants in the way of protection against defraud, or increases in home improvement costs through the licensing at great expense and delay of reputable builders.

The burden of vote rests equally on the resident's and councilman's shoulders and failure to serve the electors on this critical issue is grounds for defeat at the next general election.

There is someone seated at the council table at Reynoldsburg City Hall directly responsible to a ward of voters — which is more than anyone in Columbus can say. Residents have revealed their bitter opposition to the present expensive bonding ordinance and have gotten results. Similar interest in this issue will return good business to Reynoldsburg at competitive prices homeowners can afford, and those long awaited garages, carports, patios and the like can be had through careful investigation of the businessman and an interest in government affairs.

We Like This Policy . . .

It had been rumored that the new Woolco Department Store will be open on Sunday.

At a press conference this past week heads of the organization were asked about this policy. They replied that their present policy will be that of operation on six days only.

This is a bit of good news for Columbus. We hope the new firm will see fit to continue this policy.

One thing is certain. Opening of this large firm on Sunday would in all probability trigger a general Sunday opening in most shopping centers and the city will no longer have a six-day business week.

It seems to make sense for all retailers to get their heads together and keep this rat race from descending on our community.

AROUND EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES

EXPERIMENTS . . .

Ten current experiments and studies in city secondary schools are being conducted in the fields of English, mathematics, a learning laboratory, physics, chemistry, notehand, economics, Russian and team teaching, according to L. W. Huber, director of secondary education.

Half Have Diplomas . . .

A new report shows that less than half of the citizens of Ohio have a high school diploma. The most literate state in the nation, according to the report, compiled from Census Bureau figures, is Utah, the per cent of population with at least four years of high school is 55.8. It also leads the states in the lowest percentage, 2.8 of persons with less than five years of schooling.

OHIO IS 46th . . .

Ohio's per capita school expenditures in 1961 were $322, 46th in the United States, according to a new report by the U.S. Bureau of Census.

STUDY YEAR . . .

Two Ohio teachers are among 15 high school teachers of English, history, science and social studies who will study areas of their own choosing during this next year at Harvard. They are Mrs. Antoinette Barr of Bexley and Mike Dugas, East Cleveland.

THE BUC STORY–2

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three-part series explaining the problems, possible solutions and logical evaluations now facing the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The series is being run to better acquaint local businessmen, employes and taxpayers in general with unemployment compensation and its dangerously low fund. New proposals are being readied for presentation to the state legislature next January.

May Help Cool Hot BUC Rub . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Sure, it's hot outside.

The air-conditioning unit in a Cleveland-av office is working overtime but it still can't cool off the hot breath of fate that's blowing down the back of Donald Leach.

Salt tablets won't help, either.

Leach is the administrator for Ohio's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and it appears to be only a matter of time before the compensation pay fund is emptied —possibly, a year.

There are some alternatives though — three, in fact — for rebuilding the melting fund. The state legislature and Governor Michael V. DiSalle will decide in January if they like the looks of the "thermostat."

Three proposals for rebuilding the fund have been submitted. One comes from the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, a second from the AFL-CIO and the third from the Ohio Manufacturers' Association.

Actually, the proposals have been submitted in past years in efforts to try to change the tax structure controlling the fund strength but the modifications added this time look particularly promising.

The only proposal with any radical changes in it is the one from labor. The chamber and the manufacturers' group follow similar lines.

George Bradley, director of the social legislation department of the chamber, believes the suggestions offered by his organization offer a dual approach to the problem "to establish and maintain a sound, reasonable and effective unemployment compensation system."

Bradley added that "Ohio business interests fully recognize that adequate financing is imperative to forestall the Federal government from taking over the operation."

It might be pointed out that federalization isn't as far away as people think. (This situation will be further examined in the final installment of this series dealing with an evaluation of the BUC's problems and possible solutions).

The chamber feels that there is a need for amendments to the law to establish safeguards against unwarranted costs.

Bradley commented:

"Unemployment insurance for the deserving is an accepted segment of our economy. Such a program is endorsed by the large majority of business and industry representatives. Resentment and opposition develop from employers, workers and the public when, either by provisions in the law or by administrative interpretation, distortions of the true purpose of the program occur."

The 17-page chamber report is complex and involved and touches upon many phases of the BUC's operations such as insurance benefit costs, tax rates, quits and discharges, administrative discretion, pregnancy and vacation pay, besides suggestions for the main matter—state fund restoration.

The relatively similar Ohio Manufacturers' Association (OMA) report is 21 pages in length and is broken down into four general categories.

- Financial needs of the fund and needed revisions in the Merit Rating structure of the law.
- Qualifications for benefits and eligibility requirements.
- Interested parties, right of appeal and related procedures, and
- Benefit amount, benefit limitations and duration of benefits.

The report prefaces its comments by saying, ". . . due to the rate of depletion of the Ohio fund in recent years, the present balance is perilously low and provision for additional revenue and additional revenue and additional revenue-producing capacity is urgently needed."

By comparison, the labor proposal is much more liberal and, by tradition, should receive the coolest welcome by the legislators in January.

It should be pointed out, however, that Leach believes labor would not feel its long-range interest hurt if the fund went broke and the Bureau was federalized.

The organized labor group does feel that, in respect to the non-substantive recodification of the unemployment compensation law, that "it is long overdue and greatly needed."

Labor's suggestions are divided into eight sections, including:

1. Coverage; 2. Adequacy of benefits; 3. Duration of benefits; 4. Eligibility for benefits; 5. Disqualifications; 6. Procedural changes; 7. Financing, and 8. Unemployment compensation as an economic stabilizer.

Unlike the other two, labor's 27-page document disagrees on the $3,000 wage base. The report says that the wage base "should include total wages. It should not be restricted by an arbitrary cut-off point. Presently, with a $3,000 wage base we are taxing only about 56 per cent of the total payroll of the state."

That's basically the story.

In January, these three proposals will be tossed into the air and Leach, of course, hopes that one will fall into receptive hands. Letting them all fall to the floor could be dangerous.

(Next week: Administrator Leach will discuss an evaluation of the bureau's problems and how they'll be affected by the proposals. Also, the consequences if none of the proposals are accepted.)

Sign Wreckers Active

To The Editor:

The Chinese say, "one picture is worth 10,000 words," and that has been demonstrated by the defaced stop sign at Graham-rd and St. Rt. 256. The day after the picture appeared in your paper a new sign was put up.

I saw someone taking the picture and thought it was the Highway department. The night it was defaced was a wild night for some kids. I was too ill to call police so the culprits will go unpunished.

We have tried to keep a "No Trespassing" sign on the Livingston-av side down by the creek. A wooden post was put in and an iron one driven down in front of it. They finally succeeded in twisting off the iron post at the ground and sign was thrown in the bushes.

They or someone also tried to break off the "For Sale" sign on a lawn.

Thanks and keep up the good work.

I intended to write Patty Hartley after her letter was published but I have put it off. I liked Mr. Paines letter too . . .

We need more people like her to lead us out of all our foolish spending. I don't think I will ever vote for another relief or school bond until they take the winos off relief and cut out the extravagance in education. Palaces are not necessary for learning. Good teaching is much more important.

Please continue to give us more information and prodding to do our best in government.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

With the outdoor season going full tilt, it's probably a good time to pass on some tips that will increase your summer fun. These have been sent to me, and perhaps are not entirely new. But they are good enough to receive wider circulation.

To start a fire quickly try using "logs" made from cardboard milk containers. At your leisure stuff the cartons full of dry twigs. Then fold over the top and staple. This will keep the twigs dry under most any circumstance. When it comes time for a fire, light the cardboard container—you will have flames in a jiffy.

Having trouble storing your small outboard motor when you return from a fishing jaunt? Salvage an old straight chair from the attic or trash can, knock out the seat and presto! an outboard stand. The lower unit goes through the seat and the motor clamps on the chair back.

If you are camping in a trailer and run into a cold snap of weather, you can improvise a heater from your cooking stove. Turn a clay flower pot upside down over one of the burners, and it will radiate heat like it was made for the job. Be sure to allow ventilation into the trailer, and do not use this as a heater for long periods of time, for carbon monoxide is a danger. Do not even think about going to sleep with the improvised heater going.

Old Credit Card Useful

A good identification tag for your dog's collar can be made from an old gasoline company credit card. Usually these are tough plastic but can be cut with shears and stapled onto the collar. Many companies send out new cards each year, but you can start paying cash for gas if yours does not.

The modern age of plastics also offers a convenient and inexpensive live box for keeping fish until you are ready to use them. Take two laundry baskets and lash the open ends together with a cord. Then cut a door into one that can also be lashed closed with some string. Tie a rope on the box and you are ready to start putting fish in it. Keep the box submerged at a boat dock or along shore.

If you have an old flashlight in which the batteries have corroded, do not try to pound them out. Just pour in a solution of baking soda and water, and wait for them to loosen.

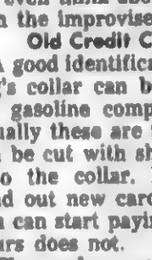
A new cure for a gun-shy pup is to get a supply of paper bags and place some of the pup's food in each. Then each day blow up a bag and burst it in the dog's presence. He will associate the "bang" with his food, and soon forget all about it.

Do fish seem to slip away from you while you're scaling them? Buy an inexpensive clip board and let it do the holding for you.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Homegrown Berries Here; Fruits Increase

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS



THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

FRUITS — Strawberries, fresh pineapples, frozen orange juice.

VEGETABLES — Greenhouse tomatoes, new potatoes, cabbage, lettuce.

If you're looking for a "show-off" dessert for Dad on this coming Sunday, homegrown strawberries and/or one of the summer fruits new appearing in markets should fill the bill.

Mrs. Franks

Strawberry volume is at a peak and prices probably at the low point of the season. Locally grown berries are at their best. Rains and cooler temperatures last week improved the local crop — the berries are sweet and the size running larger than expected earlier.

Also, Michigan strawberries came along earlier than usual this year and volume shipments from there are in our markets now. California berries are still available as are those from nearby states.

Summer fruit favorites are making their appearance rapidly. Early peaches are coming from Georgia and their quality is reported to be good, but small in size. South Carolina peach harvest will begin shortly.

June is peak month for sweet cherries and apricots. Harvest of new crop table grapes has started; nectarines and plums are arriving. Western cantaloupe got a late start — one of the latest in years — but you'll notice an increase in supply this week. More and bigger watermelons will come soon. Fresh pineapples make inexpensive desserts and salads, perfect for June eating.

Vegetable Supplies Are Increasing

Vegetable crops benefited from the rains received last week. Cabbage harvest is well under way in southern Ohio, resulting in lower prices than you've seen on cabbage for some time. Spinach, radishes, lettuce and red beets are coming from nearby farms, and the last of the local asparagus will be cut within the next few days.

Greenhouse tomatoes remain in peak supply, head lettuce is better and cheaper, Florida sweet corn is inexpensive, southern shipments of cucumbers have increased.

Beef prices, in general, are expected to be lower for the remainder of June than in April and May, because of the competition of broilers during their peak of production and the seasonal decline of roasts during the summer months. Expect the long-cooking cuts - chuck, rump roasts and cuts from the round - to be the low-priced "specials."

Pork supplies are dropping seasonally, after holding up well through May. Look for the greater price increase to be on loin cuts, spareribs and bacon and less change on Boston butts and smoked items.

JESTER-GUTHRIE RITE IS READ JUNE 9 AT FIRST COMMUNITY CHURCH

Miss Judith Ann Jester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Jester, 94 S. Westgate-av, became the bride of Mr. Stephen Titus Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Guthrie, 2214 Johnston-rd, on June 9.

The 7:30 p.m. service was read at First Community Church by Dr. Otis Maxfield.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon taffeta and Alencon lace designed along princess lines, with empire bodice of Alencon lace and crystals and tiny seed pearls trimming the scalloped neckline and brief sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt terminated in a chapel train.

DAD'S FEET!

Comes Father's Day next Sunday and the poor old, long suffering "head of the family" will be presented with the usual purple neckties, gadgets he never uses and so forth.

Let me tell you how you can really do something big for him. If he is like most of the run of the mill dads, he comes home from work with a tired, sore pair of feet. How about doing something for his "barking dogs?" Get him a pair of feather - light, foot - soothing HUSH PUPPIES.

They're the wonderful, washable pig-skin shoes that feel like house slippers and yet support and wear like heavy shoes. They are cool and comfortable and just the thing for patio wear, vacations and just resting feet.

P.S. They make a golf shoe that takes your score way down.

Kenley's 'Carousel' Scores A Strong Hit

The Kenley Players' opening night production of "Carousel" on Tuesday at Veterans Memorial was unquestionably a hit. It blended the romantic story of Ferenc Molnar, the beautiful musical score by Rogers and Hammerstein, with a talented Kenley cast, a colorfully costumed chorus, and an imaginative set.

The play takes place in a little fishing village on the coast of Maine where the dashing, tough-talking circus barker, Billy Barlow, falls in love and marries a young factory girl, Julie Jordan. Their marriage is as rocky as the New England coast. The climax comes when Billy is accidentally killed amidst the gaiety of the June clambake celebration, after he has been involved in a robbery. He returns to earth 15 years later to give fatherly advice to his little girl, going back satisfied that he has helped his daughter.

BEVERLY

John Raitt is a handsome Billy, played with just the right amount of swashbuckling romanticism. He is ably supported by Carolyn Mac, a sweet-voiced Julie. Outstanding support is given by Doris Yarrick, the sprightly coy Carrie in love with Mr. Snow.

But the success of the show is in the music, which ranges from the sentimental "If I Loved You" to the loud and lusty chorus' "A Real Nice Clambake." The cast proved it could handle the variety with equal ease.

John Raitt sings as well as he looks. His "Soliloquy-Billy" brought a round of enthusiastic applause from the audience. Carrie's duet with Mr. Snow, "When the Children Are Asleep," was catchy and warm. And then, of course, there were the favorites from the score, "You'll Never Walk Alone," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," and the title tune, "Carousel" — all done with vitality and finesse.

Aside from the usual opening night rough spots, "Carousel" was a smooth and lively performance. There was never a lag in the show from the moment the carousel started to turn in the first act to the dramatic final scene.

The quality of the "Carousel" performance is undoubtedly a preface to another outstanding Kenley season. The audience's enthusiastic response left no question that they approved.

Clubs, Classes, Civic Groups — Sign Now For Lake Cruise!

A "treasure trip." That describes the upcoming one-day pleasure cruise on Lake Erie aboard the fabulous S.S. Aquarama, arranged for Central Ohioans by Hartley Newspapers.

Sunday, July 22 is a day you'll always remember — especially if you've never before enjoyed the luxury of ship of ocean-going size.

There is still time to send in your reservation for this second annual excursion which will leave the Cleveland dock at 9:30 a.m., go to Detroit and return to Cleveland, all in a carefree, event-filled 12 hours.

Hartley Newspapers has arranged for chartered buses which will leave Great Western Shopping Center at 4 a.m. and arrive dockside by 9 a.m. (There is an hour's time change between cities.) We will return to Columbus soon after midnight.

Why not plan a thrill-filled outing for your organization —be it a bridge club, or Sunday School class. Incidentally, there will be Protestant and Catholic worship services right aboard ship that morning.) Aquarama cruises have been enjoyed by womens clubs, teachers' groups, Masonic groups, bank and insurance employes, civic associations, square dancing clubs, and sales groups. The Chrysler Corporation held its 1962 product press preview on the ship.

Everyone from "senior citizens" down to youngsters of kindergarten age will enjoy this cruise. Last year two special cruises were conducted for Michigan's senior citizens. For the kiddies, there's a glass-enclosed playroom under constant supervision of trained persons. (There are no nursery facilities, however.)

Passengers are able to use five decks of the nine-story high vessel. Facilities include six locations for food and snacks, a library, indoor lounges, two cocktail lounges, checkroom service, an elevator and escalator, spacious ballroom and many, many sundecks.

The day can be spent in restful uncrowded relaxation or if you wish there are numerous informal deck games and contests, puppet shows and TV.

In the evening a variety show carefully planned entertainment will please the whole family.

The S.S. Aquarama is the largest passenger steamer on the Great Lakes. It has earned top national awards for safety and efficient management.

Cost of the entire trip by bus and ship (excluding meals) is $18.50 for each adult, and $12.50 for children 5 through 11. Persons who wish to drive their own cars to Cleveland may order their tickets through this newspaper at $11 (adults) and $6.50 (children). These prices include a small service charge.

Sound interesting? Plan now to enjoy this fine one-day vacation. Clip the accompanying coupon and mail it with payment (check or money order) to CRUISE, Hartley Newspapers, 3465 W. Broad St., Columbus 4, Ohio. Reservations and descriptive brochures also can be obtained at the front counter of the newspaper office.

Builder Seeks Extension Of City Bus

I. R. Snyder of Jewel Builders, developers of the 76-apartment Gettysburg Court in Lincoln Village; has approached County Commissioner Henry L. Koontz concerning the possibility of extending City Transit Co. service farther west on Broad-st.

Snyder reported his firm is planning to double the size of the Gettysburg Court, and feels that with the expansion of industry, Lincoln Village, Lincoln Village South and New Home, more service should be made available on the W. Broad-st route.

Commissioner Koontz indicated he favors extension of the CTC lines, and after discussing the matter with Snyder will approach the necessary city and transit officials.

The area is now regularly served by a privately owned shuttle bus system. A second fare and transfer of buses is necessary to go from any point east of Demorest-rd to any point west of he same sreet.

always hopeful and brave. She planned, always, our life together. She had made many new clothes, and was beginning to study the Persian language."

But quietly, to her stepmother, Nancy spoke about the possibilities of the operation's failure. It was at her own request that she was buried in her wedding suit last Friday, following funeral services at Holy Family Church.

"I had thought, before arriving in this country," Capt. Jehangiri said, "that Americans were insensitive people unsympathetic. How wrong I was.

"I will tell everyone at home how wrong this is. Everyone here has been warm and wonderful — Nancy's family and friends, and the doctors.

"And I so deeply appreciate the honor paid to Nancy and to me by the Columbus Police Department. Six men from the honor guard were pallbearers, and two motorcycle policemen were funeral escorts.

"How understanding of the department — for this is exactly the same honor I, as a police official, would have received in Teheran. This has made me feel most at home.

"To the police department and to Policewoman Jeanne Bray, I will always be grateful."

In addition to her husband, father and stepmother, Nancy is survived by a sister, Mrs. Roger Schirtzinger of Grove City.

In all ways of life, keep him swinging in the proper

STRIKE ZONE

PLAY BALL... is a familiar cry in the spring and summer. This is a time that parents and coaches, alike, encourage the boy not to swing unless the ball is in the strike zone ... for in the early years of playing the game, the tendency is to swing at every pitch. This holds true in all of life, so it is up to wiser and older heads to train and encourage him in the better things. Bringing up a child is a serious matter and all can use help. Let the church help you to teach him the right ways.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The delegation, which also included five boys from West Jefferson, will plunge into political affairs at the American Legion-operated school in practical self-government Thursday night, then created their mythical "51st state" and run it until the program ends Saturday, June 23.

Two Scout Events Affecting 9 Counties Set At Camp Lazarus

Camp Lazarus, near Delaware, on Saturday, June 16, will be the scene of two important meetings that concern Boy Scouting in Central Ohio.

The first is the Central Ohio Council Annual Recognition Dinner and Meeting to pay tribute and honor to leaders of boys who have rendered outstanding service in Scouting over a period of years.

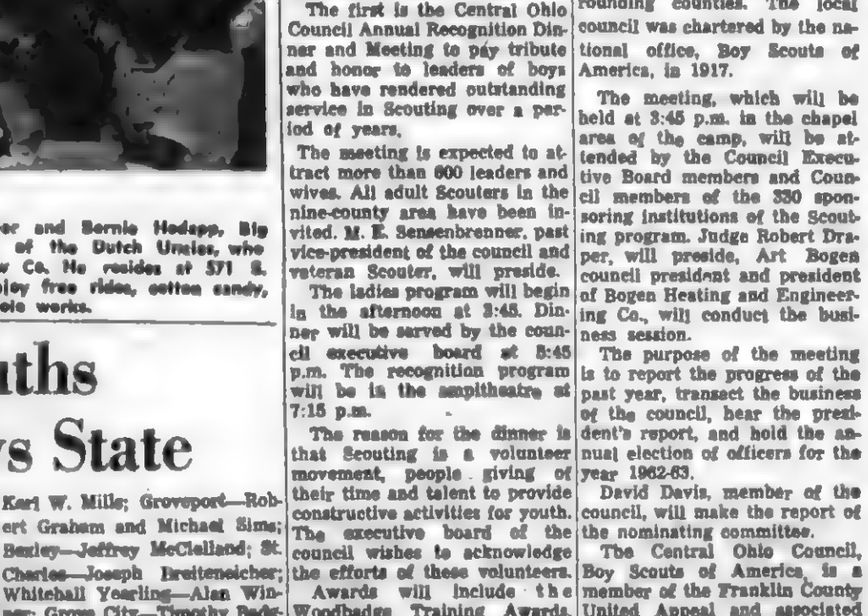
The meeting is expected to attract more than 600 leaders and wives. All adult Scouters in the nine-county area have been invited. M. E. Sensenbrenner, past vice-president of the council and veteran Scouter, will preside.

The ladies program will begin in the afternoon at 3:45. Dinner will be served by the council executive board at 5:45 p.m. The recognition program will be in the amphitheatre at 7:15 p.m.

The reason for the dinner is that Scouting is a volunteer movement, people giving of their time and talent to provide constructive activities for youth. The executive board of the council wishes to acknowledge the efforts of these volunteers.

Awards will include the Woodbadge Training Awards, Veterans awards over 25 years, and finally the awarding of the Silver Beaver which is the highest recognition a local council can bestow on outstanding volunteers.

The second event that affects Central Ohio Scouting is the 45th annual meeting of the Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America. The council covers Franklin and the eight surrounding counties. The local council was chartered by the national office, Boy Scouts of America, in 1917.



The meeting, which will be held at 3:45 p.m. in the chapel area of the camp, will be attended by the Council Executive Board members and Council members of the 330 sponsoring institutions of the Scouting program. Judge Robert Draper, will preside, Art Bogen council president and president of Bogen Heating and Engineering Co., will conduct the business session.

The purpose of the meeting is to report the progress of the past year, transact the business of the council, hear the president's report, and hold the annual election of officers for the year 1962-63.

David Davis, member of the council, will make the report of the nominating committee.

The Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a member of the Franklin County United Appeal and associated community funds throughout the nine-county council area.

Hayfever Sufferers: First-Ever Effort Being Made To Rid City Of Ragweed Discomfort

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If things go as planned, two years from now 50,000 Columbus residents will be able to breath freely during the summer months.

For the first time ever, an effort is being made to eliminate the coughing, sneezing, eye-watering and hard-breathing of local folks during the summer months . . . the months of hayfever.

Wright Erion, assistant smoke regulation engineer, revealed to Hartley Newspapers Friday that moves are being coordinated to rid the city of ragweed.

If carried out as planned, Columbus will be the first city to make an extensive effort in such a project and virtually eliminate ragweed, cause of hayfever which is listed in medical journals as the No. 3 chronic disease in this country.

"Much of the work has to be done this month," said Wright. "The weeds have to be killed during June to keep the pods from bursting in August."

Wright and his staff of nine have several tentative plans for their project. For one thing, they'd like to interest all area Boy Scouts groups to take on the work of pulling the weeds from all vacant lots, home gardens and other areas.

Secondly, they'd like the City Council to appropriate money to buy a special spray which could blanket this city and kill the weeds before many more land in the hospital from the suffering.

And, thirdly, Wright is issuing a plea to all residents to destroy the weeds (see pictures) in their own yards.

The city has an ordinance against letting weeds grow in vacant lots or around homes. If a resident lives next door to a vacant lot where ragweed is growing, it's suggested that he call the city and they'll mow them down.

"It's going to take a lot of cooperation," said Wright, "but it'll be worth it to those one out of ten persons in this city who suffer the discomforts of hayfever."

Wright explained that Columbus has a higher ragweed count than most other cities in this area. He says that ragweed "follows the cornbelt" and Columbus is right in the center of it. The belt extends from north central Ohio to Kentucky.

One big headache in the program is the acres of unmowed weeds on the Columbus State Hospital grounds on W. Broad-st. This is state-owned land and will have to be mowed by the state. "There's a terrific amount of ragweed on that land," Wright commented.

Just so you'll know, one acre of ragweed will put out 16 tons of pollen. It only takes approximately 200 grains of pollen per cubic yard before the first symptoms of allergy (hayfever) appear. This 200 grains is a microscopic pile of the pollen and you can imagine what 16 tons will do—and that's for only one acre.

The smoke regulation department figures that it can have the problem pretty well licked within two years since ragweed is a biennial plant. But, it's going to take a lot of work.

"We figure there are about 50,000 Columbus residents who really suffer from it," said Wright, "but this doesn't include those in what we call the 'fringe area' who suffer from it but don't know it—they usually think it's just a cold."

Wright reported that there's a lot of interest in destroying the ragweeds in this city. He's gotten several calls on the problem himself.

So, it's a "Get Out And Fight The Ragweed Now" Campaign and Wright feels this way about it:

"It'll make one fourth of the population here enjoy Columbus much better. Somebody's going to get a lot of real good out of this project."

JUST SO YOU'LL know ragweed when you see it, here's what to look for. The one on the left is long ragweed and the one on the right is the short species. The short one has many lacy leaves and is rather attractive. Some local residents let it grow in their gardens because of its beauty. The large ragweed has heavy leaves and is usually pulled by home gardeners since it's ugly.

WRIGHT ERION (left), assistant smoke regulation engineer for Columbus, checks over some ragweed samples with chemist Pat McKibben in the lab of the Public Health building, W. Town-st and S. Washington-blvd. They are teaming up, along with their staff, to rid this city of the foliage which causes much discomfort to local residents this time of year.

No Merit In Keeping The Merchandise On Shelf

A very long delayed survey of city water rates and the general problem confronting the city water department is providing much newspaper copy but at this stage the public is merely confused.

Certain recommendations have been made by the outside consultants and it will be interesting to see if this is just another survey or if the city will actually come up with something in the way of a good business tool to provide the best break possible for city water consumers.

One thing is certain. Columbus appears to be in a much improved position, that of having an available water supply.

But this can likened to the merchant who displays his merchandise on the shelves but refuses to sell it.

There is a great demand for water in this area. It would seem that with the use of rare analysis it would now be possible to come up with a formula that will bring the buyer and the seller together.

Father's Day Reflections

Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, "Thank God for being a father!"?

It's good for a man to know that his offspring remember and respect. And I'm kinda glad I'm old fashioned enough to like this sort of thing.

Fathers day is a time for reflection . . . first on what kind of a dad you have been and then what kind of a job the kids are doing.

One thing is sure, and I'm more firmly convinced of this every day . . . Most youngsters, when given the proper training, will come through in every way they should when they become adults. Not too much is left to chance, and

Westgate Center Bids Studied

City Recreation Commission was expected to meet at noon today with architects to discuss the merits of bids for construction of a new recreation center at Westgate Park. The bids were opened Tuesday.

N. J. Barack, recreation superintendent, said the differences in site improvement estimates are considerable in the lowest two bids and probably will be a factor in the final selection.

The Knowlton Co. bid $238,500 on the basic construction and $30,200 for site improvement. Sheaf Construction Co. bid $239,900, construction, and $19,300, site improvement.

Theatre Lot To Make Way For Parking

City Traffic Commission has reviewed plans for removal of the Westmont Theatre to make way for a parking lot, and for construction of a similar lot to serve a proposed 14-unit office-apartment building at the southwest corner of Broad-st and Harris-av.

Meeting June 12, the commission approved one driveway cut with the understanding that the proper physical barriers be put in to prevent vehicles from rolling onto the street. The project is a joint venture of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association and another property owner.

The commission okayed an alley exit and a W. Broad-st entrance for the apartment lot on the opposite corner.

The appeals touched off a discussion on the interpretation of "set-back" rules for parking. Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher was asked to present to City Council information that would help govern the use of wheel stops, barricades, etc.

Florida Fling Still Available To Northern Buyers

A "Florida Fling" for northern motorists visiting General Development Corporation communities this summer will be added to the "Southward Ho" bus trip program that resulted in the sale of close to 1,000 homes during 1961.

"Florida Fling" is a five-day tour for couples driving their own cars—including two days at Miami Beach — with General assuming the cost of all accommodations and meals.

Three days and three nights will be spent at the company's expense at a General Development community of the couple's own choice, such as Port Charlotte, Port Malabar or Port St. Lucie.

On the fourth and fifth days the motoring couple will be guests of the company at Miami Beach's Deauville Hotel, on the Atlantic Ocean at 67th-st. Accommodations at the Deauville include room and meals, and a night out at the hotel's Casanova Supper Club.

General's "Southward Ho" program was initiated nearly two years ago to give interested northerners an all-expense paid trip to see Port Charlotte and Port St. Lucie. Chartered buses from such population centers as New York, Ohio, Michigan and other states took the visitors to Florida. The trips were later extended to include plane or train transportation. Approximately 70 per cent of those who came to see decided to buy a home and become permanent Florida residents.

HELICOPTER POPULAR WITH TEENERS

ORIGINALLY DESIGNED as a kiddie ride, the helicopter of the Gooding Amusement Co. is proving equally popular with teenagers at the annual Hilltop Kiwanis Carnival being held this week through Friday at Powell-av and W. Discount ride tickets which have been distributed to many Hilltop merchants permit children under 12 to a ride for a dime.

Grocer's Slayer Reprieved

The stay of execution for the 28-year-old Reinbolt was granted at the request of the Pardon and Parole Commission, to allow more time to study the case.

Convicted for the robbery-slaying of Edger L. Weaver in Weaver's grocery store at 1783 N. Hague-av on Aug. 28, 1961, Reinbolt was scheduled to go to the electric chair in the Ohio State Penitentiary last Friday night.

An appeal has been filed in his behalf wih the Ohio Supreme Court after the 10th District Court of Appeals upheld the verdict pronounced against him by the County Criminal Court jury.

Court-appointed attorney for Reinbolt, Milton Farber, requested the court to allow him to withdraw from the case for personal reasons.

Local Leaders At Meet

At the annual Central Ohio Council meeting at Camp Lazarus, Saturday, June 16, Hilltoppers and others in the Rural-Urban News area were prominent among those honored at the Recognition Service or who presided. Hilltopper Jack Sensenbrenner was chairman of the dinner committee and master of ceremonies at the meeting in the camp amphitheater. He introduced, among others, Judge Robert Draper, Hilltopper and Judge of the Franklin County Common Pleas Court, who in turn introduced some of the honored Scouters. Dr. C. O. Miller, Hilltop optometrist, received his 20-year award at the ceremonies.

Judge Draper presided over the afternoon council meeting. Appointments for 1962-1963 included localites Vernon Sanford, council commissioner; James Matheny and M. E. Sensenbrenner, executive board members; Judge Robert Draper and Jerry Spears Jr., council members-at-large, and associate member, John Galbreath.

Of course, the big event of the 1961-1962 year was the success of the first capital campaign staged in the Central Ohio Council in 25 years, which achieved 113 per cent of its goal of $750,000, a total of cash and pledges of $867,600 "for camps for our boys for many years to come," as stated in the campaign committee report.

Scouts Are Honor Guard

Boy Scouts of Troop 250, St. Agnes Church, participated in the flag-raising ceremony at the opening of West Mound Street School Playground on Wednesday, June 13.

At a Troop 79 committee meeting, Monday, June 11, at Burgess Avenue United Brethren Church, Charles Fickheisen was elected troop committee chairman. Mearl V. Weaver was elected to head the program committee.

Camping will be a prime program objective in the next year and a camping committee was selected. Members are: Harold Koontz, scoutmaster, Al Stevens and Robert Schmidt. Starting in August, the troop will go camping the first weekend of every month.

BUC Moves Claims Office

Local claimants for Unemployment Compensation Benefits will have a new location for reporting beginning Monday, June 25th, according to Ralph E. Gabele, Columbus Area Manager. The new claims office will be located at 550 W. Broad-st.

This is one of the moves in separating activities of the Ohio State Employment Service and the Unemployment Compensation Division within the framework of the BUC for improved service to job applicants, claimants and employers. Beginning June 25 all persons who file new claims or report on continued claims for benefits will use the new W. Broad-st office. Claims will no longer be handled at the Cleveland-av office.

A Hartley Headliner Report

Just How Far Away Is BUC Federalization...?

By John Auble, Jr.

If help doesn't come soon to rebuild the trust fund at the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in Ohio, chances are good that the bureau itself will be standing in the unemployment lines — on Capitol Hill.

It's not that funny.

Bureau Administrator Donald Leach isn't laughing. He calls the idea of borrowing from Federal funds to bolster Ohio unemployment money a "horrible prospect."

But, that's what seems to be in the crystal ball if legislators in January don't see fit to raise the tax rate of the businessman to compensate for the large checks being paid out to the unemployed.

The fund is being depleted rapidly. About $133,000,000 remains. A recession next year could cause the Bureau to go broke.

Let's get hypothetical for a munite. There's no denying that Unemployment Compensation checks are a necessity. If the Bureau goes broke the checks just can't stop. Can you imagine what would happen if unemployment checks were shut off — maybe you'd rather not imagine such a thing.

What else would there be to do in a case like this? A case that isn't too far in the future unless some changes are made.

The most feasible alternative is to borrow from the Federal government.

If you're among the majority of people who have adopted a "let George do it" attitude, the prospect of turning Ohio's unemployment fund over to the Federal government doesn't sound like a bad idea.

For one thing, it would mean the end of the Merit Rating system in Ohio.

The merit rating goes something like this: If a small amount of benefits is being paid to claimants, the charges to the employer are small in relation to contributions paid into the fund and other things being equal, the tax rate is low.

If the amount paid to the claimant is a large one, then the employer's tax rate is high.

Under the Federal government, the feeling is that a flat rate would be charged to all employers —big or little.

So, if the merit rating ends, employers will cease to have a direct interest in the program. They'll stop policing it, so to speak, to watch for "chiselers." Folks not entitled to draw will be doing so and the employer won't care because he's charged a flat rate anyway.

Another disadvantage is Federal bureaucracy. Unresponsiveness from the people and the usual arguments that cluster around this type of move may follow since states' rights are involved, too.

It might be pointed out that what we're talking about is what will happen in case of "federalization" which is not to be confused, entirely, with borrowing federal funds for a period of time.

But, borrowing federal funds is the cause and federalization is the effect that follows closely behind.

Many other states have sagging funds, too, and Leach feels that if five, six or seven states have to borrow all at once, the government will just decide to take over. Congress can't appropriate large sums of loan money forever.

And, there's a bill pending before Congress now to raise the tax base (the amount on which the employers' tax rate is based) from $3000 to $4800.

The question seems to be just how competent is Ohio? Is it going to be able to rally around and rebuild the Bureau funds? A lot will depend on the support given by Ohio's legislators and its governor, Michael V. DiSalle.

The shoulders of the businessmen in this state will have to be broadened, too.

BUC STORY --3

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third and final story of a three-part series explaining the problems, possible solutions and logical evaluations now facing the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The series is being run to better acquaint local businessmen, employers and taxpayers in general with unemployment compensation and its dangerously low fund.

Stunned By Theft

To The Editor:

I thought I would write you a letter to tell you of the nice article and picture of the American flag you displayed in last week's paper.

I hope you will publish this act of theft as well as disrespect of our American flag which took place June 14, on our street.

My 15-year-old son was asked to hang up the flag on the front porch on Flag Day and his dad very carefully drew a diagram showing how it should be hung correctly. He hung the flag at 10:30 a.m. across the front porch of our home. Going out about an hour later we found it was missing — someone had stolen it.

The question is, how can people do such a low thing? Certainly not a person who is worthy of living in our country, the United States. This took place at 204 Avondale-av. I hope the one who stole this flag reads the West Side News, and feels guilty.

ONE WOMAN'S Opinion . . .

It's Up To Us To Call The Entertainment Card

Movies, television, books — they all have taken on a "new look", and this new look isn't what I was brought up to call entertaining or acceptable.

I sometimes wonder what distinction the postal authorities make between obscene literature and the theatre pages of the daily newspapers. Some of the movie ads carry drawings of nudes, and the "Adults Only!" warnings leer from many of the ads. Most parents agree that there's no surer way of getting a child to do something than to tell him not to do it. These warnings only whet his appetite.

Patty Hartley

Many times I believe the newspapers are to blame for their "sensational" advertising. Most pictures probably aren't as bad as they're billed. A typical ad for the motion picture "Ashamed" carried the following caption: "You'll thrill to this tale of love and laughter, filmed in an actual nudist camp, where modern druids, hidden from prying eyes are living in a fantastic world of their own — children of the sun — NUDISTS!"

Another movie advertised "The story of a man who raised a girl as a daughter . . . and loved her as a woman." This is repulsive. It's bad enough that there are actual examples of this in our society; but for someone to exploit and capitalize on this sort of scum and degradation seems positively reviling.

Recently "State Fair" was re-made and is enjoying a popular run. I didn't see the original movie, but have been told by some who did that the new version has lost the charm and freshness of the original. Sexy dance numbers and seductive clothes are two of the changes. Pat Boone, the new film's hero, plays two of the most suggestive love scenes I've ever witnessed in the movies. He's the teen-age idol who used to claim his religion was so strong that he would never even kiss a girl on the screen!

The world is on edge today over the tense political situations and the possibility of nuclear war, yet people pay money to go relax and watch "The Day The Earth Caught Fire" or another thriller captioned: "Shocking! It plunges you into a new dimension of fear!"

In a recent week only eight out of 33 films showing in the city were recommended by the Interfaith Committee for Better Entertainment in Columbus. Columbus also has a motion picture review board. They can make recommendations about movies and through a difficult process can take a movie to court on an obscenity charge, but their power is practically nil.

Television is beginning to lean toward sensationalizing. An evening's fare amounts to more than twice as many cowboys and who-dunits than family musical-comedy programs.

Television can be a great asset to man, as has been proven in allowing the world to witness first-hand many news making events. It's a great advertising, educational and entertainment medium; but, because of its potential, it could also become a great corruptor.

The bookstand has received much criticism in recent months, and I don't believe it's all unjust. Any child any age can buy a 35-cent book that will give him ideas that would put him behind bars for 35 years.

Because of a special interest I have in Hawaii, I recently bought the book "Diamond Head." According to the publicity and the book cover it was a novel similar to "Hawaii", delving into the history and development of our 50th state. Well, the amount of background material covered would have fit into 10 pages! It's almost unbelievable to think that so many suicides, illegitimate babies, extra-marital affairs and so much human decay could be woven together in a few hundred pages to form an "entertaining" novel.

In my contemporary American Literature course in college I was taught that books like "Street Scene," "Tobacco Road," and "The Children's Hour" were written for the benefit of humanity. They did stir me and made me think, but most people don't read these under the direction of a college professor and they miss the points being made because there's just enough filth in the book to bury the meaning.

This kind of reading matter isn't necessarily what the public wants. Look at the booming business libraries and religious bookstores are doing. They don't need to sell trash to fill the till.

Radio has come the closest to putting itself back in the bracket of real entertainment. You can actually turn to a few stations these days and get "music to listen to." I believe that this was accomplished by pure example. One station tried it, proved to the others it wouldn't go out of business by this method, and drew such a response of delight from their listeners that other stations had to follow suit.

I'm not an advocate of censorship; I believe people should be free to choose as they would. But it's my opinion that people worthy of a free country must set a precedent for their children and the rest of the world. We should be attempting to better ourselves in our work and our relaxation, never letting ourselves slip to the point that we're connoisseurs of trash. — PATTY HARTLEY.

Freshwater Fishermen Go To Florida; Find Hungry, Battling Critters In Gulf

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

NAPLES, Fla. — The successful part of my day of shark fishing really began when Bob Plecity, Naples, caught a large trout or weakfish on a shrimp he was using for bait. Eventually, this fish became shark bait on which Ron Carlson, Darbycrest, hooked and landed a nurse shark estimated to weigh 350 pounds.

The day began with a bang. Plecity, a friend of Carlson's, had volunteered to take us shark fishing for a couple of hours. We anchored about a half mile off the white sand beaches for which Naples is noted. People were visible swimming, unaware that we were after sharks out in the deep water.

Within 20 minutes I had a hit on the jack cravalle I was using for bait. Being unfamiliar with sharks, a relationship that I intend to keep, Plecity set the hook and handed the rod back to me. I sat down in a folding deck chair, not one of those fancy big-game fighting chairs. The tussle was on! The shark could take line whenever it wanted to, but during brief lulls I could gain it all back.

Then, all at once, the line went slack. I reeled in and found that the hook had pulled out. It was my turn to plead the lament of all fishermen, "The big one got away."

Our shark bait was gone, so we went to work with fresh-water spinning gear to get some more. This is what I've been using down here all week on snook, channel bass, red snappers, jack cravalle and the like, except for this one bout with a shark. Next week I'll try for tarpon at Sarasota and will use heavier tackle.

Plecity was the first to connect, and hauled in the big flopping trout mentioned earlier. Since these are prize eating fish, we forgot about shark bait for a while and tried to catch some more. But no luck. We moved to an artificial reef and caught a couple of ocean perch, too little to keep or use for bait. So the trout had to go, and over he went. We continued to take some pan fish on shrimp until Carlson got his strike. Then we reeled in the light tackle pronto.

This shark was hooked good and Ron had a throbbing battle on his hands to bring it to the boat. Looking down in the clear, green Gulf water, I was in for a shock when I saw the size of the critter. Frankly, to a freshwater fisherman, this looked too big to handle with anything short of a torpedo.

Following the shark was a slender fish at least four feet long slashing through the water looking for scraps of food. The fish mistook the shark's thrashings for a feeding spree. I flipped him a morsel in the form of a shrimp on a hook and he grabbed it. This fish immediately had my bass tackle singing, and I didn't even know what I was attached to. It went around and around the boat for about a 15-minute battle, before he chewed my wire leader in two. We later compared notes with each other and guessed it to be a cobia. How this fish and the shark, which was still fighting, didn't become tangled in all the excitment is a wonder.

So for the second time my fish had gotten away. But our trip was a huge success, for Ron's trophy was brought to gaff. We lashed it to the side of the boat and towed it back to dock. Our two hours of shark fishing had stretched into seven, but no one complained. This was a day to remember.

Cookie Makers–Patriots To The End!

Now that's what I call patriotism!

The Nestle and Pillsbury people have launched a crash program to solve the crumbling cookie problem.

You remember, don't you, when Astronaut Malcolm Carpenter was hauled out of the drink and shortly after sadly complained that his space cookies had crumbled.

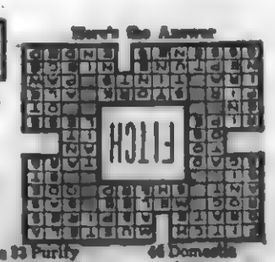
These cookies were baked from secret formulas highly guarded by the Pillsbury and Nestle kitchen forces. They were bite-sized crumpets especially designed to withstand the rigors of space flight.

So it's quite understandable why Malcolm became disturbed when he attempted to stuff them into his mouth and all they did was crumble and float around inside his capsule

It would be extremely difficult even for a space hero to maintain his dignity with cookie crumbs bouncing around his cranium. Perhaps that is why Malcolm seemed preoccupied as he zipped over Australia on his last orbit He wasn't tired, just buster than heck trying to distinguish meteors from crumbs

Crumbs or no crumbs, the Nestle and Pillsbury people have expressed strong doubts that their snacks fell apart. There are rumors the Nestle group has hinted to NASA that perhaps it was only the Pillsbury goodies that crumbled. There also are reports that similar rumors are coming out of the Pillsbury kitchens.

Despite rumors, both companies said they stand ready to pursue research to the hilt. They have lined up their best brains to await the official government report on the dilemma.



What more can we Americans ask of them? Obviously their efforts cannot be for profit. Assuming that all seven astronauts have big appetites, it's not likely they could stow away enough of these special cookies to make them a big-volume item.

And even if the Pillsbury and Nestle firms were to offer the cookies to the Russian cosmonauts as a gesture of goodwill, there would be a little return . . . probably not even gratitude.

I for one appreciate the patriotic efforts of the cookie makers. And next time I go to the grocery, I expect to demonstrate this gratitude by buying several boxes of their animal cookies for my moppets — even if the darn crumbs do litter up our carpets.

HOT FEET?

"My feet feel like they are on fire!" And with that our customer kicked her shoes off and wiggled her toes. When you felt inside her old shoes they actually steamed.

Summer is certainly the time of foot troubles. Hot weather makes feet swell, perspire and burn. Avoid some of this by observing the following rules.

Change shoes and stockings frequently. Wear open or perforated shoes and get them larger in the Summer. Take frequent foot baths and rub a soothing cream or balm into the skin, followed by plenty of foot powder in the shoes and on the feet. Don't try to break new shoes in by wearing them all day. Skin is sensitive and easily blistered by creases or even wrinkles in socks. Avoid fungus infections by keeping feet dry as possible and by using leather shoes.

Wilson Scores Unearned Run In All Three Games

While Jackie Nicklaus was thrilling the golf world with his National Open win over Arnold Palmer, and the Cleveland Indians were taking two from my Yankees, four hometown boys played their hearts out for a meager 400 high school baseball fans at Jet Stadium.

Steve Wilson of Franklin Heights, Richard Hill of Grove City, Doug Van Horn of Eastmoor, and Dick Gray of Linden McKinley may not have their names etched on the Most Valuable trophies, but the local youngsters were important parts in the baseball machine labeled the West All Star squad.

In the seventh annual meeting of the High School All Star Game, the West swept the three-game series, for their second successful season, and their first sweep. Contrary to publicity, the West squad won two games last year.

STEVE WILSON

Golden Falcon wonder Steve Wilson drew shortstop and lead-off duties in all three games, and although he was zero for 11 times at bat, he managed to score an unearned run in every game.

In the first game Wilson went from first all the way home on passed balls to be the first hitter, first man on base, and first man to score in the first game.

Wilson covered the infield successfully and was given but one error in the series. Wilson, who went into the series undecided about future plans, has accepted an Ohio State University proposal, much to the disappointment of the major league scouts that have been watching him for the past three years.

RICHARD HILL

Richard Hill drew starting catcher chores in the first and third games, collecting two hits during his six trips to the plate, and posted one RBI.

The youth was very steady behind the plate, allowing only two past balls while receiving for three West hurlers. To date Hill is still undecided about the future. The dozen or more scouts from the pros may have something to say along these lines.

DOUGLAS VAN HORN

Eastmoor's stout first baseman showed All Star form at the bag, although unsuccessful in his nine trips to the plate. He did, however, tally one RBI.

Number of assists in the first two games is unknown, but in the final clash Van Horn had four assists and two put-outs, one of which was the final out of the series.

RICHARD GRAY

Dick Gray of Linden McKinley, although not in the Hartley Newspaper area, deserves the space as a local star.

Gray started on the mound for the West team in the final game and pitched five innings, allowed five hits, one run, had one error scored behind him, issued two walks and fanned two.

Gray's strike-out record was the poorest posted by a West pitcher. Gray was relieved in the sixth inning by Curt Heinfeld of Springfield North, his second relief assignment. Heinfeld got the win.

Gray hit to the pitcher and struck out his two times at bat.

BIG BATS

The big bats for the West were Darryl Allen of Cincinnati Hughes, named Most Valuable on the West team, and Chester Trail of Toledo Libbey, a close second for the honor.

Allen had two triples, one with bases loaded, and a home run with two on for five runs on five hits with four RBIs. His batting average was .400 for the series.

Trail had two doubles and a homer with two on that fell at the base of the score board, approximately 400 feet, in center field.

COACH LEWIS

The All Star games are sponsored by the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio High School Baseball Coaches Association.

The chamber boys are good hosts, running constantly to provide the supplies and incidentals that make the day more enjoyable. But it's easy to tell the Jaycees are just a little hurt by the poor attendance.

Several times I heard various committeemen and chairmen remark this might be the last year. I personally urge them to try once more, and next time promote the affair earlier and turn ticket sales over to the Little Leagers or someone with comps as incentives.

This year the Jaycees made free tickets available to the Little Leagers through Big Bear, and I personally did not see a single team of boys, or even a small gathering of tykes.

It's too bad really, because the caliber of baseball is good enough to draw scouts from nearly every major league team, and that's good baseball.

A pat on the back to the Jaycees, who are also handling the Soap Box Derby this summer, and give it another try fellas—please.

Wanna Show Off With Your Driver? Here's Chance . . .

June seems to be the month for marriages, but before this columnist takes the long walk June 23 with Hazel Eyes, here's a sporting note of a different kind of marriage.

Beginning Friday, June 22, Wing 66 of Nightingale Cottage will "join hands" with South Golf Range, 2980 S. High-st, and all the benefits will go for a good cause.

The "ceremony" will be a long one, according to Mrs. Johanna Prestel, general chairman for the Wing's eleventh annual "Beat the Pro" tourney at the southern range.

The contest to match drives with local pros will run until July 1 with action every day from 7 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Probably the best part about the whole thing is the "greens" (like in money) that'll go to local sharpshooters who show particular prowess on the "greens" (like in golf course).

Mrs. Prestel says that the Big Bear Stores will award a hundred bucks to anyone shooting a hole-in-one. If that doesn't sound hard to you, you'll be especially happy to learn that $1000 from the same group will be awarded to the first person to make two holes-in-one . . . or is it holes-in-two . . .? Anyway, it's a "hole" lot of loot.

Here's How It'll Operate . . .

A different pro will make an appearance each night of the contest and will fire five balls to a designated green at the Range.

Then you pay $1 for ten balls and officials will measure your best shot to the hole in relation to the closest slugged by the pro.

(Where else do you get the chance to make such a big impression on your wife or sweetheart for only a dollar?)

The list of pros is an impressive one.

On the first night (June 22), Walker Inman of Scioto Country Club will be firing first, York Temple's Jack Futerer will go June 23, Columbus Country Club's Don Shock tees off June 26.

On June 27, Bridgeview's Dick Ryan starts things off, he'll be followed on June 28 by Jack Radcliff of Stoney Creek. Jack Kidwell of Beacon Lights follows upon June 29, Groveport's Bobby Biscotti hits it June 30 and Bob LaBel of Winding Hollow finishes up on July 1.

The event is open to all golfers in Central Ohio and, judging from past contests, they're going to have standing room only.

Bearcat Meeting Scheduled . . .

A Bearcat football league meeting has been scheduled—the main purposing is just that, scheduling.

Commissioner Edward Walker called the meeting for league officials and coaches for Thursday, June 21, 7:30 p.m. in the Chittenden Hotel.

Teams now holding 1962 franchises in the Bearcat League are Hamilton Tigers, Maryland A.C., South Side Blues, Sullivant Gardens, U.A.W. Tigers, Westgate Bears, West Side Merchants and West Side Pirates.

Several other neighborhood teams are conducting negotiation with this league, I understand, and are expected to announce their decisions within the next 30 days.

Newsies Races Sunday

The 19th annual Charity News motorcycle races will be held Sunday on the Ohio State Fairgrounds track, with the cream of America's expert riders competing.

Motorcycle fans from most Midwest states will flock here this weekend. The Newsies, with Howard F. Foley as races chairman, have built the annual event into the nation's biggest half-mile dirt track attraction. The crowd should be more than [illegible].

Dick Klamfoth, Groveport throttletwister, will ride against such out-of-state champions as Bart Markel, Flint, Mich.; Carroll Resweber, Cedarburg, Wis.; and Dick Mann of El Sobrante, Cal.

Fairgrounds gates will open at 10 a.m., with time trials 30 minutes later. The afternoon racing program will begin at 2 p.m. The featured race will be 10 miles—30 laps of the track.

Boys' Club Babe Ruth Team Off, Running With Three Winners

The West Side Boys' Club Babe Ruth Intermediate Knothole team got off to a good start this year by winning three of its first four games. On Saturday, June 9, they opened the season by besting Pickerington, 9-4.

Pitcher Pete Eyer fanned 14 and threw a four-hitter while Jerry Francis and Dan Thatcher got two hits apiece. Last Monday at Deshler field Dale Bettinger pitched a two-hitter and struck out 15 in a 10-1 victory over I James Club.

Jack Husch and John Morlan supported him with two hits each. Last Tuesday at St. Charles John Morlan pitched a three-hitter for five innings in a 15 to 4 victory. Eyer with a bases loaded triple and a double, Postle, Husch, and Thatcher with two hits each paced the attack.

In the home opener last Saturday at Central High the team dropped its first game by a 6 to 5 count on a two-run homer over the right field fence in the last inning. Mike Shott and Jack Husch banged out three hits each in a losing cause.

This year the boys are playing in the Central Ohio Babe Ruth League and the City Recreation Intermediate Knothole League.

This year's team members are:

Unemployed Office Workers To Receive Special Training

Unemployed clerical job-seekers in Columbus and Franklin County were offered new hope Friday with the approval of an advanced training program for 75 stenographers and 100 typists by the Ohio Worker Training Committee which met in Columbus today.

W. F. Ballard, 1273 Inglis-av, chairman of the Columbus-Franklin County Area Training Committee, reported an immediate need by Franklin County employers for 70 typists and 30 stenographers and by fall 1962 there is a predicted deficit of some 105 stenographers and 160 typists in the normal supply of qualified workers. Many of the present applicants for clerical jobs do not possess the proficiencies in typing and shorthand that are demanded by employers. By establishing advanced courses for qualified trainees these shortages can be met, Ballard pointed out.

Courses in typing will be offered at Central, Whitehall-Yearling and Franklin Heights High Schools. Classes will be held four hours daily, 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday, for a period of nine weeks, commencing July 2. This will be a total of 176 hours and will include operation of basic office machines, business English and clerical details in addition to typing. There is no tuition charge for the course, however, trainees must meet certain specifications in order to be accepted for training.

Typists with recent training or experience will be tested for certain minimum standards of proficiency and accuracy. Tests will also be given to determine abilities for improving skills with training.

Stenographers will undergo an intensive nine-week, 306 hour course which includes both shorthand and typing along with business English, spelling, general clerical assignments and office machine operation. The trainees will go to school seven hours per day, 8-4 or 9-5, Monday through Friday. There also is no charge for the stenography courses which are set for Central High, Franklin Heights and Whitehall-Yearling Schools beginning July 2.

Applicants for the Stenographic course must meet minimum typing requirements and must take shorthand dictation with reasonable speed and accuracy. They must also meet clerical aptitude standards which would determine their abilities to improve. All applicants must indicate ability and willingness to successfully complete the nine-week course, and must possess traits of stability which employers require.

Persons interested in taking either the typist or stenographer training must report in person to the downtown office of the Ohio State Employment Service at 74 E. Gay-st. Applicants should not contact any of the schools mentioned. All would-be trainees are requested to stop in at the OSES office between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, for making application and completing tests. Prompt action is necessary as the final day for applying is Tuesday, June 26.

Judge Orders Controls On Picketing

An effort to cool down some of the agitation at the strike-bound Ideal Dispenser Co., 3201 Alberta-st, was spelled-out Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman.

An injunction against mass picketing had been asked by the firm. Several cases of interference and damage to autos had been reported.

Judge Gessaman decreed that only two pickets each are to be placed at the Sylvan-av and Alberta-st entrances and at the end of Alberta-st. He also ordered a halt to all acts of violence, intimidation of employes and officials, and interference with persons crossing company property.

The vending company officials and Local 968, International Association of Machinists, have been at odds over paid vacation policy at the plant since May 16.

About 300 union members are affected.

THIS SCENE has been repeated more than a million and a half times at the Florentine Restaurant, 907 W. Broad-st. Tony Penzone is approaching the two-million mark on spaghetti orders at the popular Italian restaurant.

Florentine Restaurant Stars Its Own Italian Spaghetti

More than 1,000 orders of homemade Italian spaghetti are often served by Anthony "Tony" Penzone of Florentine Restaurant, 907 W. Broad-st, during his weekly Thursday evening Fiesta special. The price of one order of spagetti entitles the customer to all he can eat.

(It is rumored that a group of airmen from Lockbourne Air Force Base plan to invade the restaurant some 40 strong to see if they can set a record consumption).

Penzone's speciality is Italian spaghetti made with flour and eggs. He has been doing this ever since his discharge from General Patton's 4th Armored Division and the opening of his restaurant in March of 1946. The restaurant has both dining room and cocktail lounge with private rooms available to handle parties.

Along with claiming the largest variety menu of any Columbus restaurant, the Florentine is the oldest pizza maker in the city. Penzone attributes a large part of his success to the fact that 90 per cent of the food is prepared to customers' orders.

The most recent specialty of the house is Danish pastry which is served on Sundays only. After the meal is finished a waiter will bring around a bonus tray filled with a selection of pastry.

Penzone is assisted in the operation of the business by his brother-in-law, Joseph Scuro, who is a partner. The Penzone family resides at 105 Binns-blvd.

Unemployed Office Workers To Receive Special Training

Unemployed clerical job-seekers in Columbus and Franklin County were offered new hope Friday with the approval of an advanced training program for 75 stenographers and 100 typists by the Ohio Worker Training Committee which met in Columbus today

W. F. Ballard, 1273 Inglis-av, chairman of the Columbus-Franklin County Area Training Committee, reported an immediate need by Franklin County employers for 70 typists and 30 stenographers and by fall 1962 there is a predicted deficit of some 105 stenographers and 160 typists in the normal supply of qualified workers. Many of the present applicants for clerical jobs do not possess the proficiencies in typing and shorthand that are demanded by employers. By establishing advanced courses for qualified trainees these shortages can be met, Ballard pointed out.

Courses in typing will be offered at Central, Whitehall-Yearling and Franklin Heights High Schools. Classes will be held four hours daily, 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday, for a period of nine weeks, commencing July 2. This will be a total of 176 hours and will include operation of basic office machines, business English and clerical details in addition to typing. There is no tuition charge for the course, however, trainees must meet certain specifications in order to be accepted for training.

Typists with recent training or experience will be tested for certain minimum standards of proficiency and accuracy. Tests will also be given to determine abilities for improving skills with training.

Stenographers will undergo an intensive nine-week, 306 hour course which includes both shorthand and typing along with business English, spelling, general clerical assignments and office machine operation. The trainees will go to school seven hours per day, 8-4 or 9-5, Monday through Friday. There also is no charge for the stenography courses which are set for Central High, Franklin Heights and Whitehall-Yearling Schools beginning July 2.

Applicants for the Stenographic course must meet minimum typing requirements and must take shorthand dictation with reasonable speed and accuracy. They must also meet clerical aptitude standards which would determine their abilities to improve. All applicants must indicate ability and willingness to successfully complete the nine-week course, and must possess traits of stability which employers require.

Persons interested in taking either the typist or stenographer training must report in person to the downtown office of the Ohio State Employment Service at 74 E. Gay-st. Applicants should not contact any of the schools mentioned. All would-be trainees are requested to stop in at the OSES office between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, for making application and completing tests. Prompt action is necessary as the final day for applying is Tuesday, June 26.

Judge Orders Controls On Picketing

An effort to cool down some of the agitation at the strike-bound Ideal Dispenser Co., 3201 Alberta-st, was spelled-out Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Myron B. Gessaman.

An injunction against mass picketing had been asked by the firm. Several cases of interference and damage to autos had been reported.

Judge Gessaman decreed that only two pickets each are to be placed at the Sylvan-av and Alberta-st entrances and at the end of Alberta-st. He also ordered a halt to all acts of violence, intimidation of employes and officials, and interference with persons crossing company property.

The vending company officials and Local 968, International Association of Machinists, have been at odds over paid vacation policy at the plant since May 16.

About 200 union members are affected.

THIS SCENE has been repeated more than a million and a half times at the Florentine Restaurant, 907 W. Broad-st. Tony Pensone is approaching the two-million mark on spaghetti orders at the popular Italian restaurant.

Florentine Restaurant Stars Its Own Italian Spaghetti

More than 1,000 orders of homemade Italian spaghetti are often served by Anthony "Tony" Pensone of Florentine Restaurant, 907 W. Broad-st, during his weekly Thursday evening Fiesta special. The price of one order of spagetti entitles the customer to all he can eat.

(It is rumored that a group of airmen from Lockbourne Air Force Base plan to invade the restaurant some 40 strong to see if they can set a record consumption).

Pensone's speciality is Italian spaghetti made with flour and eggs. He has been doing this ever since his discharge from General Patton's 4th Armored Division and the opening of his restuarant in March of 1946. The restaurant has both dining room and cocktail lounge with private rooms available to handle parties.

Along with claiming the largest variety menu of any Columbus restaurant, the Florentine is the oldest pizza maker in the city. Pensone attributes a large part of his success to the fact that 90 per cent of the food is prepared to customers' orders.

The most recent specialty of the house is Danish pastry which is served on Sundays only. After the meal is finished a waiter will bring around a bonus tray filled with a selection of pastry.

Pensone is assisted in the operation of the business by his brother-in-law, Joseph Scuro, who is a partner. The Pensone family resides at 105 Binns-blvd.

There are many events for children of all ages at Eakin School playground. This week there is a pet show; all children who have pets are to bring them to the playground to be judged by an impartial judge. There are many categories in which ribbons will be awarded.

Many organized games, a well-led crafts program boys' and girls softball, and Junior Jet baseball help children to learn skills and practice teamwork and sportsmanship.

All children between the ages of 6-18 years are invited to participate. Help from parents in umpiring games and coaching would be appreciated.

After the ceremonies everyone had a gay time playing group games.

The leaders at Binns this year are George Zorich and Sue Linebrink. The leaders encourage everyone to read the bulletin board daily to learn of the activities in store.

Binns will have a pet show tonight at 6:30. Ribbons and certificates will be given to winners and participants in the pet show. Another pet show will be held at Glenwood Center Friday evening at 6:30.

GADABOUT ROOSTER COOLS HEELS HERE

"SCOOTER" is probably the most-traveled old rooster this side of Leghorn, Italy. Since 1960 he has made a circuit of Kiwanis meetings, with time out for harem visits, from California to Canada. Seems that someone in Reno, Nev. decided that Scooter would be an excellent fellow to promote the inter-club visitation of Kiwanis members. But last Thursday he arrived at Hilltop Club, (via the West Side, Ashville, Washington C.H. clubs) and someone got chicken-hearted and decided he should have a rest Here, Fred Van Order of West Side and Donald O'Keefe of Hilltop ponder Scooter's future. For the time being they have him "farmed out" at 4875 Fisher-rd, the home of Jack Schlueb, who is an Optimist, no less. Inscriptions on Scooter's cage indicate he spent last June at the International Convention in Toronto and has won ribbons at several county fairs.

DESMOND IN 'BRIGADOON'

JOHNNY DESMOND, popular singer who won acclaim as songster with the Glenn Miller Air Force band during World War II, will star in the Kenley Players production of "Brigadoon," opening at the Veterans Memorial, June 26, at 8:30.

There's Nothing As Grand As Cincinnati Grand Opera

Cincinnati, which boasts the second oldest Grand Opera company in the United States and also the second longest season (headed only by New York City's Metropolitan), presents its 42nd Annual Season starting June 20th in the Opera Pavilion in the Queen City's Zoological Gardens.

The company which began modestly with little known singers has grows to be a giant presenting new performers known throughout the world. Over eighty percent of the stars of the coming season are members of the Metropolitan Opera Association. Others are from the famous Opera houses of Europe such as La Scala in Milan and the San Carlo in Naples and from the fine theatres of South America such as the Colon in Buenos Aires.

Singers who will be heard this year include such famous names as Mary Curtis-Verna, Phyllis Curtin, Nell Rankin, Licia Albanese, Laurel Hurley, Frank Guarrera, Giuseppe Campora Albert Da Costa, Walter Cassel, Barry Morrel and Rudolf Petrak.

Eight operas will be presented in 1962. They are "Aida" on June 20, 22 and 24; "La Traviata" on June 21 and 23; "Carmen" on June 27, 29 and July 1; "Butterfly" on June 28 and 30; "Salome" on July 3, 6, and 8; "Rigoletto" on July 5 and 7; "La Boheme" on July 11, 13 and 15, and "Tosca" on July 12 and 14.

Of these eight operas the music of three is by Verdi and of three others by Puccinni. Richard Strauss and Bizet are each represented on one each.

In the role of David will be Bill Haas; Celia will be played by Betty Hurd. The cast will include Jane Chenowith as Louisa Cortlandt, a friend of the family, and Moreno, a handsome chauffeur with a weakness for women, played by Dennis Ridgeway.

William O. Brasmer, professor of theater arts and managing director of the summer company, has the cast in rehearsal.

Playing her boss will be Tom Ligon, 1962 graduate of Yale University, who has spent a season in stock with the Montowesee Playhouse.

Mary Kay Williams, who recently completd her sophomore year at Denison and who was a member of the Summer Theater company last season, will have the other featured role.

TIMELY TIPS . . . FOR PLEASURE

BY BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Art Linkletter Lively Dad In 'Father Of The Bride'

Art Linkletter is a funny man; but despite his talents for light comedy, the Kenley Players' Tuesday night production of "Father of the Bride" missed the mark of becoming sparkling entertainment.

The play got off to a slow start in the first act; the fault lying in a rather repetitious dialogue beleboring the problems of a daughter intent on a small wedding and the objections of her mother equally intent on staging a large social affair.

BEVERLY

The play picks up as comic situations arise when the wedding plans grow to Gargantuan proportions.

Families who have tried to arrange a wedding that will keep all the relatives on speaking terms without entailing a production cost resembling the national debt probably laughed the loudest.

Art Linkletter, as the bill-besieged father convinced he is losing his daughter to a "pair of wide shoulders," played the part for all it was worth. The "People Are Funny" man popped up the show with some ad-libs that equaled the humor of his script lines. His scene of falling asleep to avoid meeting the in-laws of his daughter's intended was one of the funniest moments of the play—it could have been prolonged to get the laughability it deserved. His over-all performance was warm and homey, though one was always aware that he was Art Linkletter rather than Mr. Banks.

Constance Moore was at home in the role of the social organizer mother and played her part with an easy gracefulness.

The bride was properly sweet as played by Karen Thorsell. Scott Graham was an adequate if not imaginatively played, groom.

Some of the brightest moments of the play were added by the character parts.

Dulcie Cooper was amusing as the secretary called in to organize the wedding plans; Richard Lederer got a good round of applause as the capering caterer, intent on turning on the Banks' household inside out to accommodate the wedding guests, and James Moore was natural in the part of the moon-struck teen-age brother.

FINAL EVALUATION: "Father of the Bride" provides a light, amusing evening; but the production pointed up that the Kenley forte is in their lavish musical productions.

Kauderer Agency Will Sponsor 'Lazy-Good-For-Nothing' Tour

For those who want to combine a deluxe tour of the West with a visit to the Seattle World's Fair, Kauderer Travel Agency 40 S. Third-st, is sponsoring a "lazy-good-for-nothing" trip departing Columbus July 24. Charles Kauderer, agency owner who will lead the trip, so named it because of its slow and relaxed pace.

The two-week tour is designed for travelers who desire the best in accommodations, a comprehensive view of the country, and a leisurely pace that will give the maximum benefits of a swing through the Western states.

The trip, one of the many offered by Kauderer to the Washington Fair, will depart on special pullman trains with stop-overs in Canada on the way to the fair.

There will be sight-seeing planned at Chateau Lake Louise, Vancouver; a boat trip on Victoria, the island of Vancouver, and a visit to the Butchart's gardens—one of the most beautiful flower gardens in the world.

The tour will arrive in Seattle on Aug. 2. The return trip departing Washington on Aug. 4 will include visits to Portland, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver, and Pike's Peak.

The Kauderer Travel Agency, which celebrated its 10th year of operations this month, conducts tours "anywhere, any time." Owner Kauderer commented that if people who were vacation bound should realize that it doesn't cost any more to have an agency arrange their passage and it saves them time and trouble. Kauderer encourges customers to come in and talk it over. Trips may be arranged in groups or independently.

More information about Kauderer Tours may be obtained by calling or visiting the S. Third-st office.

Mad River Trip Includes Picnic

The Franklin County Historical Society will renew Ohio touring with a one-day excursion to Champaign County's Mad River Valley on Saturday, June 23.

Reservations can be made by calling the Historical Society, CA. 1-7487.

The Sunday try-outs will be held at the Gal-A-Teen Club, Galloway. The Tuesday night tryouts will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Choay, 436 Deerfield-rd, Lincoln Village.

Participation in the production is open only to Guild members. However, a limited number of membership are still open for this year. More information may be received by calling Mrs. J. J. Lane, 878-5449, or Mrs. Richard Butler, 878-4744.

Celebrity Series Schedules Texas Boys Choir For Fall

The "joy of singing" is the salient characteristic of the Texas Boy Choir, appearing as the second attraction on the Mershon Auditorium Celebrity Series on Oct. 31.

Critics and audiences both in the United States and abroad acclaimed that the Texas Boys' Choir consistently demonstrates exquisite tone quality, flawless diction, and mature musicianship.

The choir was formed 14 years ago by George Bragg. The touring ensemble of 28 is chosen from 150 boys of eight to 15 years of age who combine regular school work with rigorous musical study and year-round rehearsal.

In its brief life the Texas Boys' Choir has been featured internationally in more than 700 major concert engagements and its repertoire has been developed to extend from the gaiety of Elizabethan madrigals to the exuberance and informality of American folksongs.

On its recent tour of Europe, the Texas Boys' Choir encountered the warmest of welcomes, both as a delightful ambassador of the United States and as one of the finest and most versatile choruses to be found before the public today.

Series season ticket book sale is in progress at the Mershon ticket office, 15th and High-sts, for this program and other events on the OSU Celebrity Series.

Family's Fears Theme of Play by William Inge

The Playhouse - on - the - Green changes its tone from the capriciousness of "The Marriage-Go-Round" (playing nightly except Sunday through Saturday, June 23) to the serio-comic mood of "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," opening at the POG tent on Monday, June 25.

Heralded by New York critics as one of William Inge's best plays, "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" reveals the anxieties of a typical American family struggling for security and status. Out of the memories of his own childhood in the Mid-west, Inge sets his play in Oklahoma of the early 1920's. But the problems of a family afraid of what lies—"the dark at the top of the stairs" — applies to any family, anytime.

Tickets for all POG performances are on sale at Central Ticket Office, 46 N. High.

YOUTH FROM HOGE CHURCH TOURS HISTORIC SPOTS

HISTORIC SITES and churches were visited by 22 senior youth fellowship members at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian and their chaperones during a six-day bus tour through Maryland, Pennsylvania and Washington D.C. The group left the church the morning of June 11 with the first scheduled stop at Abbott Memorial Presbyterian, Baltimore, Md. Itinerary also includes the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Washington D.C. sights, Mt. Vernon, Ft. McHenry, Baltimore Harbor, Valley Forge, Carmel Church in Glenside, Pa., headquarters of the Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, and many historic churches. From left are, back row, Suzanne Morgan, Linda Schuler, Kathy McGill, Pam Boyer, Karen Zielke, Debby Guenther, Robert Nash, Robert Ralph, Lowell Marx, Martha Hess, Barbara Drake, Mary Lou Robinson, Patty Stewart, Jane Morgan, Carol Thompson and Vicki Stewart, and front row, Bill Doughty, Robert C. Barnhart, Carol Irene Herbster, Carol Meyer, Janet Hanger, Pam McGuire, Barbara Jean Martin, Rachel Nachmen, Ron Sleter and chaperones, Miss Judy Kay Newkirk, Mrs. E. R. Boyer, Mrs. Evan D. Morgan, Ken Dickerson and, standing at right, Rev. Ralph M. Martin, assistant minister at Hoge.

Family Returns Home For Father's Day

Typical of families all over the nation this past weekend were the Warren Brights, 74 S. Highland-av The children came home to honor father on his day.

Peter Bright, working on his doctorate in mathematical biology at the University of Chicago, celebrated his first Father's day by bringing his wife, Edris and new baby, Alicia, to Columbus. Rev. and Mrs. Bright, typical doting grandparents, will send the baby back to the windy city in an heirloom jacket, made years ago by Mrs. Bright's father.

Sally Bright, a junior at the American University, Washington, D.C., was home for a brief stay before going back to the capitol for the summer session. Miss Bright's visits home have been rare. Just last Christmas she returned from six months in France where she studied at the Sorbonne.

Rev. Bright has just completed his first year as pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church, Valleyview-dr at Hague-av.

The Church PLANTS and WATERS...

The church plants the seed of faith, waters and tills the soil. These are the things that a church can do, and no more... then God provides the love and life-giving essentials. The growth then depends on the type of soil... is it barren... mediocre... or fertile. Your life with God will grow according to your will and desire.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Jets To Aid School For Retarded Children

Shown here with Ronald Brand, catcher; Wilver Stargell, outfielder, and Charley Leonard, first baseman, are Ricky, George and Jimmy, three of the children from the school for Retarded Children in Franklin County who will benefit from the ticket sales of the Sunday double-header baseball game between the Columbus Jets and Toronto.

The Columbus Jets have made this Sunday, June 24, Retarded Children's Day. It is the hope of the Columbus Jets that all baseball fans will buy their tickets early from the parents and friends of the Retarded Children, or through the ticket sales at the booths which will be in all shopping centers and on five corners downtown this Saturday, June 23. The ticket sale is a combined effort of the 26 ARC's of Columbus.

"This is the second annual Retarded Children's Day at Jet Stadium, and we hope that all fans of the Columbus Jets will buy their tickets early so that this school can continue to operate next year," said Arthur W. Wiles, president of the association.

HBA Parade Of Homes To Open June 23

Art Linkletter, famous TV personality, and Columbus Sesquicentennial Queen Sue Ann Zollinger, will officially open the 1962 Parade of Homes this Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Heritage area at Gahanna.

With these ceremonies, the home building industry show will begin a nine-day run through Sunday, July 1. The event is the 11th such parade to be sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus.

Twenty-three builders, all members of the HBA, have built 26 homes this year. Styles run from one floor ranch homes, to story-and-a-half split levels and two story models.

The parade will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays and from 5 to 9 p.m. weekdays. As in the past, there will be a 50-cent adult admission with children under 16 admitted free.

Plans Underway For Golden Age Hobby Show

The 14th annual Golden Age Hobby Show will be held in the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts Sept. 14, 15 and 16.

All persons 60 years old or over are urged to prepare entries now for the show. There is no entry fee.

Some of the classifications in the show include painting, needlecraft, ceramics, photography, wood carving, weaving, leathercraft and collections.

Disabled Persons Must File By June 30 For SS Benefits

Disabled persons who have not worked in several years are urged by C. C. Darby, manager of the Columbus District Office of Social Security, to visit the office before Saturday, June 30.

Until that time, he announced, such persons may file claims for disability insurance benefits to establish periods of disabilities from the dates of illness onset or injury.

Beginning July 1, he stressed a disabled person will be able to establish only 18 months of disability prior to the date a claim is filed, regardless of the actual date of onset of the disability.

To some, delay in filing a disability claim will mean drastic cuts in monthly benefits, Darby explained. To others, it will mean total loss of benefits. The amount of disability benefit depends on a worker's average earnings in the years before he became disabled. The higher the average, the higher the benefit.

Darby warned that a person who became disabled as late as 1955 and did not work all of that year will be ineligible for benefits if he files later, than June 30. Should he delay filing until July 2, he'll be permitted to go back only as far as January 1961 to establish disability. In the 10-year period from January 1961 to January 1961, he must have at least five full years of work under social security coverage.

The Social Security office for Franklin County residents is located at 197-199 E. Gay-st.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Summer Fruits Here; Early Crops In Prospect

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:
VEGETABLES — New potatoes, lettuce, greenhouse tomatoes, cabbage.
FRUITS — Fresh peaches, oranges, frozen orange juice.

Rapid changes can be noted at fruit counters as summer fruits come into their own. Peaches, apricots, cherries, blackberries, nectarines and plums are some of the items available now or expected soon. At present, it doesn't look as though this will be the biggest fruit year on record but it's early to be sure. Here is a look at present prospects for several of the popular fruits.

Mrs. Franks

PEACHES — Crop estimates have been released for nine southern producing states that are important sources for Ohio markets, including our biggest suppliers, Georgia and South Carolina. In these two states, early estimates are for a crop 23 percent below the large 1961 crop, but 22 percent above average. Smaller crops are forecast for all nine states. Harvest is underway now in several states and volume will increase throughout the month. July and August are the peak supply months, with harvest of the Ohio crop normally starting in late July.

The Ohio peach crop is likely to be smaller this year than last. Orchard men say the damage to buds by cold weather this past winter and spring was heavier than usual. Our Michigan neighbors also report a smaller crop estimate than a year ago, and from the same cause as in Ohio. California, the top producing state, reports a good crop, but below last year.

CHERRIES—Supplies of sweet cherries are at a peak this month California, the main source of early supplies, reports a better than average crop. Washington, Oregon and Michigan will be in production soon, but crop estimates from these states have not been released. Sour cherries will be available by late June or early July, but production estimates have not been released.

PLUMS — Volume of plums will increase during the month with heaviest supplies from July to September. California production, which accounts for over 70 percent of the total, is expected to be 15 percent under a year ago and below average.

OTHER FRUITS — Nectarines will be available this month, followed by heavier supplies in July and August. Blueberries are being harvested in North Carolina and New Jersey. Volume should continue to increase and be at a peak during July. Blackberries are also available in seasonal, though limited, supply this month. Harvest of new crop table grapes is underway including Perlette, Cardinal and Thompson Seedless varieties.

In the citrus line, valencia oranges continue in good volume, but grapefruit supplies have dropped considerably. Supplies of both lemons and limes increased somewhat this month, with limes much more plentiful than a year ago.

Mr. Sensenbrenner was graduated from West High School in 1950, received a bachelor of science degree summa cum laude from Ohio State University in 1954 and a master's in business administration from OSU the following year.

He served as a commissioned officer with the US Army in Alaska from 1955 to 1957 and was associated with the General Office Industrial Relations Department of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., for the next two years.

In the past year UA agencies served 10,249 people.

These service and financial figures were released this week as part of UA's "Thanks To You" report on the use being made of contributed funds.

The allocations and number served by West Side and Hilltop agencies: Friends Home, 82 served, $9,275; Goodwill Industries, 752 served, $30,845; Gladden Community House, 1207 served, $44,906; Rosemont School, 103 served, $36,024; West Side Day Care Center, 83 served, $41,727; Boy's Clubs of Columbus—West Side, 505 served, $26,230; Volunteers of America, 5655 served, $17,708; YMCA—Hilltop, 1852 served, $35,182.

In all, United Appeal reported that about one out of three persons in Franklin County benefit directly from UA services.

Modest reductions in the cost of dairy products are anticipated. Reason is a cut in federal price supports to the minimum legal level.

"HOW ABOUT YOU AND ME getting together over a trough of corn" seems to be what this male peacock is saying to the female here as he spreads his spectacular tail to show off for her, in a typical scene at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jones, 1412 Hague-av in Valleyview.

By ED CHURCHILL

About a half-mile behind 1412 N. Hague-av, live four of the most unusual Central Ohio resident.. outside the Columbus Zoo.

The residents, two of them anyway, are brilliant, blue colored peacocks, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Jones.

Four years ago the Joneses went to California to visit relatives. Mrs. Jones noticed the peacocks running free, some walking placidly down the center of the famous Californ.a freeways, and she decided she wanted one.

Like any normal American woman who sets her heart on something, she got it. In fact she got two. A male and a female. It seems that the large spreading tail of he male, which is used to lure th female at mating time, worked quite well, because now there are four.

The Ohio-born generation also includes a male and female. The younger mate is about two years old and doesn't have as large tail as the older one.

There appears to be no quarrel between the two males, probably because of a bird-type respect for elders.

The birds make raucous shrieking noises that sound like human cries of "help" and "Mabel" which caused Mrs. Jones to be a bit apprehensive stopping at motels on the way from California to Valleyview. She found she had to warn each motel manager not to be alarmed if he should hear strange noises during the night, it was only her peacocks.

The racket that the birds make is actually a mating "lingo" but it sounds frighteningly similar to two humans having an all-out scream-fest.

The birds are surviving well in the northern climate and are very easy to care for according to Mrs. Jones.

They require some special feeding and are said to be very good eating themselves, but the Jones just can't bring themselves to raise one just for the cooking pot. They are too easy to become attached to, much like the proverbial Thanksgiving turkey.

Showoff Male

During the days from May to June, the male will spread his fan-shape tail, showing the eye markings on the end of each feather, (we suppose) for the same reason that Charles Atlas-type men stand on the beach and flex their muscles to attract the pretty girls.

The male is a very vivid combination of green, gold and (of all things) peacock blue. His breast, head and neck are blue and he has some green around the head and all three colors, plus black and other colors on his tail feathers.

The tail has grown to 11 feet wide and four feet high, forcing Mr. Jones to enlarge the cage twice to give the bird enough room to move around.

Each year the birds shed their feathers, usually in mid-August, and proceed to grow a new set for the coming year.

The female, as is the case in most of the animal and bird kingdom, is not as brilliant colored as the male, but is a duller shade of blue with most of her body being brown in varying degrees.

The birds aren't afraid of strangers, or much of anything for that matter, considering the way they can strut down the California freeways. When they do become frightened, they can fly very well, despite their bulk, and will end up in a tree or on a building far away from the danger.

The two younger birds were raised from the egg according to Jones and they hope to enlarge their family again soon.

After the first year of breeding, the female usually lays about 15 eggs per season, but the male bird sometimes manages to destroy the eggs if not kept separate.

Picture at Last

One photographer even spent a day sitting in the cage with the bird waiting for him to open his feathers, but to no avail, and another photographer, after hearing of the previous photographers' luck, refused to even try to get a picture.

But, as any female will tell you, a male's (even a peacock's) vanity will show up sooner or later.

IN WAVES

GEORGIA L. HAGY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Bellmon of 67 N. Wheatland-av, completed ten weeks of basic training at Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., and was graduated during a military review held June 8. The local Wave, graduated from West High School, will spend a 14-day leave with her family before reporting to the U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for general duty.

Overpass Is Favored On Wilson Rd. Annex

Consulting engineers this week told City of Columbus officials that: (1) costs of an extension of Wilson-rd southerly to Sullivant-av are justified because of the mileage drivers would save; (2) construction of an overpass at the New York Central railroad would cost $120,000 less, initially, than if an underpass were built.

Barrett Associated Engineers, Ltd. on Mar. 23 was given a $6,000 contract to study costs and engineering in a proposal to extend Wilson-rd south from Broad-st some 4,000 feet to Sullivant-av.

For many years residents have argued the merits of a better connection between the two streets in the two mile area between Hague-av and Georgesville-rd.

Mayor Westlake has pushed to include the construction (possibly by 1965) in the Five-Year Capital Improvement budgeting. Although the proposed extension lies almost half in the city and half in the county, Columbus money went into the current survey.

Cost Placed At $607,300

Barrett Engineers recommend a two-lane basic design with overpass at the railroad at a total estimated construction cost of $607,300. This would include right-of-way for the future expansion to a four-lane divided highway.

The four-lane probably will be needed in 20 years, the report said, based on current population growth. It was pointed out that motorists in the residential and rental areas along Sullivant-av now must use either Georgesville-rd or Demorest-av (a primarily residental street) to reach the shopping areas of Wilson-rd and Broad-st. An extension of Wilson-rd would cut 2.5 miles from their trip. It would be used by 6,300 vehicles a day by 1962, the engineers said.

The recommended roadway starts with a four-lane connection at the present grade at Broad-st. It then becomes two lanes, takes in a portion of the Standard Oil property, and by means of a six per cent rise, crosses over the railroad some 700 feet to the south. Curving slightly it would continue southerly and terminate with a four-lane connection just east of the International Harvester Parts depot. The limited access stretch would be designed for 50 mile-an-hour traffic.

Service Director Ernest H. Stork said the elevated spans would present some traffic control problems. He said he favors use of steel net flooring in the

Crime Hits Area Twice In One Day

Thieves struck twice within a four block Friday on the Hilltop for an estimated $14,000 in cash and portable television sets.

Robert Hampton, branch manager of the Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association in the Great Western Shopping Center, reported $13,100 stolen from his automobile, parked behind the Biltmore Restaurant Friday afternoon.

Late Friday night the General Tire Store, a half block west of the Biltmore, at Eureka-av and Broad-st, was hit by thieves who took six portable televisions, according to the manager, John Pratt.

It is the second time this year that General Tire has been burglarized. Both times entrance has been gained through a rear window. During Friday's robbery an iron grill was removed. The grill had been installed following the February break-in.

Reporter On Billie Sol Estes' Paper Describes Arrest Impact

EDITOR'S NOTE—The story of Billie Sol Estes and his Texas ammonia tanks that existed mainly on paper has rocked the Department of Agriculture and the rest of the nation as well. Behind the headlines, however, are the many innocent persons who lost their jobs when Billie Sol's gigantic business empire started to crumble. Joseph French, a newspaperman, was one of these. He is now on the staff of Hartley Newspapers.

By JOE FRENCH

Thousands of words have been written about the sledgehammer effect of the fall of Billie Sol Estes had on the economy of West Texas and the prestige of the Department of Agriculture —plus hundreds of other results —but few if any mentioned the effect on Billie Sol's employes.

I was working as a reporter and photographer on Estes' paper, The Pecos Daily News, that evening of Mar. 29. The News was a morning paper, so all the editorial staff was on duty when the news broke.

I was looking for an early sports feature and was reading copy as it came over the teletype. The bell rang, and as I watched, the first few short paragraphs announcing Estes' came over the wire.

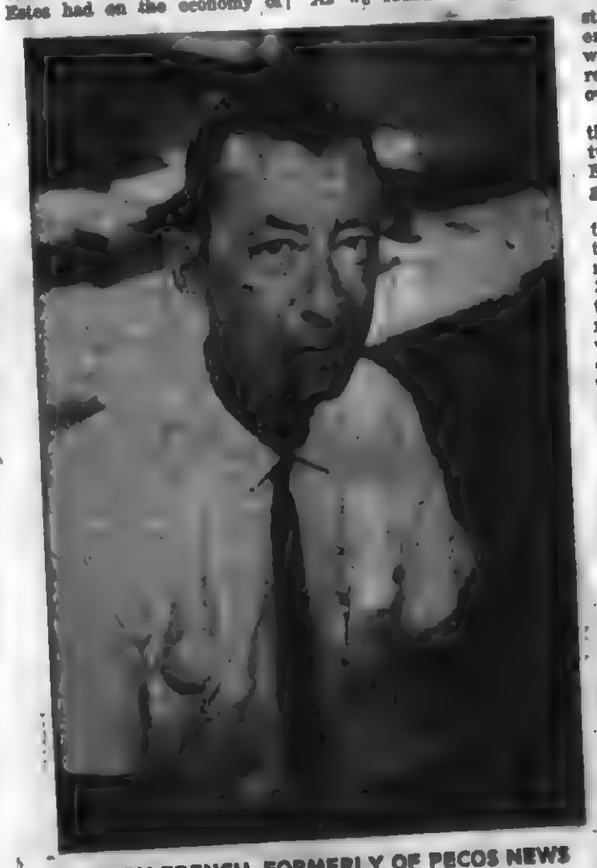
As we found out later, the same bulletin was being read over a nearby television station and almost before the teletype stopped clattering phones began to ring.

Quit Answering Phones

The people of Pecos wanted to know if the announcement were true; if so, the real facts, the whole story. After the first few calls we stopped answering the phones — because as much as we hated to admit it, the only information we had on the owner of our paper was coming to us over the wire.

After the initial shock and resulting confusion, we went about our job of getting out the paper.

It was only after the press started rolling that we relaxed enough, and had time to start wondering about the people's reaction, and, of course, our own position.



As for the people of Pecos, they had long been divided into two camps, either for, or against Estes. There was no middle ground.

For example, the day after the arrest I was assigned to take pictures at a ladies club meeting, and every one of the 30 or more there expressed their sympathy, as though a relative had died. Business men worried about the effect on the economy of the town. Estes Enterprises had a large payroll, and the loss of that would hurt every merchant in town.

Confidence Died Hard

For the first few days Estes supporters firmly believed that their Billie Sol would come out on top. They just couldn't believe that any one shrewd enough to build such an empire

STAR OF 'BRIGADOON'

Susan Johnson Enjoys Hectic, But Happy, Homecoming Here

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Her nightly performances in the Kenley Players "Brigadoon" will probably seem a welcome break in the hectic days of local star Susan Johnson, whose Columbus homecoming attracted a deluge of calls, letters and unexpected visitors to her Hilltop residence.

"I usually sneak into town quietly," commented Susan, "but this time, what a difference!"

The reason for all the flurry is that a lot of people remember Susan when she was a West High student here and have followed her career on Broadway, TV and supper clubs across the country—and they want her to remember that they remember.

"The phone hasn't stopped ringing since Susan got into town," volunteered Mrs. Johnson, who takes it all good-naturedly. We just got a call from the man who sold Susan her bicycle licenses when she was a child; he wanted to know if she'd like a 1962 copy!

"I also got a letter from a student teacher of mine from West. I remember her distinctly," remarked Susan, juggling her dachshund, Maud, as she got ready to meet her Tuesday afternoon TV and rehearsal appointments.

"People are showing up from everywhere," added Mrs. Johnson. "My old botany teacher from Rio Grande College will be here for opening night. Think I'll ask him why I got that "C." Mrs. Johnson is as quick on the quip as her daughter.

A visit to Dr. George Millay provided Susan a chance to renew and old acquaintance. "I got a cold in Canada from driving my leading lady around in that damp, foggy air. It stayed with me in Warren (where Susan played prior to her Columbus opening) so I went to visit Dr. Milley when I got to Columbus. He was my first love when I was ten," she confided. "He was the only boy who ever treated me like a girl."

String of Successes

After Susan grew up and left Columbus, her success story includes starring roles in Broadway's "The Most Happy Fella," "The Carefree Hour," "Whoop-Up" and the role of Meg in "Brigadoon." She has also appeared on numerous television shows, among them, guest spots

Parking Lot Proposed Where Theater Stands

Plans for demolition of the Westmont Theatre on W. Broad-st between Harris and Warren-ave, were given the approval of the City Planning Commission Wednesday morning.

In a letter to the commission Hilltop Attorney Donald F. Smith explained that he and his wife and the First Federal Savings and Loan Company have purchased the lot now occupied by the theatre and expect to convert it into a parking lot. The Smiths own the adjacent building which houses the Hilltop Branch Post Office.

Other rezoning requests up for the commission's approval Wednesday involved: six lots, south side of Sullivant-av between Nashoba and Hillsonia-ave, for six family apartment on one lot.

It's Ready, Set, Go For King Contest!

The merriest, maddest contest of them all—the one determining which of four will reign as King of the Hilltop—will get underway next week with the placement of penny-ballot collection jars in leading business places.

Four candidates, each the pride of his respective service club, will campaign for the honor, and the winner will be announced and crowned on the second night of the Hilltop Bean Dinner Tuesday, July 31.

Ballots, in the forms of coins, may be deposited in the jars, to be conveniently placed in stores and business firms throughout the area.

Contestants are:

Family and Play Day Week starts at the playgrounds Monday, July 2. There will be family participation in picnics, variety and talent shows, games and sports.

Currently tournaments in horseshoes, four-square and tetherball are being featured at the playgrounds.

Our Fourth Of July Flags Need Never Be All Red

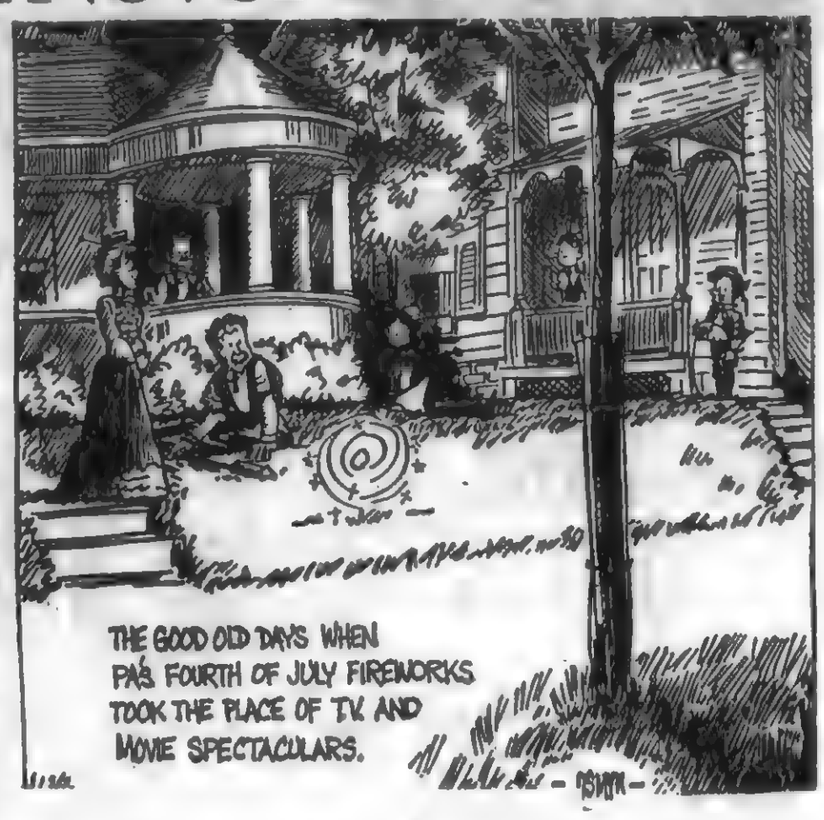
"I am convinced that the Red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be the American people themselves."

Still determined to see communism dominate the world, Russian Premier Khrushchev implied in his above statement given to Rumanian workers last week, that America will be the downfall of itself.

Is it fact or fiction? July 4 is a good time to think about it.

If the present rate of government spending keeps increasing, Americans keep their lax attitude towards moral decay and corruption, and if we keep digging our own graves . . . yes! It's going to happen!

But how can America stop all types of communist aggression? They throw it at us from all fronts: Laos, Berlin, Quemoy, Cuba — and in all forms: military action, psychologically and with propaganda.



Like rats, they gnaw from inside. Instead of starting from the outside and moving in, they keep our thoughts tied up with the above crises, then cunningly destroy the heart of America.

The U.S. Government spends billions of dollars for defense of foreign territory, yet gives relatively little to help safeguard infiltration at home.

It is true that the U.S. can no longer stand on a policy of isolationism. We must help other nations fight the communist threat. But why don't the legislators on Capitol Hill in some way keep some of those billions to "clean the soul of America?"

Let's begin at home to stop corruption and vice. If communists don't register with the government let's deport them. What's so unconstitutional about ridding our country of our enemies?

Let's let a red flag fly in the U.S., but let's also make sure there is always some white and blue in it!

Man Does Not Own Himself, But Is God's

Scripture: I Corinthians 6:19-20

What? knew ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?

For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

The greatest and most glorious revelation which will ever come to man is the realization that he does not belong to himself.

The real self, the God-created self can never realize its actuality apart from its personal confrontation with God. Without this personal relationship with God the self will never be what God intended it should be. This is why we can never really claim ownership to ourselves.

In order to be a real self we must have our broken relationship with God restored. This is why Jesus Christ came into the world. He became the ransom for man. We are bought with a price, and are no longer our own.

God has caused us to recognize how truly we are His by showing us that He has grudged nothing which can fully restore us to Him. He has bought us, not with any of those prices the wealthy can pay without sacrifice and without profound interest and feeling, but with that price which is coined and issued by love, which carries in it the token and pledge of love, and which therefore wins us wholly.

We are not our own. ..We belong to Him who has loved us most; and His love will be satisfied when we suffer Him to dwell in us, so that we shall be His temples and shall glorify Him in body and in spirit. God claims our body as well as our spirit; He has a purpose for our body as well as our spirit. Our body is to glorify Him in the future and now: in the future, by exhibiting how the Divine wisdom has triumphed over all that threatens the body, and has used all the present bodily experiences for preparing a permanent spiritual embodiment of all human faculties and joys; and now, by putting itself at the disposal of God for the accomplishment of His will.

He calls us, you and me, to follow Him in all that we do so that we may glorify Him in body and spirit. As we spend our lives here on this earth let us do so as people who realize that we have been spent for, even with the precious blood of Christ.

Remember, you are not your own, you have been bought with a price. We are told in I Peter, Ch. 1, Vs. 18 and 19, that we are not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold; but by the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Let's Stop Something-For-Nothing Binge

It's like accidentally catching four happy idiots scratching their armpits—an act that may produce a form of pleasure, but hardly one to be performed in public.

And that is how I feel about television's "The Price Is Right," a program that panders vicariously to the desire within some 20 million Americans to get something for nothing.

We've all seen this program on which four contestants vie for fabulous prizes in a guessing game with the rewards going to the one who comes closest to naming the exact price of the gift items, which include everything from an occasional new house to automobiles, boats, airplanes and a host of less costly luxury articles.

I have no objection to charity or the act of giving. But this "program" capitalizes on the inherent avarice within us. And I can't really blame the contestants, who hysterically slobber up the TV camera with rank displays of pampered greed if they are fortunate enough to cop a fat prize. I, too, probably would succumb to such a windfall if given the opportunity.

Unfortunately, most of us have this unhealthy craving within us to get something for nothing. But if we have any honesty, we are ashamed when it crops up and act to combat it. For that reason I find "The Price Is Right" unbearable to watch.

Like many, I feel America has become infected with this malignant disease to get something for nothing. This nation was built on the shoulders of men who believed firmly that man is a self-sufficient, noble animal, not only capable of caring for himself, but morally obligated to do so.

Realizing that many persons often are victims of unfortunate circumstances—sometimes tragic—I have never objected to Social Security or Welfare programs, not even unemployment compensation.

But I feel these programs should be stringently applied and restricted only to the provision of necessary food, shelter and care. I do not believe the rest of us should be forced by law to provide a bed of roses for those who are incapable of caring for themselves. This is not charity—it is coercion.

I for one cheered with joy when Newburgh, N.Y. ,attempted to enact its program to curb excess welfare and halt the cheaters. The whole nation should take similar steps.

Welfare should never be more than a naked footer under our economic structure — a structure designed to benefit those who are willing to work for their rewards.

And I advise readers who feel the same to write to our congressman and let them know about it.

It probably wouldn't do any harm to drop big-hearted JFK a similar note—his kid brothers, too. Won't be long and one of them may have the national checkbook in his hands. When my father bought something for me, he always, sooner or later, did the same for my brothers.

Word From Willson

To The Editor;

My sincere thanks to you and your staff for giving so generously of your time, or space, and facilities to help the YMCA publicize summer camping for boys at Camp Alfred L. Willson.

Phone calls and requests for camp leaflets, by the dozen, have poured into the "Y" office. Many new boys have signed up for camp and old campers have signed up early.

YMCA officials have been delighted with the results and feel that many more new campers will be added to the camp roster as the summer progresses.

A Sunday Punch . . .

To The Publisher:

The trustees and members certainly appreciated your editorial entitled, "We Like This Policy . . . "

Your aggressive editorial stand taken by your newspapers in the whole area of Sunday observance is a stabilizing influence on many of the conventional retailers who are greatly concerned with the illegal competition that the seven-day operator presents.

May we again congratulate you on your forthright position and thank you for calling this matter to the attention of your readers. Sunday observance must be a reality. Our alternative is the breakdown of the social and economic cultures that this society has held so dear.

Hay Fever Advice

Being one of the many hayfever sufferers (mentioned in your article last week), I would like to pass a bit of advice which may help others.

I am 48 years old and every year but last year, and now this year, I too suffered along. Everyone knows what the doctor says to do.

Last year I went all summer and fall without a shirt, stayed out in the night air, in drafts, rain, just did the direct opposite to what I was told to do. As a result I didn't suffer with hayfever, and so far I've sneezed one time. So if you care to try it, I'd say go ahead.

Warm Warning

A Bloomfield, N.J., woman drove her foreign-made car into a service station and asked for a tankful of gas. The attendant forgot that it was a foreign car and put 13 cents worth of gasoline into the radiator before he realized his mistake. "Don't worry," he assured her, "nothing will happen—the worst thing that could happen is that it could blow up." She laughed and drove off. Three blocks later, the car blew up.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK
Shoppers Will Find A Bright July Array

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Vegetables — Snap beans, beets, new potatoes, salad greens, greenhouse tomatoes.

Summer vegetables will come into their seasonal own in July—offering a delightfully fresh array of color and flavor. Throughout Ohio the vegetable crops are coming along rapidly, actually a little ahead of normal schedule.

Mrs. Franks

Cabbage harvest is underway in both southeastern and northern counties. Snap beans have been added to the list of locally grown vegetables available now, along with beets, cauliflower, green onions, radishes, peas, greenhouse tomatoes and a variety of leafy vegetables including celery, endive, escarole, leaf and bibb lettuce, romaine, spinach and various greens.

Sweet corn harvest will begin the first week of July. There'll be some corn from Southern Ohio and a limited amount from the Columbus area, available for your fourth of July picnics. Volume production is expected after July 10, which should mean considerably lower prices soon.

Peaches — highlights of summer eating — will have their day in July. Local raspberries, both red and black, come in early July; prospects appear good for the Ohio crop. Our markets will continue to offer strawberries from California and blueberries will be in top supply, coming our way from New Jersey and Michigan.

Apricots, nectarines, plums and sweet cheeries are other summer fruits to enjoy in July. Picking of sour cherries is also under way, so you'll find a limited supply offered in stores and roadside stands. More new crop apples are showing up each week — Lodi and Transparents are the principal early varieties and will be followed in early July by Duchess.

In meats, pork supplies will be somewhat lighter, reflecting the usual seasonal decline in hog slaughter.. Market experts say beef supplies, may fall off a little in July, particularly the higher grades of beef. The beef market will be influenced greatly by the light summer demand for roasts and the strong demand for most steak cuts. This should mean lower prices on chuck and rib roasts. Steak cuts are sure to be "specialized" from time to time, although regular prices may be slightly higher.

Broilers, popular for summer meals and cookouts, will continue in large supply and at low cost. Eggs and dairy products will also be in heavy supply.

Nine Decks Of Pleasure Offered By Aquarama

RELIGIOUS SERVICES for Catholic and Protestant faiths are held aboard ship by clergymen of each faith. This is a scene from a mass conducted aboard the Aquarama last year.

Nine decks of cool comfort, relaxation and pleasure await the people who take advantage of the one-day economy package cruise on the S.S. Aquarama sailing out of Cleveland Sunday morning, July 22.

Many of the persons who took advantage of the Aquarama cruise offered last year by the Hartley Newspapers were the first to sign up for the repeat offer this summer.

Reports from last year's cruisers indicate many felt the view of the Detroit harbor is worth at least half the price of the trip. Although the ship stops only briefly at the Motor City and cruise passengers are not permitted to disembark, the view of the big bustling metropolis together with the international aspects of the busy inland harbor are memorable features of the trip.

Only those who have made ocean voyages can appreciate fully the thrills duplicated in this 12-hour cruise on the beautiful waters of Lake Erie.

The Aquarama is truly the queen of the Great Lakes. The block long nine-deck ship is the largest, fastest and safest ship of its kind in the world. The all-steel ship has glare-proof picture windows which give unbroken vistas of the sparkling water and the ocean port skylines of Cleveland and Detroit.

The Aquarama often has been described as a "floating country club." There will be music by dance bands, deck games, shows, supervised children's play in special playrooms.

There are six different food and refreshment settings, in all price ranges, on the huge liner.

There is only one class on the Aquarama. Passengers have the run of all decks and lounges. Informality and a spirit of carefree goodwill is the keynote of the whole cruise. Everyone is out to have a good time. The entire idea of the cruise is to lay aside the cares of our daily lives and enjoy a few precious moments of relaxation. In this atmosphere everyone is your friend and no one is a stranger very long.

In order to arrange for chartered buses to accommodate the cruisers from the Columbus area, the deadline for reservations will be set early in July. We urge you to make your reservation now by filling in the accompanying coupon.

Special arrangements made by the Hartley newspapers and the Aquarama business office enable us to offer our readers a one-day package vacation at bargain prices. Cost of the entire trip, including the round trip on chartered buses, is only $18.50 for adults and $12.50 for children five through 11. Children under five are free.

I would like to reserve space for ..... adults and ..... children on the July 22 Hartley Newspaper Great Lakes Pleasure Cruise. Enclosed you will find check or money order for $....., which is the correct amount for these reservations. (Note: fares are $18.50 for adults and $12.50 for children five through 11. There is no charge for children under five). In addition my party will include ..... children under five years of age.

Hero Succumbs After Fire Rescue Failure

A man who tried frantically to save a 78-year-old woman from a flaming car pile-up Sunday night, died from burns a day later in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Dead is William Cline, Sr., of 532 S. Wayne-av. He had tried heroically to save Mrs. Jennie Klopp, 78, of 2188 W. Mound-st, from burning to death when his car was hit by another, and burst into flames in front of her home Sunday night.

According to police, Cline had just stopped after driving Mrs. Klopp home from the Calvary Apostolic Church at 36 W. Greenwood-av. Before the elderly woman could get out of the back seat of the car, it was hit from the rear by an auto driven by Thomas Blackburn, 18, of 648 Binns-blvd.

The crash welded the automobiles together and they skidded 100 feet along the pavement, igniting the gasoline in the tank of the Cline auto, according to police.

Martha Cline, 33, wife of William, and son Charles, escaped from the back seat of the car without injury. Another son, William, Jr., was standing near the Cline car and also escaped injury.

Police said that Cline tried again and again to save Mrs. Klopp, who apparently was stunned by the impact and sat in the burning car. He finally collapsed, his own clothing afire.

Blackburn, driver of the other car, suffered only minor injuries and was released after treatment in Mt. Carmel Hospital. Police held him for investigation of second degree manslaughter.

Barry Greer, 18, of 719 Racine-st, a passenger in Blackburn's car, suffered head injuries and was reported in fair condition Tuesday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Police said Greer was hitchhiking near Jet Stadium when Blackburn stopped for him. Blackburn told police that he had been on an all-day outing at Buckeye Lake.

A special theme is set aside for each week with daily activities planned to interest all those attending. Interested youngsters may sign up at the Y.

The next Friday night dance for junior high-age boys and girls will be held Friday, July 6. Tentative plans call for a hot dog roast to be held in conjunction with the dance.

A family picnic is scheduled for Saturday, July 30, at the "Y." Families attending should bring their own picnic suppers. Coffee and cold drinks will be furnished by the "Y." All sorts of games will be available. At dusk a feature length movie will be shown. Activities are scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

L. T. Cornette won his first feature of the season, in flying-stock competition, Friday night, on the William-rd oval.

Walt Scherer, of DeGraf, copped his initial win of the 1962 season, Sunday night, at the Columbus Motor Speedway, as he beat out Dick Dunlevy and Al Smith, both of Dayton, in the 25-lap super-modified feature.

Chuck Engel, Chuck Fletcher and Bobby Morgan were the victors in the three heat races, while Red Sales and Sam Erwin took the two 12-lap semis. Scherer won the Australian Pursuit.

This Friday, the flying-stocks will run seven-events and Sunday night, the super-modifieds will be back for seven-races.

On Wednesday night, July 4, the modifieds will run their Independence Day Championship program, with a 50-lap feature, for $2000 in prize money. A gigantic fireworks display will follow the final race.

Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Miller of 591 Clark-av. He was graduated from Hilltonia Junior High School, where he was an honor student, and will enter West High next fall.

Young Miller has been in Scouting six and a half years and has earned 25 merit badges. He is a patrol leader in Troop 182, sponsored by the church, and led by Scoutmaster Jim McFarling.

Bob has his sights set on engineering or aviation as a profession.

THREE-DAY EVENT

Good Time Brewin' For Bean Dinner

The shape of fun to come at the Hilltop Bean Dinner, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 30, 31 and Aug. 1 at Westgate Park, is being formed by the Hilltop Business Association's festival program committee.

Free beans, cooked with ham and accompanied by crisp crackers, will be served on all three nights from 5 to 8 p.m.

Entries in the queen contest, open to all over 15 who are either residents of the Hilltop or employees of HBA members, are now being received. Entry blanks are available at the HBA office, 2552 W. Broad-st or at Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st.

Elimination judging from the field of queen candidates will be held Monday night at 8, and the final selection and coronation, Tuesday, 8 p.m.

Announcement of the winner of the King of the Hilltop contest determined by the number of penny ballots cast, will follow.

In addition to the carnival fun on the midway, a full slate of planned entertainment, games and contests is being arranged.

A favorite event of many Bean Dinners, not included in last year's program, will be revived.

The popular relay boat race around Harder Lake, with boats propelled by ping pong paddles by crews of Hilltop Kiwanians and Lions, will be held Tuesday night. Winner of Tuesday's event will meet the cupholders, members of Hilltop Y's Men, on Wednesday evening.

The pony tail contest for girls 12 and under, annual competition sponsored by West Rural-Urban News, The Hilltop Record and West Side News, will be judged Tuesday at 2. Three top winners in each of three age groups will receive silver dollar prizes.

Any little girl living in the circulation areas of the newspapers may register for the contest by calling Betty Daft at the Hartley Newspapers, BR. 4-1155.

A bicycle parade with silver dollars awarded the winners in both boys and girls' classes in each of three age groups, is scheduled Wednesday at 2 for youngsters 14 and under.

And a brand new event—a twist contest, is planned Wednesday at 5. Prizes will be given winners in the ten and under age group and those in the ten through 14 class.

The popular Diehler's Polka Band will appear on both Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and exhibitions by trampoline, gymnasium and tumbling teams from the YMCA will be featured.

City Okays Construction Bids On Westgate Center

Sheaf Construction Co., won the general construction and site improvement package for its total bid of $259,570. Another firm had bid lower on the basic construction but its site improvement figure was much higher.

N. J. Barack said groundbreaking ceremonies may be held the first week in July.

"The center will be the showplace of the city," he said. "It will even outdo Whetstone. There will be two dressing rooms and restrooms at each side of the stage. And we've included outdoor floodlighting of the building as a safety measure," he added. The electrical contract went to Electrical Contractors, Inc., for a total bid of $27,836. William H. Rinehart will do the plumbing, heating and ventilating for $71,200.

Barack said there will be only $3,000 difference in the cost of the two buildings, even though Whetstone was built in 1955.

Playgrounds

Glenwood was an interesting event Friday night. The following boys and girls won ribbons: cutest, (2nd place) John Wolfe; most affectionate (2nd place) Jerry Nichols; prettiest (1st place) Brenda Barbee; best costumed (3rd place) Pamela Heft; (3rd place) Gail Crago.

The Clown Contest will be held on Sunshine Playground Wednesday, June 27, at 6:30 p.m. Those boys and girls who wish to participate should be at the playgrounnd at 6 p.m. dressed in their original clown costumes. All are invited to attend.

Four-square, tetherball, and horseshoe tournaments will be conducted this week for all boys and girls between the ages of eight and 18.

Junior Jet baseball is off with a bang. Twelve teams converged this week for their shakedown. The recipe is simple: take 20 high-spirited boys, add their cheering parents; mix with an occasional fumble, a touch of home runs, good sportsmanship; blend all ingredients furiously on a baseball diamond and bake under a blazing sun for about an hour and a half. When done, treat the bruises with care, help the exhausted parents off the field, (Carry the umpire) and get a good rest for the next game.

Boys' softball teams still need more players. Any boy between the ages of eight and 18 is eligible to play.

Girls' softball teams are practicing every day and still have room for more girls.

Girls' track teams are also preparing for the track meet coming up in a couple of weeks.

The Amateur Athletic Union is awarding certificates to those boys and girls who can pass the physical fitness test consisting of sprints, pull-ups, sit-ups, push-ups, softball throw, standing broad jump, distance hike, and running broad jump. All boys and girls wishing to see how physically fit they are can come over to Sunshine and do the required events toward certificates.

at Holton . . .

There has been a bee-hive of activity at the playground from 12:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Girls' and boys' softball teams have been organized and many are busy playing four-square, tetherball and horseshoes. The tournaments are to start this week.

The arts and crafts program is 2 to 4 daily. Children will be working with paper mache, painting and gimp braiding this week. Many are also using the wading pool and playing tennis.

Mrs. Massey and Rosemary Spires were judges.

Hilltopper Sings At Conclave of Bible Meditation

Rev. H. David Skipper, 884 Holly Hill-dr, was a featured soloist at the 36th annual convention of the Bible Meditation League held here last week.

Included in the list of speakers and missionaries for the conclave were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn, Sr., parents of the famed astronaut.

Robert Grove Appeals Zoning

Robert Grove of 2720 Rosedale-av has filed an appeal to the Board of Zoning Adjustment, asking that the B & D Snack Bar on his property at 831 S. Richardson-av be allowed to open.

Raymond Goller, chief building inspector, acted June 19 when 196 Richardson-av residents presented a petition to City Council, requesting that the snack bar be prevented from opening.

Formerly the shop was the Vi Chee Beauty Salon, a "non-conforming business" in a one-to-four family dwelling.

City attorney Russell Leach ruled the conversion of one "non-conforming business" to another use is illegal.

Laborer Killed Digging Trench

Mose Price, 51, of 1288 N. Sixth-st, an employe of the General Maintenance and Engineering Co., 1231 McKinley-av, was killed Friday, June 22, when the walls of a trench in which he was digging collapsed.

The accident occurred on a construction job at the Pollock Paper Co. mill at 785 Frebis-av.

He was digging out a trench so a new concrete foundation could be installed for the equipment being added at the paper mill.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my beloved father, Arthur Isennagle, who passed away June 20, 1961.
Your end was sudden, Daddy,
You made us weep and cry,
But oh, the saddest part of all,
You never said goodbye.
You little thought, when leaving home,
You would return no more;
That you and death would sleep alone
And leave us here to mourn.
What is home without a father?
Of all good things, this world may send,
But when we lost our darling,
We lost our dearest friend.
Tears may wipe out many things, but this they wipe out never—
The memory of happy days we all spent together.
Daughter
Mary Reynolds

You think you have problems . . .
EVERYONE HAS PROBLEMS

"Boy, take it from me, leading a dog's life ain't no bowl of cherries. It's always get offa this and that, and boy, what happened to me, when I turned over the lamp!"
Our life may not be a dog's life, but everyone does have problems and always will. God does not promise that even his good and faithful children would be without problems, but He does promise strength to bear our problems. Attend church Sunday, renew and strengthen your life by leaning on the Lord.
EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Wilson-rd—

bridge to facilitate snow and ice removal.

Drainage A Problem

Present drainage patterns would be used at Wilson-rd and Wicklow-rd but it was pointed out that sewers at the latter would have to be rebuilt because of poor condition. Utility line adjustments were included in the cost estimate.

Barrett engineers said depressing Wilson-rd under the railroad would dictate building a new storm sewer northeasterly to the present Broad-st underpass, (2) enlarging present sewers, (3 a cost of $61,250 for diverting railroad traffic and $13,000 to relocate a switch and a privately owned spur track.

The report outlined that while there was a difference of $120,000 between initial construction in the two plans, ultimate construction (four lanes 20 years from now) would show a cost difference of a relatively small $18,000.

"Since the need for expansion to a four-lane facility is not evident until near the end of the 20-year design period, it would appear advantageous not to have to obligate in excess of $100,000 additional funds initially," the engineers said. The engineers considered a four-lane structure in the case of an underpass, to avoid a duplication of track relocation costs in any future expansion.

Right-of-way for the new section of Wilson-rd would take in mostly farmland. Involved are 4.5 acres from Harold E. Derer, 2.8 from Standard Oil, 1.8 from International Harvester, less than an acre each from Mr. and Mrs. James Crooks and George and Alma Headley; and less than a half acre each from 16 other property owners.

Service Director Stork said close study of the report will follow in the next few weeks. "We will link up our ideas and if the road gets the go-ahead we will move on to actual construction plans," he said.

DEE'S KALIJA, owned by Mrs. Delight Lee of Fort Wayne, Ind., is among the hundreds of horses from all over the United States that will be on hand for the 14th annual Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo, July 4 through 8 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Robert Johnson of 626 S. Ogden-av, is shown presenting Mrs. Lee a trophy in last year's Appaloosa Pleasure Class.

Parade Sparkle, Rodeo Thrills Coming

A full division of classes for Appaloosas, Arabians, Morgans, palominos, quarter horses, western horses and ponies, as well as cattle cutting, calf roping and rodeo events and sessions for 4-H youngsters' horse projects are in store at Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo July 4 through 8 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Silver-mounted parade classes and show classes, and bronc-ing bulls and bucking horses as cowboys take to the air will highlight the event.

Trophy buckles will be awarded in each rodeo event, as well as a sizeable purse put up by the show committee and increased by exhibitors' entry fees.

For further information regarding the show or free children's tickets call the show secretary, Marie McDannald, 8487 Sunbury-rd, Gahanna, AM. 8-4445.

Estes—

pire, could be careless enough to leave himself wide open to persecution. Then, too, there was Billie Sol's reputation for being a religious, wholesome family man, who enjoyed doing good for others.

On the other hand, there was criticism of his business methods which, according to his non-admirers, consisted of either sell out or be forced out. It was that policy that caused his downfall when he tried it on the Pecos Independent.

Even a few hours after the arrest, it was evident to every person in West Texas, that no matter what the outcome to Estes personally, the ones that would be hurt most would be themselves—the farmer, worker and small business man. I suppose the Estes case will be argued for years to come in West Texas, but you'll never convince his friends that he intended to defraud anyone, just as you'll never convince others that he ever thought of anyone but himself.

As more and more facts came out, the staff of the Daily News ceased to wonder about the future. We knew what was going to happen; it was just a question of when.

Staff Turns Elsewhere

None of the editorial staff was a native of Pecos, but most of us had either bought or rented homes, moved families, and prepared to make Pecos our home. Now a town of around 12,000 population could absorb some clerks, typists and bookkeepers from other Estes enterprises, but there was certainly no future for almost a dozen newspaper people. So we started looking.

A few of the staff left immediately, but most stayed until a few days later, when the force was cut to a bare minimum. We went our various ways, still somewhat dazed.

Time, and more timely events, will dim the Estes case, and television comics will find another subject for their jokes, but the people of West Texas and those who were on the staff of the Pecos Daily News that Mar. 20 will never forget the date, or Billie Sol Estes.

Crime—

the job was well planned. Tracks through a heavily wooded rear yard leading to the window showed that the culprits had gone directly to the window without wandering or searching for it.

Police report that a regular crime wave has developed recently in the theft of portable televisions. It is believed juveniles may have been involved in the Friday night break-in.

The theft of $13,100 from Hampton's car was accomplished by removing the back seat. It was theorized. Hampton had placed the money in the trunk of his car after picking it up earlier at the City National Bank.

Hampton and a trainee of the company, Charles V. Sexton, stopped for lunch, leaving the car parked in a heavily used lot at the rear of the restaurant. The doors of the auto were unlocked.

WHS '52 Class Plans Reunion

The 1952 June Class of West High School will have their 10-year class reunion Aug. 18 at Arlington Arms. James W. Hallstaine, 1480 Cole-rd, is chairman of the planning committee.

The reunion planners are trying to locate these members of the class: Virginia Bigelow, Kathryn Davis, Joe Dickson, Dolly Evans, Al Harris, Bernice Harris, James Higgens, Kay Knisley, Carole Moore, Jack Taylor, Fred Koerner, Ellis Easterly, John Ryan, Mary Jane Refletts and Jack Willy.

If anyone has information pertaining to these classmates, please contact Diane Renollet Cline, 930 Stephen-dr W., BR. 9-9223.

with Garry Moore, Ed Sullivan and Jack Paar.

Susan recently appeared in "Pajama Game" in Canada. "I love playing to Canadian audiences—theater there is like in London, treated as a real craft with people saying "let's visit Annette again tonight" and going back to see the same show over and over."

What's next for Susan? "I'd like to do the part of Gypsy and am working on it now. A lot of people ask me why I haven't played in Columbus before. I guess it's because no one has asked me."

Would she like to do another play here?

"I'll answer that tomorrow," quipped Susan as she ducked in a cab to make her opening night rehearsal.

PORT CHARLOTTE
FLORIDA
On $215 A Month

"We love it." This was the sentiment expressed by one couple about Port Charlotte, Florida. And if you were to go there yourself you'd get pretty much the same answer from just about everyone there. The couple we questioned is living in a 2-bedroom home on an income of only $215 a month. In addition, because everything they want is right in Port Charlotte, they manage to save $10 a month. You, too, can retire to Port Charlotte on a modest income, and enjoy vacation-time living the year round. Let us show you slide films, color photos. AD 58198 (Z-1)

Plan For A Happy Family Vacation

Planning vacations can be fun, educational, and a family project promoting what is so widely known as togetherness.

Of course, if your idea of a wonderful vacation is apartness —you're reading the wrong article.

If a family vacation is your aim, you must choose a destination which represents compromises made by the whole family, and dictated in part by that unpopular member of the family—the budget.

Inexpensive vacations can be fun and different but they require careful advance planning.

A good first place for compromise is in the distance you will cover during your vacation. Particularly if small children are involved, keep your mileage down. Everybody will be happier during the vacation and on arrival home.

There is a certain explorer-like thrill, too, in discovering an enchanting vacation spot only a few hundred miles from [illegible].

In making your plans, don't overlook state parks. Many of them have tourist cabins and lodges with wonderful family accommodations at low rates.

You might take a cabin with a kitchen for economy, and have your one big meal of the day out, thus giving Mom a vacation from the stove.

Camp vacations have grown tremendously in popularity in the last few years.

It's as slick and modern as tomorrow and makes camping out really fun! Here again, you can compromise.

One or two nights of your vacation can be spent in a hotel or motel, with opportunities for dressing up and dining out in style.

Many of the large hotels and motels have baby-sitting facilities, too, so Mom and Pop can have one or two evenings for a real second — or 14th—honeymoon.

Whether your vacation consists of a week at a nearby resort or a month in Europe, plan carefully, pack sensibly (almost everybody packs too much) and allow time on your schedule for staying over a day or two in a place which particularly strikes your fancy.

In these days of rush, rush, rush, the quality most desired in a vacation is leisureliness. A little foresight will provide it.

Back Yard Has Become Home Recreation Spot

Americans are in growing numbers are beginning to "get away from it all" simply by stepping outdoors into what used to be just the back yard.

To say the difference is plain to see. The back yard has become a recreation area.

No matter what it's called, it is being used to increase warm weather living and add entertainment space to the house.

The ash can and the clothes line have given away to the swimming pool, the terrace and the outdoor grill.

These frequently become do-it-yourself projects for the whole family, and provide almost as much fun in the construction as in later enjoyment.

Swimming pools, once envied by many and owned by few, bid fair to become as common as a second car.

Individually designed pools can be tailored to fit any area. Improved construction techniques for standardized shapes and sizes have brought the cost of pools well within the average budget.

Above ground wading pools of vinyl-impregnated nylon held rigid by sections of steel mesh are a reasonable compromise. They come in sizes up to 30 feet in diameter and four feet in depth, providing fun for grown-ups as well as children.

Patios or terraces of flagstone, concrete or tile are being used for entertainment areas that extend the serviceability of the indoor living room.

Enclosing the patio with roofing and screening can make it more private and impervious to summer insects.

Low-key lighting, simple furniture and a few large plants, make a patio an ideal place for late dining or tv-viewing. An adjacent outdoor grill perks up appetites and simplifies [illegible].

Among the games that are being enjoyed in back yards are badminton, saddle tennis, volleyball, basketball, deck tennis, archery, horseshoes, croquet, darts, lawn-bowling, shuffleboard, and variations on lawn golf.

An ideal back yard set-up is an all purpose, hard-surfaced court for such sports as paddle tennis, deck tennis, and junior volleyball.

A suitably situated garage makes a fine back-stop for handball or for hanging a basketball hoop.

The golfer can devote an occasional hour at the end of the day to improve his "short game" with nothing more than a tin can sunk in the lawn. This may also serve as a focus for a "deck-golf" set up.

Croquet is enjoying a revival and requires only an expanse of reasonably smooth lawn. Additional bounce is being given outdoor sports by the sudden popularity of trampolines.

Paint splashed on windows or mirrors can be removed with turpentine or hot vinegar, as a razor blade may scratch the glass.

Local Gals Discuss Tennis Apparel

What To Wear On The Courts?

BY JOHN AUBLE, JR.
Hartley Sports Editor

Ever since a pert young lady named Gussie Moran appeared for her tennis match in the Wimbleton Championships in 1949 in lace-trimmed panties, the question of what to wear on the courts has been discussed.

Brazil's dazzling net artist, Maria Bueno has added to question. She's expected to wear a daring dress that will plunge down her shapely back to her trim waistline.

Local gal tennis players have their own ideas.

For instance, Vida Blue, a pretty blonde who lives at 276 S. Stanwood-av, likes to wear the little, short skirts but does not totally nix the idea of the plunging back-line.

"The most important thing is that you stay as comfortable as possible," she smiled. "It's also a good idea to wear a couple of pairs of stocks to keep from getting sore feet on the hard courts."

But, if Miss Bueno's fashion does catch on, don't be surprised if you don't see it on Columbus courts right away. Most of the girls interviewed were a little leery about the bare-backed style.

SUSIE SLOAN
. . . Look Nice

SUSAN BLANTON
. . . Be Serious

JAN JUDSON
. . . Too Daring

VIDA BLUE
. . . Strong Legs

Susan Blanton, 2735 Powell-av, feels that it really should not matter what you wear, as long as you're serious about the game. "Usually the costume doesn't matter," said knit-sweatered Miss Blanton. "It's how you play that's important."

A few of the girls said that if new and daring outfits for the courts did catch on . . . and, if they looked "cute" on other girls . . . they might try 'em.

"We'd have to see them first," they said.

One adult, who didn't want to be identified, shook his head when discussing the new fads. "You know what's wrong with that? The girls would get sunburned," he said in all seriousness.

Susie Sloan, 2629 E. Broad-st, said that "appearance on the courts" is very important." She stressed that gals should look "neat" and added that "it depends on how much attention you want to attract" when dressing for the game.

We've heard of one young lady a few years ago who showed up at the courts with an attired that was just too much—er, rather, too little. She stopped play all over the court and was told by a supervisor that the next time she would have to "cover up."

Jan Judson, 225 N. Cassingham, another young tennis buff, thought a backless fad would be "a cute idea . . . just so it isn't too immodest."

Miss Judson also said that certain problems concerning feminine form and the activity of the sport might arise when wearing the backless outfit.

At any rate, if the Moran and Bueno continue, the tennis courts may become a prime target for girlwatchers. It's not too bad a place right now.

Food Cooked Over Charcoal Tastes Better

There's a reason why more and more persons are becoming devotees of outdoor cooking, and it's a real good one.

Food cooked over a charcoal fire tastes better.

And in discovering this fact, millions of modern Americans have learned what the pioneers knew decades ago and what outstanding restaurants have been building reputations on for years.

From time immemorial fishermen have followed the practice, cooking the freshly-caught trout over a wood fire on the bank of a stream.

Many hunters can testify that there's nothing better than a venison steak cooked over glowing embers.

That extra-delicious taste isn't limited just to expensive fish or steaks or to freshly-caught game.

Whatever you cook over a charcoal fire, it's the taste that makes it better.

To treat material that has been stained by a drop of oil from your sewing machine, rub the stain immediately with chalk and brush well.

Beat The Heat With Water Sports!

THERE'S NO NEED to be all up in the air about the hot, sticky summer weather. Like many, here is one fellow who decided to beat the heat by diving into a swimming pool. This particular shot was snapped at the Hilltop Pool on Columbus' West Side.

By Ted Boardsheer

As a recreation medium, nothing beats water. Yes sir, 'kids' from eight months to 80 years, paddlers to racers, go for the water.

Dance?

We didn't believe it either until we visited a swimming club and saw a demonstration of the "bongo stomp."

There it was. A record player, concrete and scads of dancers. It's a line up ritual, roughly resembling the Madison.

Also on hand were divers galore. We saw a swan and a full gainer and a belly flop or two.

Mothers and children were cooling off in the 94-degree heat and candy and ice cream were the main stomach fillers.

In the pool a collection of junior scuba divers and raft enthusiasts were busily upsetting each other, while in the baby pool dimpled dunkers dunked.

It is a happy place for a happy time of year.

Altogether, Columbus has about 30 swim clubs. Maryland Park Municipal Pool is open at Atcheson-st and Graham-av. The city's other pool at Indian Village, near Griggs' Dam, is under repair.

River is Favorite Spot

But swimming isn't the only fun in the water. There's fishin', boatin', and water skiin'. Take the Scioto River for instance.

At Griggs' Dam from the buoys north to Hayden Run Bridge speed boats can cruise. Boats can be from 12 feet to 22 feet long. Although docking facilities reservations are closed for this year, people interested in getting a dock for next year or a boat stake now at Griggs' or O'Shaughnessy, can contact Ernest H. Stork's office at City Hall. A public built-in boat lift is available for use at the Griggs' Dam site.

From Hayden Run Bridge north to the second island is a restricted water ski zone. Columbus has an organization called the Columbus Aqua Ski Club which participates in water skiing. Persons interested in joining the club can contact Jack Loveless, 3008 Riverside-dr, at HU. 6-6963. Speed boat limit is eight miles per hour. And all beyond that, right up to Dublin Bridge, you can drop in the old fishin' hook.

Sailboat enthusiasts can function from O'Shaughnessy Dam from the cable north to Eversol Run. Other boats passing through the area are not restricted if they travel under five miles per hour.

From Eversol Run north to the Girls' Industrial School or Home Bridge at Rutherford-rd the only restriction is "no reckless operation."

And from Butts' Corner north to Bellpoint is a fishing area with an eight-miles-per-hour boat limit.

Hoover Dam, which has 112 docks, is for fishing. No boat can go over eight miles per hour. All boats must be from eight to 18½ feet long.

A new boating and fishing area, not well known, right downtown, is Greenlawn Dam. Restrictions here are the same as at Hoover. As yet, there are no docking facilities. The northern limit is Mound-st.

And that's not all, water sport fans. Columbus has three scuba associations, even though there are no areas for scuba diving in Central Ohio for public use. They are the Columbus Undrewater Explorers, YMCA Sea Nags and the Lockbourne Scuba Jets.

During the summer months these groups travel to the Great Lakes, particularly Lake Erie, Cedarville and Whitehouse Quarry in Toledo.

All lessons, which are usually given at indoor pools in the winter months, are given through these clubs if one is able to pass the entrance requirements.

Let's Loaf! It's A Practical Pleasure

By Sam Dobbins

Let's admit it!

There's no greater form of summer recreation than loafing.

With limited budgets, the American public's psychological aversion to traveling great distances, overcrowded beaches and picnic areas, plus lack of time in this age of hustle and bustle to properly plan anything, loafing appears to be more practical.

Looking subjectively, let's examine the paragraphs that will follow, weigh the facts and see if loafing really merits consideration as a summer activity.

So you want to relax this summer, maybe take a vacation. For many people a dollar is pretty hard to come by and for the majority, a bountiful supply is a rarity. But even if one could manage to escape the hubbub for a weekend there are always motel expenses, restaurant bills and gasoline to be added to the credit card.

But maybe you are the fortunate one who has been invited to stay a couple of days with the in-laws. Good! That helps cut costs extensively.

Taking the invitation, you and the family arrive at Uncle George's somewhere in Endsville, U.S.A. Waking after a refreshing night of sleep you enjoy a delicious breakfast prepared by Aunt Martha, and then play a round of golf with uncle.

Feeling pretty good after shooting a 68 you return, grab a snack, lie down on the porch swing and prepare to nap. Suddenly a shrill cry is heard.

"Daddy, can we go swimming"?

Naturally, the wife who has been trapped in the house all morning, has the same desire. Packing a picnic lunch the family jumps in the car and heads for the lake.

Arriving at the lake somewhere in the wide open spaces everyone is blessed with a cool breeze, shining sun and six or seven hundred other vacationers. But it's a nice day and everyone enjoys the swimming, volleyball, companionship, sunburn, sore muscles . . . headache . . . and what have you.

Upon returning to Aunt Martha's, famished, windblown and tired, you are eager to rise in the morning to drive the 150 miles back home.

While heading down the highway someone happens to notice a sign saying "Big Rock Mountain . . . See Three Counties From Its View." So off you go, 25 miles out of your way to the rock.

The view's great, the exercise climbing to the top was good for you and it's all very enjoyable until the kids decide they need a souvenir, especially a genuine Big Rock wild squirrel's tail made in Japan. Oh well, what's another buck.

Finally pulling into your driveway everyone is glad to see the old homestead. All are tired but it will be fun telling the neighbors about the trip.

The Joneses who live next door are sitting on the patio enjoying their vacation at home. Fred is slouched in an easy chair, cigar in one hand, lemonade in the other, watching the ball game.

He is pleased with the fact that his wife hasn't bothered him for the last five minutes because she is intently reading an article about Jackie's latest fad-ds.

Both of them have been home all week just doing not much of anything. Fred threw away his golf clubs for that week because walking made him tired. The car's been in the garage. The only thing Fred plans to do with it is wash it . . . maybe.

You're probably a little tired after visiting the relatives, have less money and your back is still sunburned. All in all, it's probably been worth it.

But on the other hand, the Joneses are relaxed too. They're rested and content.

And all it cost them was 89 cents for a dozen lemons.

BRIGHT YOUNG MAN

"Are you married?" asked the personnel manager, as the young man filled out the questionnaire.

"No," replied the applicant, "but I can take orders if that's what you mean."

The word "credit" comes from the Latin word, credo—meaning "I believe" or "I trust."

Steam Engines To Huff, Puff At Mechanicsburg

People interested in steam power in action are offered a treat July 27, 28 and 29 at the Miami Valley Steam Threshers 13th annual show of old time threshing machines at the Goshen Memorial Park, Mechanicsburg, O.

There will be lumber and wood shingle sawing, drag saw and flint mill, all powered by large and small steam engines.

A cha-ga-me and Shawnee Antique car parade will be held. Meals will be served on the grounds.

Saturday evening, July 29, will feature a 50-50 dance and horse show.

There will be rides for the kids and an antique display.

Admission is 75 cents. Children under 14 are admitted free when in the company of an adult.

Shoe Away Walking Woe During Tours

Whether you plan to do the Grand Tour of Europe or look into the Grand Canyon and other home-grown wonders — your feet and the shoes they travel in—often hold the secret of a successful trip.

In a good day's walking, your feet work as hard as your heart and take more of a beating than most other parts of the body.

To keep the best-behaved feet at ease and guarantee you the most from each day's sightseeing, here are a few tips prepared by a foot specialist:

Include several pairs of well-fitted leather walking shoes in your travel wardrobe.

The pliable leather upper flexes to accommodate the moving foot and the flexible leather sole gives full support as it cushions your feet on the roughest surface.

"Breathing" through millions of natural pores, leather "air conditions" your feet in the hottest of summer days.

When you pack your travel wardrobe, be sure to include shoes for every occasion. Shoes make all the difference in your costume and your comfort.

Newest is the spectator shoe on a flexible leather sole and mid-heel. It boasts distinctive detailing and a variety of fresh leather treatments and hues.

White is the color leader in all summer leather footwear. Most popular is the newly developed washable white that can be freshened with a soapy cloth.

Portable Pools Dot Landscape

Side by side with the ever-growing number of excavated pool installations 'round the country, are an ever-increasing number of homes with above-ground portable pools.

Millions of units of portable pools dot the nation's landscape as homeowners set up "pint-sized" to "king-sized" models.

Most of these are rigid-frame models with separate vinyl plastic liners, while others are the family-sized circular tank types.

Portable pools range from six to 18 feet in diameter and from 15 to 36 inches deep. They hold from 275 to 5,500 gallons of water.

Larger above-ground pools up to 24 feet in diameter, four feet deep, and with a capacity of 13,600 gallons are popular too. Some are constructed of aluminum sidewall supports that protect the plastic liner.

In addition, a sturdy tubular steel frame of an interlocking design serves as the overall outside support.

It is not advisable to set up the pool on tar paper, black top or any other asphalt or oil-base material that would cause a hardening of the liner.

Also avoid setting up the pool on grass or ground that has been recently treated with chemical compounds.

If the pool is to be placed on a patio or other pre-leveled area of concrete that a thin layer of fine sand be spread over the area as a cushion.

There IS Something Different To Do!

SMALL-FRY FISHERMEN TRY THEIR LUCK AT LINDEN PARK LAKE

Conservation Clubs also stock lakes at Schiller, Goodale, Westgate and Franklin parks

By MARCUS T. ORR

Everyone needs a change of scenery once in a while. That's why people in Buffalo, N.Y., don't spend honeymoons at Niagara Falls—they go to Florida. That's why Floridans don't stay home, either,—they go camping in Canada.

If, however, your family's time or money budget can't afford a distant vacation this summer, don't try it. Look now for new things to do right here in the Columbus area, in our own backyard.

Now, don't label this suggestion "old stuff" before you've thought about it a moment. Are you judging all parks by the one nearest you? If your family knows every inch of Westgate Park, why not plan a picnic in the South Side's tree-filled old Schiller Park? The German folk in that section love Schiller's Sunday night band concerts, and so will you.

You've read about it but have you actually seen the Park of Roses at 4015 N. High-st? People come from other cities and other states and gladly pay a quarter to see some 40,000 spectacular plants in bloom. A special attraction on many Sunday evenings through the summer is barbershop quartet singing in the park.

Nature's Beauty Preserved

If you go for the more passive relaxation and like to commune with nature, then the Metropolitan Parks at Columbus' outskirts are for you. They belong to all the people in Franklin County. They are forest preserves of natural scenery, woodlands, streams and native wild life.

At Blacklick Woods and Blendon Woods you'll find everything for a successful outing. Nature walks conducted by naturalists are scheduled throughout the year. Outdoor nature and travel movies are presented Tuesday nights at Darby Creek, Wednesday nights at Blacklick, and Thursday nights at Blendon. Public astronomy nights are also a popular diversion. For full details call or visit the Columbus Metropolitan Park District at 1251 E. Broad-st (Cl. 3-9675).

Interesting Things Downtown

Or, if you're looking for something still different, there's the Columbus Conservatory, a unique collection of rare and beautiful plants under glass. Many people overlook this free attraction maintained by the Columbus Division of Parks and Forestry. It's located just off E. Broad-st at 1826 Franklin Park S. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. seven days a week. While you're there, look for the banana plant and rubber trees.

And, speaking of downtown, plan a visit to the city Arts and Crafts Center. An abandoned fire house at 734 Oak-st, has been given a new lease on life. Now it hums with activities as people pick up useful and satisfying new hobbies. Professional instructors teach weaving, ceramics, painting and the like. Summer classes in ceramics are conducted each weekday afternoon and evening. Call, Ca. 1-9472 for details.

Don't Forget The Zoo

The Columbus Muncipal Zoo is tailor made for family outings. You'll find it at O'Shaughnessy Dam on State Route 257, four miles north of Dublin. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays, and until 7 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

Zoo displays (some 4500 birds, mammals, reptiles and fish) cove 21 acres and include some of the finest collections in Ohio. The baby zebra and giraffe, as well as the world-famous Gorilla, Cole, are special attractions.

The zoomobile offers a 15-minute descriptive tour at low cost. Food concessions and rental strollers also are handy. There is also a free picnic area and Children's Zoo.

Zoo admissions are: 35 cents for adults; 25 cents, children under 12. Family memberships at $1 entitle two adults and all their children under 12 to free admission six time a season (exclusive of parking). Proceeds help keep up and stock the zoo.

Young city dads who worry that they've never taken Junior fishing—and he's five years old already—needn't go far. Small lakes for fishing are found at Schiller, Goodale, Westgate, Linden and Franklin Parks. Various community conservation clubs stock them from time to time.

Cookouts along the river are a hit with hundreds of Columbus area families. Miles of free picnic space are found north of the city, and the river always offers a panorama of boating water skiing and fishing. There are 52 concrete picnic tables and 25 outdoor grills on both sides of the river at Griggs Dam. Picnic groups have a choice of 22 shelter houses at Hoover and Griggs Dams, and at Whetstone, Westgate, Linden, Wolfe and Southview Parks. Call the City Recreation Department (CA. 1-2211, Ext. 281) for reservations.

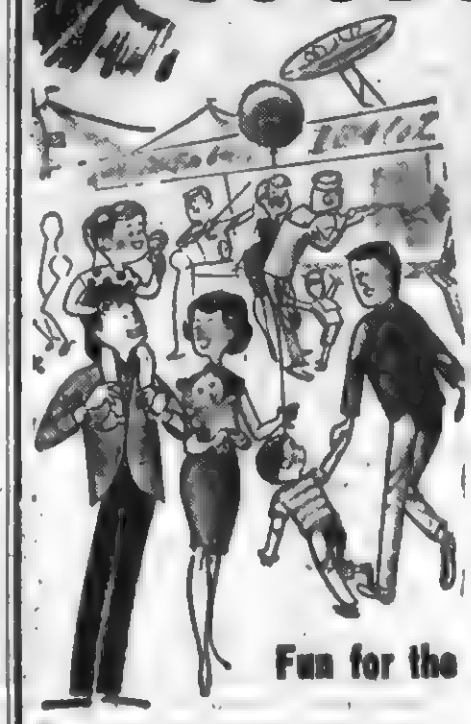
Picnic Kits Available

Many persons do not know that they have access to free picnic kits at the department's warehouse at 440 W. Whittier-st. Available for a ten dollar deposit, the set includes volleyball and net, two softballs and bats, four horseshoes and pegs. Better call the aforementioned extension in advance.

Families with children six and under should find the fenced-in playgrounds at Schiller and Whetstone Parks irresistible. Mothers can relax on benches while their toddlers enjoy modern animated swings and slides and colorful concrete pipes and animals just made to climb on.

Sports Facilities Plentiful

If Dad would like to take up golf he should investigate the city-owned Raymond Memorial Golf Course at Trabue and Wilson-rds. One of the finest public courses in the Mid-west, it is open to the general public from daylight to dark seven days a week. The 18-hole, 72-par course boasts twin tees and twin greens for all par three holes. This prevents congestion.



If tennis appeals to you the Recreation Department offers lighted clay courts at Franklin and Westgate Parks (six each) and four unlighted courts at Beatty. Linden and Whetstone Parks have lighted blacktopped courts. Other blacktopped areas are found at American Legion (W. Como-av), Goodale, Weinland, Brevoort, Holton, Glenwood, Livingston and Schiller Parks.

Every supervised city playground has at least one each horseshoe, volleyball, and badminton courts. Night horseshoes can be played at Sunshine, and Schiller Parks.

And, for ball fans, there are free seats for industrial and church softball league games throughout the summer at Linden, Sunshine, Southview and Wolfe Parks.

Fun on a shoestring is yours for the asking. Plan a cross-town or cross-county visit to a different park the next time your family wants to relax. You will be surprised at what you have been missing.

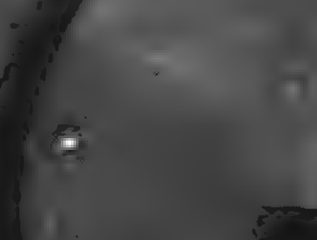
Boss Is The Grand Prize In Denison Theater Show



Denison Summer Theater will present "Grand Prize," with Tom Ligon as the boss and Sherry deRhodes in a leading feminine role in the tent theater on the lower campus of Denison University as the second play of the season June 26-30 at 8:20 p.m.

Ligon is a recent graduate of Yale University with experience in Shakespearean productions there. Miss deRhodes is a junior at Carnegie Institute of Technology and has had roles there and in Disneyland in California.

The comedy is based on a member of the firm winning a TV show prize, entitling her to the services of her boss for 24 hours. Many hilariously funny situations develop.

Free Concert Tradition Revived

Col. Robert E. Franklin, post commander, Fort Hayes, has announced the planned appearance of the 37th Infantry Division Band in a concert at the Old Bandstand, Fort Hayes, Sunday, July 31, at 3 p.m.

This will be the first concert to be held in the bandstand since the early 1900's, when many Columbusites looked upon Fort Hayes as a park where free band concerts could be heard on Sunday evenings.

Like in the early days, the general public is invited. If public interest warrants, regularly scheduled concerts may be arranged, officials said.

School Features Summer Exhibit

The 33rd student exhibition of the Columbus College of Art and Design will be on display throughout the summer months at the school building, 44 N. Ninth-st, Mondays through Fridays, 9:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The exhibit will portray the full scope of the school's curriculum, including examples of painting, graphics and sculpture.

There will be sections devoted to industrial design with many examples of industrial products and shelter designs, as well as divisions on advertising design and magazine illustration.

The show is planned for viewer enjoyment as well as for a demonstration of the varied program offered by the Columbus College of Art and Design.

County Group ToSponsor Play

The Franklin County Mental Health Association, in cooperation with and as a part of the Volunteer Council of the Columbus State Hospital, is sponsoring the opening night of the Kenley Players production, "The Marriage-Go-Round," starring Ozzie and Harriet Nelson (of TV fame) Tuesday night, July 17, stated Mrs. Robert J. Nekervis, FCMHA Volunteers chairman.

A goal of 1,000 tickets was set as a minimum. "We hope through the assistance of community organizations and friends to reach this goal."

Many volunteers throughout Franklin County and some of the 12 other counties served by the hospital will be selling tickets.

Interested participants are asked to call the Franklin County Mental Health Association, CA. 8-4344, for further information.

Success, Success— Is Johnny Desmond!

Johnny Desmond, popular singer who will star here in the Kenley Players' "Brigadoon", has a varied musical background that ranges from soloing with the Glen Miller band to playing in New York's plush Persian room.

It was during Desmond's Air Force days that he got his first boost by the late and great Glenn Miller band. His next big step came when Gene Krupa heard him sing and signed him up as vocalist with his group.

From there the Desmond followers watched him go from Hollywood to television, to a listing on the Hit Parade, and even to a co-starring role on Broadway.

Jules Podell, with an eye on fresh talent, booked Desmond to sing at the Copacabana, and soon afterward Neal Lange, of the Plaza, headlined the singer at the Persian Room. He won the audience with his easy style, especially on ballads.

Desmond is best known for his renditions of such songs as "Two Lazy People," "I Get a Kick Out of You," "Come Rain or Come Shine," and "The Last Dance."

Columbusites will have a chance to view the Desmond talents in the Kenley production of the Lerner and Loewe musical "Brigadoon," opening here Tuesday, June 26, at 8:30.

TIMELY TIPS . . . FOR PLEASURE

By BEVERLY FLEISHMAN

Columbus Too Is A Summer Festival

With all due respect to New York's Chamber of Commerce—we have stolen its slogan—New York is a Summer Festival—to use as a tag for our own town. We may not have Broadway or Shakespeare in the park, but we do have theaters in a tent, under a stadium, in air-conditioned halls, as well as a wide selection of clubs, restaurants, and special events — all adding up to a lot of summer pleasure.

BEVERLY

Something To Try . . .

A good bet for a cool evening is the petit sidewalk cafe at the Olentangy Inn. It opened last year with the main attractions of red and white striped French decor and a view of the swimming pool. If there isn't a breeze across those waters there may be a waft from the Olentangy.

Authentic Entry . . .

If its atmosphere you're seeking, the new Stouffer's Restaurant on Olentangy River-rd has a claim to authentic "English Inn-ery." Manager Rothrock tells us that the Stouffer's chain is decorating a group of these inns across the country. In order to insure the customers they are eating in the real thing, they sent a decorator on tour of the English countryside to bring back objects d'art from English Inns. The collection of paintings, pewter, and incidentals on view at Stouffer's is well worth a walk around the restaurant before dinner.

A unique experience in theater settings is OSU's Stadium Theater, located under the 80,000 seat arena. Currently playing on the small stage is the Kurt Weill-Bert Brecht "Three Penny Opera." The play is well suited to the small space, having scored its original success in the 99-seat Theater de Lys in New York.

Director Eisenstein is to be complimented on his use of the Stadium Theater area, playing every inch of the round stage.

The over-all production of "Three Penny" is an admirable one. The play is particularly difficult to direct—mainly due to the unusually demanding music. It has bite, farce, sarcasm, and tenderness. The jerky, raspy Weill beat has to convey every range of emotion.

The OSU production fell short in giving impact to certain songs, and consequently lost some of the bite of the play. Polly Peachums' ditty on Soho was weak as was Lucy Brown's "Barbara Song," and the Macheath, police commissioner duet could have been sung with more gusto.

However, Estelle Pritchard's "Pirate Jenny" was as bitter and cold as the song demanded.

The cast as a whole did a more than adequate job of acting and singing.

Phillip Kautt was a caddish, polished Macheath who carried the weight of the show. He was admirably supported by Peachums, John Crawford and Mary Kostanden. Mrs. Kostanden really knows how to sing and she put over each of her numbers with force.

Joyce Long as the sweet, saucy Polly, was a graceful addition to the stage but her voice needed more projection. Special mention goes to the street singer, Ted Pritchard, who skillfuly kept the audience amused during set changes.

Even with the difficulties in working with a non-professional cast in a challenging production, Eisenstein retained most of the caustic mood of the acid opera.

Lincoln Lodge Year 'Round Vacation Spot Near Home

Under the managership of C. N. "Chuck" Anderson, the Lincoln Lodge Hotel, 4950 W. Broad-st, has become a veritable year-round resort.

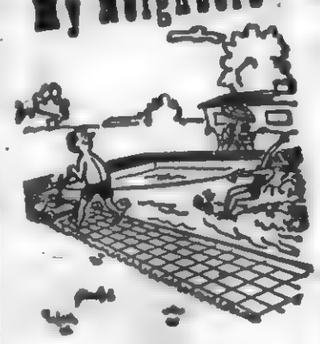
Always looking for new and unusual ideas for the public, as well as the patrons, Mr. Anderson had a beautiful 14-acre nine-hole par-3 golf course built adjacent to the motel, just a year ago. In the center of the course there's an acre-and-a-half lagoon, which must be crossed twice while making the nine-hole rounds.

An abundance of sand-traps, trees and bushes, provide challenging handicaps for the "old-timers" and plenty of iron practice for the "duffers." Full size greens prove to be wonderful putting practice for all. Pro Jack Kidwell of Beacon Light, considers it one of the finest par-3 courses anywhere.

But, the golf course is just one of the many entertainment features of the popular West Side motel. A full size pool is available to those staying at the lodge and the pool is completely covered, with a plastic "bubble" and heated, for wintertime enjoyment.

The lodge also has a putting green, as well as badminton courts and there's free dancing every Friday night in the ballroom, as well as nightly entertainment in the cocktail lounge.

A feature of Lincoln Lodge, which has been copied to a degree by many other motels, is the "Weekend Package Plan." With this plan, you can check-in Friday afternoon, get five meals and two nights of lodging and check-out Sunday, for the unbelievable low price of just $19.62 per person, double occupancy. The idea has caught on so well that it usually takes three to five weeks to get a weekend reservation.



The lodge has also become well known for its fine food and, once again novel ideas are presented along this line. Every Monday night you can eat your fill, with the Monday Smorgasbord, featuring close to sixty hot and cold dishes. On Friday nights, droves flock into the beautiful colonial style dining room, for their famous Seafood Jamboree, highlighted with live-lobster from Maine. Every day, at noon, a smorgasbord brunch is served and again within the last month, a Sunday Brunch was instigated. Many come directly from Church, for a combination breakfast and lunch that is bound to please the most discriminating diner. Hours for the Sunday Brunch are from 9:30 until 2 p.m.

If there is anything that the Lincoln Motel doesn't have, suggest it to "Chuck" Anderson. And, don't be surprised if what you suggested is there, your next visit

If you're deciding now whether or to go to college or not next fall, the American Bankers Association suggests that you take note of Commerce Department statistics showing that, of the ten highest-paying careers in the 1970's, nine will definitely require college degrees or better, and that opportunities for the tenth—a career in the entertainment world — will probably improve with a college degree.

World Map Offered By Auto Club

A new world map, about 32 by 33 inches in size, is now offered free to its members by the Columbus Automobile Club. The map, prepared by the American Automobile Association, locates the chief cities in all countries by an index and includes important information about many of them.

Folding to about 9 by 13, the map is described as helpful to those planning world travels.

Members may obtain their copies by visiting or sending mail requests to the Columbus Automobile Club, 15 East Main Street, Columbus 15. Since only 1,000 maps are available, General Manager Russell H. Campbell advises early action.

The first check issued by the United States Treasury was for the sum of $1,000, paid to George Washington as part of his salary as President. The money came from a bank loan.

Low-Calorie Bread Suited To Picnics

Lite Diet Bread is a favorite of thousands of housewives in their meal planning during the hot months all over the nation.

It has been available in the Columbus market in recent years. The manufacturer attributes its popularity to a distinctive flavor all its own that is especially enjoyed by those counting calories.

Lite Diet is baked by the bakers of Tip Top breads and buns and is available at most grocers.

Both breads and buns are in a flavor guard wrap to preserve freshness.

You can soften marshmallows that have dried out by putting them in an airtight container along with a slice of fresh bread. A plastic bag tightly fastened can serve as the container.

Week-End Sailors Need To Take Care In Towing Boats

Gas tanks are filled, lifesavers stowed, picnic baskets packed and road maps unfolded. The nation's armada of week-end sailors is in the midst of another season of boating fun on inland lakes and waterways.

July 4 will mark the peak of the summer boating year. But it is also a dangerous period for millions of Americans who will be traveling the waters during the coming months.

Week-end sailors are cautioned to exercise special care on the way to their launch sites as well as on the waterways. A motorist who hauls a boat on a trailer must pay special attention to certain safety rules to avoid being a menace on the highways.

Following are good rules of conduct for motorists who will be towing boats this summer:

1. Give yourself more time to reach your destination, since the added load will slow you down. Planning for a more relaxed trip will prevent the tension which can cause a motorist to take chances on the highway and become a traffic menace.

2. Avoid unnecessary passing when towing a trailer. When passing, make certain the highway is clear ahead because the added load will require more highway passing area.

3. When driving in congested traffic, remember to keep clearance for the trailer. Slow down before reaching corners to ease the burden on brakes.

4. Use turn indicators and hand signals well in advance of any changes in direction. An outside rear view mirror is a good investment when hauling a trailer.

5. Take time to learn the route before leaving home. A few minutes with a road map will prevent dangerous hesitations at busy intersections or expressway exits.

6. Keep safe distances between your car and vehicles ahead. On expressways, keep alert for cars approaching from behind and give them room to pass on the left.

7. Check all trailer and boat linkage and hitches before leaving home and again during rest stops if the launch site is some distance away.

8. Keep tires properly inflated and check for hot wheel bearings which indicate improper lubrication.

9. Keep enough clearance between car and trailer to avoid the boat and vehicle touching on sharp turns. Inspect safety chains and hitch before entering highway.

10. Check equipment stowed in boat for balance. Make sure motor is secured to transom and tie-downs are locked to trailer.

11. If possible, keep boat fuel tank empty until ready to launch. When tank is full, keep cap tightly closed to avoid fire hazard which can result from spilled gasoline.

12. Launch boats from improved sites when possible. Back car and trailer at right angles to shore. When backing, remember this tip: If you want the trailer to go right, turn your steering wheel left. If you want the trailer to go left, turn the wheel right.

13. Keep children away from the boat during launching. Use an adult as guide when backing trailer into the water.

Northern Cities Plan Festivals

Roses are red, at least some still are, and violets are blue, but you'll never know how beautiful Ohio's State flower is until you have seen the annual Carnation Festival at Alliance, "The Carnation City."

June 27 through July 4, are the dates set for this year's big floral spectacular. Fifteen garden clubs have joined with the committee to make this year's festival the brightest one of the series. Great masses of scarlet carnations will decorate the buildings along the parade route to rival the colorful floats and marching bands.

Saturday night, June 30, will be enlivened by the mammoth parade and the grand ball. A tightly packed program of games, contests, special acts, displays and a wide variety of people-pleasing activities has been arranged for each day and night of the festival.

Another event of considerable importance scheduled for the week of June 25-30, is the annual North End Club's Fair at Ashtabula. The industrial and cultural might of that corner of Ohio will be on exhibition in a gigantic tent pitched along the shores of Lake Erie.

'Boat Beauty' Stresses Safety

HERE'S ONE GIRL who can paddle her own canoe. She's "Miss Columbus Power Squadron," Rosalie Evans, who knows that the paddle, while not required in large boats, is recommended in case of emergency. It may be used as a rudder for fending-off to avoid collision. Of course, it can be even used for a paddle. The backers of National Safe Boating Week, July 1-7, have pointed out that it is a good idea to carry other equipment such as anchor, line, first aid kit, flashlight, distress flares and lifesaving devices to be used if needed. Most states have boating requirements and "old salts of the sea" are urged to know them.

By ED CHURCHILL

There is probably no more peacefulness, or ease-of-mind than that which can be found in nature, and there is no better place to get close to nature than in its most beautiful Ohio state, than in any one of the 54 state parks in the most scenic locations in Ohio.

Ohio owns 85,000 acres of state park area, of which the waterways comprise 47,000 acres, and that doesn't even include Ohio's share of Lake Erie.

The table above shows the categorized facilities made available to vacationers or persons just looking for a spot to have a Sunday afternoon picnic.

There is also a fine system of roadside parks operated by the state, which is noted as one of the best systems in the country.

Some of the diversions that can be found in state parks are, picnicking, swimming, fishing, boating, motor-boating, tent camping, trail hiking and nature study. Of course all the the facilities won't be found in every park, but to get information on the park you are interested in, or on all the parks, write to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Parks, 1500 Dublin-rd, Columbus 12, Ohio.

Tour County, Country, And World

HAWAII BOUND tourists, 70-strong, travelled by air to San Francisco, toured four Hawaiian islands and returned with a stop in San Francisco, during the two-weeks' tour conducted by the YWCA this spring. A trip to Seattle World's Fair is also planned in July as well as many short-term tours this summer. Information on day-long and weekend trips as well as vacation tours are available by calling Miss Rowena Kessler at the YWCA.

By BETTY DAFT

From points of interest within the city via school bus in its infancy, to fabulous trips abroad on a chartered airliner — the YWCA-sponsored tour program has come of age.

Introduced 21 years ago by Miss Rowena Kesler in the days when wartime gasoline rationing made sightseeing difficult, the early tours were short ones to local factories and settlement houses.

With the war over, the idea was free to expand and grow it did with the sterling rapidity of any fledgling.

The first trip to Europe in 1961 was followed last year by a two-week tour of the American West. A group of 90 joined the tour to Hawaii this spring, and 40 are registered for the trip to Seattle World's Fair in July.

Already in the planning stage is another tour of Europe, this time concentrating on the Scandinavian countries, for next year.

And whenever the plan becomes feasible, a tour to Mars with side trips to points of interest in the galaxy, will most certainly be part of the YW's pro-

The many short trips, held throughout the summer, are as interesting and varied as the more ambitious treks.

Emphasis is on pleasure, new sights and cultural experiences, and are planned to interest everyone looking for short-time escapes from the usual, workaday world.

A weekend in Detroit, a one-day trip to Cleveland and Malabar Farm, a weekend at Lake Erie's playgrounds and dinner and an evening of racing at Scioto Downs have been held this

Farm Party Next

Costs of outings are modest. A farm party and chicken picnic Saturday, June 30, with stops at Farmers' Exchange in Grove City, the alfalfa dehydration plant in Ashville and Pickaway dairy herd, including a picnic luncheon in Circleville Park is priced at $2.50 for the YWCA members and $3 for non Dinner and a tour of Green Meadows Country Inn near Worthington is planned July 12. Cost of the entire evening is $5 and $5.50.

Starlight special, a visit to Perkins Observatory, Sept. 27, will include a view of the fall skies and a telescope lecture and is priced at $3 and $2.50.

An average of 100 tourists join each of the short trips. The comradeship of many people with a single, shared interest characterize each tour.

According to Miss Kesler the tourists are varied, including some couples and family groups although most are single people.

All are seeking pleasure, the fun and excitement of new experiences free from the responsibility of driving and planning.

Everyone is welcome to join the tours. More information is available by calling Miss Kesler at the YWCA, CA. 4-9121.

Carport Patio A Space Stretcher

In searching for expandable space around the home when the need arises—many people look first at the attached garage.

Because it's often an integral part of the house, it's logically convertible into a part of the home's living area.

The next question, of course; is — "What happens to the car, the children's bikes, garden tools and all the rest that goes into a typical garage?"

An ideal solution can be found in a combination carport-patio which offers a bonus of ample

One side offers year-round weather protection for the family car while the other half of the overhang serves as a shelter for outdoor family activities.

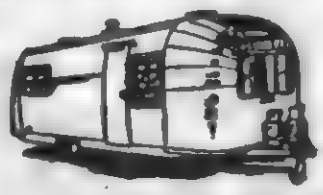
65-Lb. Catfish Caught In Ohio



Ohio anglers continue to catch fish which break existing state records. Latest in the series is a 65-pound flathead catfish taken from Clendening Lake on May 25, by Elmer Affolter, Jr., Uhrichsville. The giant cat was 45 inches long and had a girth of 30 inches. It was taken on a drop line in eight feet of water, according to word received from Walt Begland, Muskingum Conservancy District, New Philadelphia.

The present state record is 84 pounds and is held by C. Richard, Belle Valley angler, who took his record-size flathead cat in the Muskingum River in 1960. This information is from the state record fish list as compiled and approved by the Outdoor Writers of Ohio, Inc. Affolter's big cat must be approved by the record fish committee of the Outdoor Writers before it is officially listed as a state record.

Discourage Burglars While Away

Prepared as a Public Service by the Burglary Prevention Week Advisory Committee, 11 E. Morgan St., Chicago 7, Illinois.

A darkened house, or a light that burns all night, attracts burglars. Use automatic timer to turn lights ON and OFF each evening. This makes house look lived-in and is a good protective measure.

Tightly drawn blinds may keep the sun out, but also betray your "absence." Leave curtains and blinds as you normally would, when home.

A littered porch and lawn means you're away. Arrange to have mail held and all deliveries suspended during your absence. Ask a neighbor to sweep your sidewalk and mow your lawn, too.

Tell one neighbor and local police of the dates you'll be away. They can keep an eye on things during your absence.

Securely lock all doors and windows. Use safety latches on doors and windows, too. Don't make a burglar's job easy!

Keep garage doors closed. An empty garage, with the doors open, indicates no one is home. It's a good idea to keep garden tools and ladders locked up, too. Otherwise a prowler may use them to get into your home.

Dried Flower Bouquets Should Be Planned Now

Only a few common garden flowers reliably retain their form and color for winter bouquets unless special drying techniques are used. Included in this group are the cockscomb, globe amaranth, strawflowers, Statice, baby's breath and bells of Ireland.

It is easy to prepare these flowers for dried arrangements. Just cut the stems when the flowers are mature and well colored. Remove foliage, bunch the stems loosely and hang upside down in a dark, airy place.

In several weeks when they are fully dried, take down and store in dust-proof boxes until you're ready to use them.

Seed heads or "plumes" of certain ornamental grasses also add an interesting touch to dried arrangements. Fountain grass (Pennisetum), quaking oats and pampas grass are three types that can be easily grown in the garden.

Among the biennials, the seed pods of the Chinese lantern plant and Lunaria (often called honesty) are suitable for drying. From seed, these two varieties take two seasons to develop pods.

For more variety in the materials you plan to use in dried arrangements, grow strawberry corn, Job's tears and gourds.

Some Passport Tips For That Overseas Trip

Want to know where and how to apply for a passport? All U.S. passport agencies and any court authorized by law to naturalize citizens, or (in small towns) your post office can give you a passport.

You can take care of the matter all at one time if you appear in person, accompanied by an identifying witness who is an American citizen and has known you two years or longer.

Dress Up Garden Fence With Suitable Plants

Whether you plan to put up a fence for practical purposes such as a property divider or for privacy, or a fence for purely decorative reasons — be sure to give serious thought to what is already planted and what you plan to plant later.

If vines that climb with twining stems are to be grown, an openwork sort of fence will be needed.

Any of the small-flowered clematis, so delicate in growth as well as flower, will be attractive on a simple picket fence.

A particularly sturdy fence is needed for heavy, woody vines such as wistaria or trumpet creeper.

Either a hurdle or three-rail fence will be strong enough to support their heavy growth.

They will need severe pruning each year, however, to keep them from growing too rampant.

Roses, on the other hand, are suitable for several kinds of fencing.

They are equally at home on a low post-and-rail fence, which serves only as a boundary marker, or on a high board fence erected as a screen.

If allowed to grow naturally, the ramblers with thin pliable canes will make an informal mass on a low fence.

Fences also make fine backgrounds for various other types of planting.

A taller fence with solid base boards and small lattice panels above will make an interesting background for a planting of tall perennials such as delphinium and hollyhock.

A specimen tree such as an apple or weeping cherry, planted behind either type of fence, will complete the picture and add both character and beauty to the garden scheme.

It's Season For Big Itch; Here's What To Do About It

Once again comes the season of the Big Itch—poison ivy, that is.

Sooner or later almost everyone gets a touch of poison ivy. Even the apartment dweller whose nearest contact with nature is an occasional stroll in the park can become a victim. There usually is poison ivy in the park.

Even if you stay on the sidewalks exclusively, your dog may run through the poison ivy vines and bring it back to you. Or your neighbor may burn some leaves and thereby send tiny droplets of the oil in poison ivy into the air to settle on your skin.

Poison ivy and its close kin, poison oak, are three-leafed climbing plants. On the ground they are about a foot high, but more often they climb up walls, fences and trees. Sometimes they are mixed with honeysuckle, morning glories and other climbing plants. Poison sumac is a small shrub with small white berries. The effect of all three is the same—a stinging, itching patch of blisters. Discomfort is acute. If the rash is spread over a considerable portion of the body, it can become a serious affair.

There is no cure for poison ivy. There are lotions and ointments that will ease the pain and itching while it runs its course. Because there is no cure, the quacks offer a wide variety of claimed cures. Save your money.

Poison ivy puts hundreds in hospitals every year and thousands more go at least once to a physician to get relief. If the face or eyes are involved, by all means see a doctor quickly.

The best precaution against poison ivy is to know how to recognize the plants and avoid them. Any natural history book and many encyclopedias have photos of the plants. The main identifying factor is the three-leafed twig.

If you have been exposed, wash thoroughly, several times, using plenty of soap and hot water. You may be able to get at least some of the oil off before it irritates the skin. If you get a light case, use calomine or some soothing lotion.

Some people, who never have had a poison ivy rash, think they are immune. The odds are that they've just been lucky. Very few are immune. Some are more susceptible than others, and these unlucky individuals develop the rash summer after summer.

Next time you go outside for gardening, make a careful search for poison ivy. If you find any, spray it with a strong weed killer or dig it out roots and all and dispose of it carefully. Clean the hoe and rake thoroughly, rubbing them in dry sand or dirt. The oil droplets can cling to tools and clothing for long periods.

Birds, Insects, Eggs In Fine Collection

A new historical society, built around one of the finest historical and natural history collections in Ohio, has been incorporated by five residents of Antwerp, Paulding County, where the society will be headquartered.

The new society is the Otto O. Ehrhart-Paulding County Historical Society. Its chief benefactor is Otto O. Ehrhart, who has offered his collection, conservatively valued at $15,000.

It contains more than 500 mounted birds of northern Ohio, some 7,000 insects, butterflies and moths, 1200 eggs of Ohio birds and practically all wild animals and snakes common to the region.

Ehrhart, now retired from commercial photography, has compiled his collection over the last 40 years. His hobby has made him known throughout Ohio and the midwest. Visitors to his home in Antwerp where he has housed his collection, have come from most states in the nation and as far away as Germany.

The historical society's permanent home will be the Antwerp City Hall.

Hammock Puts You In Lazy Swing

Think about a wonderful summer spent in the country years ago, and you're almost sure to put a hammock in the picture. Such soothing, swaying comfort.

Nowadays, even if you don't own a tree to hang it from, you can still have a hammock. The moveable steel frame will rest on the ground. A new 1962 model has a brightly-colored floral patern on a natural background. Another has a magazine pocket and a sunshade that attaches to the frame. Many new hammocks are water and mildew resistant.

For a wonderful sweet potato casserole, slice four boiled yams, two pared apples and one banana. Arrange in layers in a baking dish and pour over them a syrup made by boiling three-fourths cup sugar with one-half cup water until syrupy. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Here Are Tips To Aid Owner Of Home Pool

The backyard swimming pool for family and friends has become almost a way of life for hundreds of thousands of American families. Several million Americans will do most of their swimming this summer in their own pool or in the pool of a friend or neighbor.

All too often the private pool will be operated without regard for the absence of two protections long taken for granted at public pools: constant supervision by trained lifeguards, and a continual check on the condition of the water by public health experts.

If you have a pool of your own, or if you plan to swim in a friend's private pool, it is very important to make certain of precautions for safety.

- Situate the pool near the house for convenience and to permit a view of the youngsters' activities.
- Fence the pool or the entire area in which it is located. Use a good lock on the gate.
- A pool cover of nylon or vinyl is not very expensive, and may save a small toddler from falling into the water.
- Have a reaching pole handy at all times. A cane fishing pole will serve.
- Make sure all pool users know how to swim. The Red Cross and other agencies conduct classes each year for non-
- Mark water depths clearly and separate shallow and deep areas by a rope and buoys.
- Get a testing kit and check the pool water constantly for cleanliness.
- Use a filter, and check it once a week to clean out leaves and debris, making certain the filter is working properly.
- Add chlorine to the water to control spread of algae.
- Never swim alone nor allow anyone to go into your pool

Dresses Sport Bright, Gay Note

In gay cottons, lots and lots of elegant sheers, soft and supple silks, jacquards, linens . . . plain, embroidered, patterned, textured or printed . . . dress news is one of variety and elegance.

Top width, created by the many new sleeve and shoulder handlings is the dominan silhouette. Kimono, batwing and flaring cape-like sleeves are the more newsy sleeve detilings.

Hiplines are rounded; sheath shaping, easy fullness, slim-pleated skirts; below-the-waist shirring and other detail help suggest the new somewhat lower waistline.

Jackets, sweater, tunics, coats and other grace notes when added to the new dresses create the important ensemble look, so dominant throughout the spring fashion scene.

The overall look to dress fabrics is prettier, softer, more feminine — with more sheers shown.

Pale colors lead the dress parade and will follow through summer — especially in beige, smoky pearl grey and ivory.

For the day and date time, dresses are softer, play up a most feminine look and will please the most fastidious, the most demanding of fashion tastes.

Cooking, Loafing, Entertaining Are Part Of Recreation In Your Back Yard

By JACK ALLEN

The suburban living trend that is sweeping the area has encouraged still another trend—patio living.

Manufacturers have responded with the marketing of furniture not only to match the general decor of the house, but that is comfortable and practical for outdoor use.

A patio or breezeway can be outfitted as a living room, recreation room, den or dining room, completed with accessories of glass-topped coffee tables in wrought-iron and electric rotisserie-equipped charcoal grills with built-in fire starters.

Then there are the other things that make the outdoors another room, such as the patio lights that look like torches, candles or lanterns depending on the atmosphere desired.

For those who want to loaf there are hammocks, lounge chairs and handy snack trays. For entertaining, quite a selection of furniture styles is available in metal, wood and glass. Redwoods are weather resistant.

For outdoor dining, furnishings range from the casual picnic set, to the elaborate for high society. Whether the menu is hamburgers and iced tea, or steaks and cocktails, the setting is available.

If it's the little things that count, a wide range of salt and pepper shakers, cooking utensils, aprons and caps have not been forgotten.

To complete the scene even the general construction of the patio and surrounding fences and hedges can be selected from a wide array of wood, stone, block, metal, glass, concrete and synthetic materials.

IN MOST HOMES today, the back yard is at least a well equipped playground and picnic area. Mr. and Mrs. Craig Spangler, 7307 Warwick-dr, make extra points with sons, Gregg and Brian, sounding the dinner bell outside. Spilled milk isn't nearly as tragic as in the dining room, and oh that aroma!

Coverings and finishes resist weather and much of the furniture folds or has wheels for easy moving and storage. And the sun and rain will cause little wear or damage when the owner invests in the latest item marketed, attractive, fitted covers.

So, if you want to loaf, eat or entertain, survey that back or side yard. Visualize a canopy-decked stone slab, add a lounge, some chairs, tables, torch bug lights, a grill of hot coals topped with steaks cooking and a cool glass of your favorite beverage. Relax and enjoy the great outdoors.

June brides and grooms, take note: The American Bankers Association reports that the first 18 months of married life are the hardest financially. If a young couple is still solvent at the end of this period, they have a good chance of remaining so the rest of their married life.

Elegant Patio Fireplace Is Easy To Build

Although barbecues can be prepared on portable grills a permanent fireplace will make your yard a real center for warm-weather hospitality.

Make the construction of the fireplace a family project and you'll have as much fun building as using it.

Here, from home economists, are some pointers on building it:

1) Locate your outdoor fireplace so that it faces in the direction of the wind. This will provide a better draft and carry smoke away from front.

2) Select a high spot or small mound for its location to provide for natural drainage.

3) A solid base, support is essential, so the foundation should be made of concrete. Where subject to frost, the concrete foundation should extend about four inches below frost line. Where not subject to frost, a firm bed of gravel or cinders will do.

4) Choose the type of material that harmonizes with your home. Brick, stone and concrete blocks are widely used for a variety of settings. If ordinary field stones are used, be sure they are the least porous types to prevent cracking from moisture and freezing.

5) The firebox, flue, and other inner areas in contact with flame and heat should be lined with firebrick to avoid chipping and other damage from temperature changes.

Plan Ahead For Summer Fun

It's time to start planning for barbecue and picnic fun. When the man of the house comes in and says, "let's eat outside!"—be prepared.

Albers supermarkets are one-stop headquarters for barbecuing needs. Buy foods that require no kitchen preparation. Add a bag of charcoal, a fire starter, paper plates, napkins and cupts and you've an easy outdoor meal that's economical too!

Meat To Grill

The selection of meats in the supermarket is wide and varied. Fully-cooked ham slices grilled with slices of pineapple is a perfect combination. Steak is always popular. Buy a thick cut of sirloin and serve slices instead of individual steak. Minute steaks, Canadian bacon, thick slices of bologna, lamb chops or fish basted with your favorite barbecue sauce is always a treat.

New Ideas

An easy trick is to grill frozen vegetables. Foil-wrapped, seasoned frozen vegetables, cook over hot coals in 15 to 20 minutes.

Fresh tomatoes sliced, seasoned with salt, freshly ground pepper and butter can be wrapped in foil and grilled over hot coals for 10 minutes; skewered tomato wedges grill equally well.

Free Recipe Folder

My "Cook Book of Barbecue Recipes" contains directions for meat marinades and sauces plus an excellent chart "20 Meats for Outdoor Cooking." For a free copy, write to me, Nancy Carter, P.O. Box 4388, Atlanta 2, Ga.

Here is a good ground beef recipe that takes just a short time to prepare for grilling.

Hamburger "Wieners"

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon worchestershire sauce
⅛ clove garlic, minced
¼ cup finely chopped onion
8 slices bacon
8 wiener rolls

Lightly combine beef, seasonings, garlic and onion. Shape into eight "wieners" and wrap with bacon; fasten with pick. Place between hinged wire broiler. Grill over hot coals, turning often, until bacon is crisp and meat is done the way you like it. Serve in grill-toasted wiener rolls. Makes four servings, two each.

Cameras Play A Star Role In Vacation Picture

The camera is wonderful, too, for summer stay-at-homes who find fun and adventure in their backyards and at local places of interest.

So whether you're packing a picnic basket or 'round-the-world suitcase—don't forget to include that camera, and lots of film, in your vacation picture.

One of Alexander Hamilton's first acts as U.S. Treasurer was to borrow $30,000 from the Bank of New York in order to start the business of the United States.

Communities Line Up Lively July 4th Events

THE WESKETS, girls' precision marching group from West High School, will carry this 31-foot American flag in the 9 a.m. July 4 parade, on Northwest-blvd, in Upper Arlington. James Hill, instrumental and band instructor at West, directs the group. The flag was made of nylon taffeta by Mrs. Starling Latham, mother of one of the Weskets.

Georgian Heights Parade Starts At 11 A.M.; Show At 7:30 To Precede Hilltop Fireworks

Free entertainment with almost as much sparkle as the fireworks has been promised for this year's Fourth of July celebration on the Hilltop.

It will all happen shortly after the gates open at 6 p.m. Wednesday at West High's Magly Field. The Hilltop Lions this year will again be the happy hosts to thousands. It's their thank-you for community support in their fund raising projects.

The entertainment, featuring a headliner act from Hollywood, will start at 7:30. Clark Smith of WLW-TV will be the emcee. General Chairman Wayne Brunner said a large assortment of fireworks, many of them new varieties, will be shot off soon after 8:45 p.m.

West Side talent scout, Kay Smith, just home from a two-month stay at Mt. Carmel Hospital following an auto accident, kept her bedside telephone busy and has come up with the following acts for the celebration:

- Lucky Carson and his wonder horse "Chief" who played in Hollywood films with Clark Gable, Van Johnson and John Wayne.
- The Stewart Brothers, TV and radio personalities, in a trio of vocals to accompaniment of electric guitars and bass.
- The Debettes, teenage dance line who have performed at conventions and shows in major cities.
- Dusty Rhodes, slapstick comedian and tapdancer in funny costume.

All acts will be performed on a portable flat-bed trailer, equipped with loudspeaker.

During the evening, Lions and their ladies will sell soft drinks, hot dogs, pop corn, potato chips and ice cream. Special duty policemen will help control the crowd. An attendance of 5,000 to 8,000 is anticipated, said publicity man Jim Bradshaw.

A few moments of the time will be devoted to introduction of Lion candidate of King of the Hill" Robert Case of 238 Powhatan-av. Case is one of four men in the race for king who will reign at the Hilltop Bean Dinner later this month.

Chairman Brunner has two assistants in his planning, Bob Foster and Dick Gilber. Mrs Jean Strickler is in charge of refreshments

A Lions spokesman said the $700 outlay for fireworks is money not raised from public solicitation.

What about a rain date? The Lions simply don't believe that it will rain on the Fourth of July Fun Elsewhere Too!

Georgian Heights (far west off Sullivant-av) will feature a street parade at 11 a.m., following the crowning of Queen Patty German. The Civic Association will award prizes to winning floats and ticket holders at the Georgian Heights school after the parade There will be ball games starting at 1 p.m

West High School's stunning all-girl majorette corps, the Weskets, will carry a spectacular 31-foot American flag in the 9 a.m July 4 parade in Upper Arlington The flag was made of nylon taffeta by Mrs Starling Latham, 3123 Ellis-pl, whose daughter is one of the Weskets.

Southview Park, on Green lawn-av, just west of the river, will be the scene of a big celebration put on by the South Side. Activities start at 2 p.m. and the fireworks at 9.

Hall Ridge Club will again have afternoon swimming events and evening fireworks open to members and out-of-town guests.

There will be no celebration at Jets Stadium this year. The Jets are out of town.

One of the largest events in Central Ohio will be at Ashville, a three-day fish-fry and entertainment blast winding up with fireworks at 11 p.m. Wednesday

Rate Analysis Should Help Solve Some Problems

Some time ago Columbus City Council authorized spending about $27,000 for a survey of water and sewer rates. Such a survey had been recommended by the Development Committee for Greater Columbus after extensive study by that group of businessmen.

Water and sewer rates, services and extension of water and sewer service to new areas has been a touchy subject in this area for a long time. Through the years there has been a feeling on the part of suburban communities that the big parent, Columbus, has not "done right" by the outlying communities. When there has been such variation in rates and contracts and no apparent business-like method of determining rates, it would seem that they have some legs to stand on.

The rate survey is a move in the right direction. However, much of the merit of the survey could be destroyed or undermined through the fact that portions of the report have been presented via newspapers and already the subject is being battered back and forth before the report is actually completed.

It is hoped that the complete report can soon be digested by proper authorities and then presented to the public with some recommendations that will make it possible to bring about an equitable solution of our water and sewer problem.

Flowers Of The Week

A nice bouquet from Rosebud Floral to Chal Dyer, the retiring general executive of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA. Chal was honored this past week at a big party which he rightfully deserved. Many fine things have been made possible for the young and old alike through the YMCA as a result of the fine leadership of Dyer in the past 13 years in Columbus, topping a career of 43 years in the Y movement. We wish him well.

We Salute The Columbus General Depot

The Central Ohio area may well be proud of the many "good neighbors" we have up at the Columbus General Depot.

It was a pleasure to be the guest this past Friday of Gen. Walter A. Huntsberry, commanding officer of the depot. The immensity and importance of this installation is much more appreciated

The occasion was also used to honor Albert Miller, president of the Central Ohio Paper Co., who has been termed the founder of the base. It was Miller who suggested inland supply installations back at the time of World War I and then took active steps to bring the first one to Columbus.

Today the depot has approximately 12 million square feet of floor space with 30

Ticket Proceeds Will Help Build Swimming Pool

This is the theme of the Hilltop Lions Club's third annual summer carnival. It is scheduled to open next Monday, July 9, at Sullivant-av and Demorest-rd on a lot owned by Harry Haney, Hilltop druggist.

The Lions will contribute receipts from the one-week stand to the swimming pool fund of the Hilltop YMCA.

Popular Gooding Rides will be in operation from July 9 through 14. Hilltop merchants will have a generous supply of coupons that will admit the holders to any of the rides except the Mad Mouse for only 15 cents.

UCC Approves West Side Plan

The Board of Directors of the United Community Council on June 26 endorsed the proposed research project of urban conservation in the West Side, suggested by Gladden Community House.

Exploratory talks on the 10-year experiment were under way this week with federal Urban Renewal officials in Chicago.

Pony Tail Contest Set July 31

Little girls locks, from toddlers to 12-year-olds, are being brushed to perfection these days with the annual competition to determine whose pony tails are the prettiest of all less than a month away.

Sponsored by the West Rural-Urban News, The Hilltop Record and West Side News, the contest is open to all little girls living in the newspapers' circulation area.

Day of judging is Tuesday July 31, 2 p.m. at the Hilltop Bean Dinner, Westgate Park.

A panel of judges will select first, second and third place winners in each of three age groups—four and under, five through eight and nine through 12.

Five silver dollars will be awarded each first place winner with two silver dollars as second prizes and one silver dollar as third prizes.

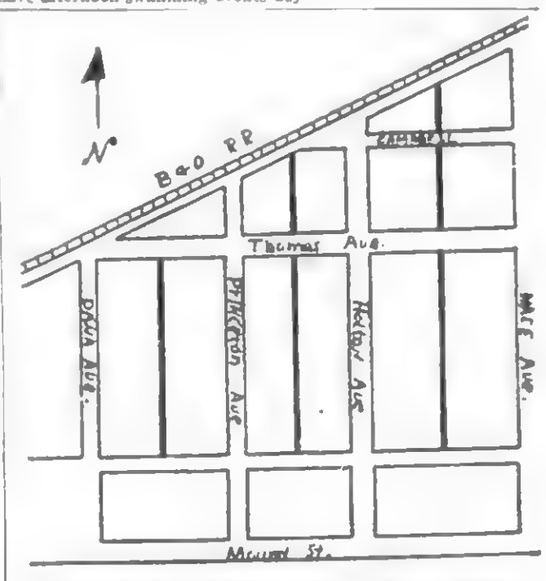
Difficulty Arises At Greenlawn

A new snarl in the Greenlawn-av complex has come before the City Traffic and Transportation Commission.

In a meeting held last week, Columbus Fire Chief Walter Strickfaden claimed his department was having difficulties (especially emergency runs) in negotiating vehicular entrance onto that street.

Strickfaden stated that there are seven entrance-exits from the complex onto Greenlawn and that there is need for some device to alert fast moving traffic of the danger involved when an emergency vehicle has to exit from the street. The Chief pointed out that there are no signals between High-st and Harmon-av which in his words was "quite a distance." Strickfaden had no specific recommendation but suggested that a survey be made to determine what was best.



Chief Engineer Kenneth S. Kline advised the group that a study was already underway and suggested meeting Chief Strickfaden at the complex to look over the problem further.

The engineer also suggested installing temporary signs or traffic signals as an emergency measure until something was done. However, the commission decided against this as the study was to be completed as readily as possible.

Cyclist, 82, Hurt

Frank Bohn, 82 - year - old motorcyclist was injured in a head-on collision with a car on the freeway Monday.

Police said Bohn, a resident of 1010 Pennsylvania-av, was driving in the wrong direction and hit the auto of John P. Morgan, 905 W. Town-st.

Now It's Round 3 In Street Debate

To properly settle a controversy, all sides should be heard. That's why the Traffic Committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council is shifting its meeting place to the United Pentacostal Church, corner of Ryan and Union-av, Thursday, July 5

The people of that area are divided on whether or not Walsh-av should remain open only to one-way traffic. Walsh, and two other streets were made one-way by the city last winter, at the request of the West Side council. First announcements of the plan drew no protests, but after the change was made some residents objected. Among other things, they said winter driving was made more hazardous.

As a result all streets except Walsh were returned to two-way. The Walsh people will have their say at 7:45 p.m. Thursday. Other West Side traffic matters will be taken up also.

A similar program, named the Franklinton project, was carried out with considerable success last year north of Broad-st in the West Side.

Glen Beach, chairman of the Health Committee, said most of the Hamilton Addition streets and alleys have been resurfaced or oiled. His group is now meeting with city officials with regard to improved street lights, storm sewers and placement of fireplugs.

Letters were sent earlier this week to each resident in the triangular area to determine if the people want a pedestrian tunnel under the B & O Railroad. Some parents of Dana Avenue and Starling Junior High School pupils fear for the safety of their children who cross the tracks on the way to school.

Al Wilder, council field worker, said a meeting with railroad officials will be arranged if enough people respond. Traffic matters recommended by the area residents' committee will be presented at the Traffic Committee meeting Thursday, July 5.

Great Western Merchants Plan 'Cruiser Lane Carnival Days'

Great Western Shoppers' Mart merchants are moving their merchandise outdoors—or at least part of it—during Sidewalk and Cruiser Lane Carnival Days — Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

During the three-day period, the east cruising lane at the center will resemble an old-time street market, with merchandise of every kind piled high on tables and the pavement.

"Merchants are going all out to provide special values during the carnival," according to Bill Trayte, executive secretary of the Great Western Business Association, "and they are firm in their belief that prices will be so attractive that items moved outside will never find their way back into the stores."

A carnival atmosphere will prevail, with midway and rides at reduced rates, free balloons for youngsters to be given away by a clown, an organ grinder and monkey, and hot dogs, soft drinks and popcorn at bargain prices.

Bales is a cannoneer in the infantry's mechanized battalion at Fort Campbell, Ky. He attended Hilliard High School.

Judge Calls For Better Knowledge

"Americans need to return again to the foundations of liberty and freedom, to drink deeply of their waters, become so full of their nourishing droughts that no one, no idea and no group will ever be capable of embarrassing us in any public discussion." This was the theme of the Independence Day address delivered by Judge Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, when he spoke at the Thursday noon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Judge Draper further pointed out that Americans need to stand up and speak for the things they believe in and that the dangers of loss of their liberty and freedom are quite prevalent due to the fact that too many Americans are afraid.

He asked the question, "What has caused us to be afraid to discuss and analyze unpopular ideas?"

"The Declaration of Independence still lives; the Constitution still blankets America with its restraints on government and freedom for the individual. All of our physical conditions are more conducive to greatness now than they were in 1776 and 1787. We merely need to fight for the things we believe in," he said.

Foundation Has Good Goals

An interesting program has had wide appeal to many people of this area was held at the Neil House July 1 to 4 — that of the National Health Federation. This group portrays the cross section of Americans who are crusading for health and liberty — two subjects that go well together.

The National Health Foundation is a non-profit organization that believes in the guarantee of freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of religion as provided for by the constitution. While freedom of health is implied, this group, along with millions of other Americans, today is deeply concerned about the loss of all of these freedoms through bureaucratic regulations imposed by the federal government.

Such a group is to be highly commended upon its insistence that "the spirit of America still lives".

Safer Boating Is Stressed

Boating has become one of our nation's most popular recreations in recent years. It is estimated that during 1962 some 35 million persons will take to the water, using upwards of eight million craft.

Understandably, this growth has brought with it concern for keeping boating a safe sport. Interested organizations have joined hands to sponsor National Safe Boating Week, July 1 through 7.

The committee includes representatives of the U.S. Coast Guard, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the Columbus Power Squadron, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, local boating clubs and marine dealers.

They are happy to report that programs to educate boatmen in safety are meeting with success. Despite the tremendous increase in boating, there has been no significant increase in boating accidents. In fact, the rate of serious boating mishaps is declining.

Here in Central Ohio, local representatives of these groups have joined to promote an observance of National Safe Boating Week.

A safety program like this, which has demonstrated its effectiveness in the past, deserves the continued support of the community. We wish the sponsors of National Safe Boating a good voyage.

Ohio's Green Fields And Forests Look Good After Seeing South's Arid Areas

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The green fields and forests of Ohio looked good after seeing some of the hot and drought-stricken sections in the South. While the southwestern coast of Florida is a fisherman's and naturalist's paradise, there are some other factors to consider—mainly, it is hot there right now and will remain so until October.

The Audubon Society's Corkscrew Sanctuary near Naples was devoid of water, and parts of the large tract of land were on fire. The forest fire had been burning for about two weeks when we were there, and only a rain could save this area which preserves the only virgin stand of cypress in the state. Fortunately, before we left, a shower seemed to have brought the fire under control.

This sanctuary should be a must on the list of every person who visits the Naples area. Even though the pools of water were dried up, most of the birdlife flown, and the alligators hibernating in dens, a trip to this forest is breathtaking. The trees are majestic, and the other plants growing in association with them are strange and interesting. Several of them are air plants and use the cypress trees only for support. In addition to the Spanish moss are some orchids. A board walk extends into the sanctuary for about three-quarters of a mile and provides easy access for an intimate glimpse of this primitive forest. A printed guide refers to numbers along the walk which point out the more unusual sights.

Another random note I made on the trip to Florida concerns the Great Smokies National Park on the border of Tennessee and North Carolina. The interesting thing here is that it is only one day's drive from this area. I do not believe that people in this vicinity realize that one of the great scenic wonders of the nation can be reached in one day from Central Ohio. With such easy access at hand, we plan to go back.

Bears And Indians

In addition to the scenery, there are other attractions. A one or two-week pack trip can be made by horseback starting from Gatlinburg and, I believe, one other location. Trout fishing is available in rock-strewn, tumbling streams. Wild black bears are seen rambling about the park, although we did not observe any. A campground is provided. Indians still live there, but many work for commercial establishments as tourist attractions. The Department of Interior maintains an Indian Affairs headquarters, however, and with a little time to spend you could probably meet some less commercial Indians.

The Great Smokies are precipitous, wild and beautiful, and were one of the bonuses of our trip.

Another note jotted on the back of an envelope brings to mind the great variety of outdoor sports available to Floridians. While the state is growing rapidly in population, some real hunting trophies can be found. Hunting for wild turkeys is reported to be good. Bobcats are seen crossing the roads at night. Bears and cougers still inhabit the everglades.

Great Variety Of Fish

In the fishing department all the adjectives have been overworked, but the variety found in both fresh and saltwater is great. Less spectacular are some other sports not well publicized, such as shelling, shrimping and oystering. Picking up sea shells can be fascinating and a lot of fun. I found that shrimping, oystering and clamming are looked upon as sport by many residents—the fine eating that results is a bonus.

Another impression of Florida that lingers, is that a large percentage of the people down there are formerly Ohioans. They are not just retired people but working people too. It seemed that at every gas station, orange juice stand, boat dock and motel, some one would come up and introduce himself and ask us what part of Ohio we were from. They apparently have a compulsion to admit that they left the state, but I found none who wanted to come back.

AROUND EDUCATIONAL CIRCLES

FOR CITY KIDS . . .

A problem common to many city dwellers today, how to provide study facilities for youngsters who are living in apartments, is under attack here by a Cincinnati area PTA. To promote study centers in apartments, parents and teachers designed several economical units to provide space for school and library materials, and to afford semi-privacy for study. Painted cardboard boxes are used as bookcases and as storage chests for toys. A bulletin board frame was fashioned by dowel sticks tied with strings and anchored in a box. Reusable, non-toxic gum was used for mounting pictures on walls.

TEACHER'S HELPER

High school students are being used to a large degree as secretarial assistants for teachers, according to a preliminary survey by the Ohio Education Association. Next to trained secretaries, high school students rank second

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

The beef you buy this week may be graded under a new system called "Dual Grading." The U.S. Department of Agriculture is offering the new service to packers on a trial basis for one year. It began July 1.

Mrs. Franks

The new service recognizes the consumer preference for high quality beef with less fat, and also provides the means for reflecting that preference back to the producer.

Almost a decade ago, the U. S. Agricultural Department foresaw the need for a grading system that would reflect the growing consumer demand for high quality beef with most of the fat trimmed away. As always, someone has to pay for this trimming; so it becomes another marketing cost.

To eliminate the need for trimming, researchers began to develop techniques which would maintain high quality beef standards, but would more fully recognize the merits of the "meat-type" steer. The "meat-type" steer is a beef animal which eats just as much grain as other cattle, but converts more of it into red meat and less of it to the heavy coating of fat which must be trimmed away by the retailer.

In dual grading, there are two separate grades for a beef carcass. One is a quality grade—the other a yield grade.

The quality grades under "Dual Grading" are essentially the same as at present. The grade names are the same, namely prime, choice, good, etc., and will mean the same as always with respect to eating quality.

The new yield grades provide a new measure of beef value and indicate how much of the carcass weight can be sold as trimmed cuts. Six numerical grades will be used, ranging from number one to indicate the highest yield to number six which indicates the lowest yield. They bear no relation to the quality grades—prime, choice, etc.

What will the new service mean to you, a consumer? The service carries the ultimate promise of increased supplies of high quality beef, bred especially to suit consumer preferences, just as the broiler-fryer, the modern turkey, and the meat-type hog have been bred to suit these preferences.

'Envoy Look' Could Wreck Our Image

The "envoy look" . . . "characterized by a one-button suit."

Whatever in the sam hill it is, that's what the International Association of Clothing Designers has up its frilly sleeves for the American male "next year."

The "envoy look?" That has me puzzled. What exactly does an envoy look like? I thought they were just normal looking fellows, some fat, some skinny, some tall, some short, with various in-between combinations. I certainly had no idea they were running around with only one button.

But assuming these poor souls are limited to one button—where? I'm inclined to think that if that single button isn't strategically placed for the most advantageous use, our envoys could create a very unfavorable — or embarrassing, to say the least — American "image" as they scoot about the world in pursuit of their envoy chores.

I've heard about the missile gap. Is there another gap I've missed? No wonder we're lagging in the cold war. How can we expect to gain ground if we can't afford to pay our envoys enough so they can afford a proper amount of buttons?

But there's more than just a button crisis. According to the International Designers who recently met in Atlantic City, envoys' apparel also features "piped" pockets, minus flaps, pulled in waists and trousers without cuffs.

Holy smokes! What's with our State Department? Why does it permit such oddly dressed creatures to represent America?

Another thing — where in blue blazes are the House Un-American Committee probers when we really need them. I'll tell you where they are. They're up in Cleveland trying to dig out a few stupid Reds who failed to register.

Well, those probers had better hike right back to Washington and clean out the subversives in the State Department who are responsible for the button crisis.

Then they had better hustle up to Atlantic City and take care of those designers who are plotting to make the American male the laughing stock of the world.

And they had better move fast before any new gaps become critical. If they don't, we American males may find out what a real cold war is come winter.

There's Room For Christian Exploration

We definitely are living in an age of adventure and exploration.

There seemingly isn't anything new that a man won't try to do if he thinks he can succeed. And there is no new place that a man won't try to go if he thinks there is a chance that he might make it.

The whole of life may be likened unto an exploratory adventure. All human life—children and adults as well—becomes an integral and indispensible cog in this whole scheme. The writer of the book of Proverbs sensed this when he wrote out his manuscript, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths."

As each new adventure became a magnificent new experience the Psalmist exclaimed, "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament [illegible] His handiwork."

We are adventuring into the unknown. Exploration into space undoubtedly is occupying the number one spot in the minds of many people today. By 1968 the plans are to have a man on the moon. By the year 2000 the experts hope to have a man on Saturn or Jupiter, and possibly others

In exploration in the field of sports we witness everything from the tortoise and the hare to the Indianapolis speedster for entertainment and thrills. Here we learn an unforgettable lesson, "A quitter never wins, and a winner never quits."

The exploration into life itself is not to be minimized in any sense of the word. Christ ordered His soldiers to move out and take live captives. His command to His disciples was that they were to become the commandos, who eventually would be skilled, and trained and capable.

We need seriously to explore the realms of character building. Character is what you are; it is what you are when you see yourself in the mirror, and this goes deeper than physical beauty. It might be represented again by the kind of apples you put in the bottom of the bushel.

Every seeking and hoping person may well remember the clever testimony of James Garfield who said, "I aim to make myself a man, and if I succeed at this I shall succeed at everything else."

A Fan Letter . . .

Just a few lines to express my appreciation of the quotations on "What Is Freedom" in this week's Reynoldsburg Record. Also "Leftovers" by John McPeek. "Something For Nothing" seems to be the trend today. His article is very apropos.

Interesting too is the first-hand information on the Billie Sol Estes case by Joe French.

Praises Police Story

I am writing to you in regard to an article Mrs. Betty Daft wrote for Hartley publications June 13 and 14. A copy of this article was sent to me and I have been able to locate you by inquiring of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

The article "Iranian Finds Love, Sorrow, Sympathy Here," was illustrated with pictures of Captain Jahangiri of the Iranian National Police Force with Chief Scholer of the Columbus force and one of the late Mrs. Jahangiri.

I am interested in securing more copies of this fine article.

My husband and I were in Iran for five years where Mr. Rees was with our U.S. Point Four program, now called A.I.D. (Agency for International Development). While there, I had the enriching and highly rewarding experience of helping some of the Iranians with their English, preparatory to their coming to the U.S. where they were to study in their particular fields.

It so happens that Capain Jahangiri was one of my students and one of whom I was especially fond. A few days after his marriage he brought his bride to Chicago, our home, for me to meet her. I had written her later, answering some questions she had asked me about her life in Tehran which she was eagerly looking forward to. My last letter reached her the day she passed away.

The two letters from Captain Jahangiri, one written from Columbus following his wife's death, and one received a few days ago from Washington where he was completing arrangements for his trip back to Iran, are without doubt the saddest I have ever read. He appreciated so very much all that the Columbus Police Department did for him in his time of sorrow.

Your article was so beautifully written.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. AUBLE, JR.

Arrangements of white delphinium, gladioli and pompons with palms decorated the chancel and altar of Ohio Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, and satin bows with pompons and ferns marked the pews for the wedding of Miss Sharen Ethel Boquist and Mr. John H. Auble, Jr, Saturday, June 23.

Rev. Glendon Herbert read the double-ring marriage service at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Boquist, 1191 Whittier-st, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Florence Auble, 118 Maplewood and Mr. John H. Auble, 789 Dennison-av.

The bridal gown of ivory peau de soie was designed with a shallow scooped neckline, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt, continuing into a chapel train. Bands of pearls and sequin beads outlined the neckline and extended down the front of the fitted bodice, and were used in floral motifs scattered throughout the sleeves, skirt and bustle bow in back.

A matching cabachon rose with beaded petals and pendants and pearls and sequins worn forward on the forehead, held her veil, and she carried a cabachon rose fashioned of full blown white rose petals surrounded by calidium leaves.

Mrs. Jack Cheek served as matron of honor for her sister and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Trott, Miss Judy Winten, Miss Sharon Tack and Miss Carol Driggs.

They were identically gowned in pastel blue frocks fashioned with lace skirts and three-quarter length sleeves and bell-shaped skirts of taffeta.

Matching headpieces were similarly styled to the one worn by the bride. The honor attendant carried a fan of velvet tubing with pink feathered carnations and American beauty rosebuds and the others carried fans with feathered pink carnations centered with American beauty cabbage roses.

Kathie Cheek, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a white embroidered organdy frock with wide blue sash and bustle bow of organdy, and a halo of blue pompons. She scattered rose petals along the aisle from a white basket edged with gold.

Mr. Richard Shipley served as bestman and guests were seated by Mr. Ronald Auble, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. William Teague, Mr. Bernard Karsko and Mr. Edward Nicholson.

Hostesses for the reception held following the ceremony at the church were Miss Mary Ann Spurgeon, Miss Joyce Redmond, Miss Karen Inscho, Miss Carolyn Williams and Miss Sharon Harte.

The new Mrs. Auble was graduated from South High School and is employed as medical records clerk at University Hospital.

Mr. Auble was graduated from Whitehall High School and studied at Ohio State University, College of Journalism.

He is associated with Hartley Newspapers as editor of the South Side Leader and Eastern Review, and city sports editor. He is also a sport writer for the Columbus Dispatch.

Following a wedding trip to Pike Lake the couple will be at home at 284 Gould-rd, Apt. 2B after July 2.

'Those Wonderful Years' Reviewed By Kiwanikwe

A crowd of 96 let their memories wander through "Those Wonderful Years" last Tuesday evening, June 26, at the 14th annual Kiwanikwe birthday party at King's Inn.

The program featured a take-off of the Garry Moore Show, highlighting past birthday parties and events of each president's term through the past 14 years. The theme song music, "Those Wonderful Years," was sent to the club from the New York show.

The "Kitchen Kabinet Band" of a few years back was re-formed as well as the chorus. Joe Goodwin, the only male member of the cast, and Mrs. Bruce Tanner sashed their way through the "Charleston," while Mrs. Bud Morrison twisted through the latest dance craze with some male audience participation.

Mrs. Don Treacy was program chairman as well as narrator. Mrs. Wilbur Ehlers and Mrs. Moss Williams were in charge of the party. Mrs. Bruce Tanner is this year's Kiwanikwe president.

Miss Judith Culler Becomes Bride Of Mr. Pierce Denman Saturday

MRS. PIERCE H. DENMAN, JR.

Miss Judith Carol Culler and Mr. Pierce H. Denman, Jr. were united in marriage on June 30. Fr. McKenna performed the 11:30 a.m. ceremony at St. Patrick's Church.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Byrene W. Culler, 98 S. Huron-av. Mr. Denman is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Denman, 3267 Swansea-rd, and Mr. Pierce H. Denman, 2697 Northwest-blvd.

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length silk organza sheath gown with a scooped neckline and long sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace fashioned the skirt and the scalloped edge formed the hemline. The removable bouffant chapel train was accented at the waist by a satin belt and tailored bow at the back.

Mrs. Pat Brown served as matron of honor. Other attendants were Peggy Prout, Ce Ce Dooley and Cynthia Weatherhead.

They were floor-length sheath dresses of aqua taffeta with removable trains of a deeper tone. Matching pill box hats with circular veils completed their ensembles. They carried sheath design bouquets of blue delphinium florets.

Mr. Michael Kane was best man and ushers were Mr. Gene Berman, Mr. Robert Heaney and Mr. Pat LaRosa.

A reception for the couple was held that afternoon at Corpus Christi recreation hall. Hostesses were Nancy Hildenbrand, Janet Durbin, Toni Zenker and Vicki Hook.

Hilltop Explorer Scout Awarded Eagle Rank

Scouting's highest rank, Eagle, which is earned by only a small percentage of those enrolled in the Scouting program, was presented recently to a Hilltop Explorer Scout.

John David Hallsteine, 17, of Post 33, Westgate Methodist Church, was the recipient of the Eagle Award in a ceremony held Sunday, June 24, in the church.

The invocation was given by Rev. Sydney Everson, pastor of the sponsoring institution. Explorer Bob Wood conducted the welcome ceremony which was followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Then, after seven years of Scout and Explorer work which covered such fields as aquatics, sports, citizenship, and public service, Hallsteine was presented the silver Eagle badge, the symbol of the rank, by Post Advisor Arthur Beaird.

David, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hallsteine, 261 S. Algonquin, is a June graduate of West High School and will attend the Education College of Wittenberg University next fall. He is a member of Hilltop Lutheran Church.

John D. Hallsteine

Among his scout honors was his selection in 1959 as Explorer of the Year in Post 33. Hallsteine has been an Ordeal member in the Order of the Arrow for one and a half years.

Among the 21 merit badges needed for the Eagle rank and not among the 11 required were these elective ones: Fishing, wildlife management, art, journalism and woodcarving. Hallsteine's hobbies are a knives collection and sports—football and baseball being his favorites.

Buckeye Wing Seeks 'Recruits' —Jump Trained

The Buckeye Wing is looking for "recruits" who are former Army or Maine enlisted paratroopers.

The Air Force Reserve Troop Carrier Wing isn't trying to start its own paratroop unit.

July 1 the 302d Troop Carrier Wing was authorized loadmaster personnel within its troop carrier squadrons.

Loadmasters secure the cargo hauled in C-119 "Flying Boxcars" and during heavy cargo drops by parachute make sure the cargo leaves the aircraft.

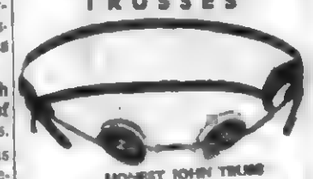
The Air Force wants to make sure the loadmaster knows how to use his parachute, so it requires him to be jump qualified.

The 302d TCW is located at Clinton County AFB near Wilmington.

Air Force Reserve loadmasters are paid base pay plus incentive pay. Members of the 302d train one weekend a month and 15 days during the summer. Details on the loadmaster openings are available at the 302d TCW personnel office.

Tax Assistance For Vendors Is Now Available

All persons with Ohio Vendor's licenses have to file their semi-annual sales tax returns by July 31, for the period January 1 to June 30, according to the Department of Taxation.



The department has arranged to have an examiner at the First District Office, 240 Parsons-av, telephone CA. 1-1265, Ext. 242, and the Central Office, 68 E. Gay-st, third floor, July 1 through July 31.

Vendors seeking assistance from examiners will be required to present all records necessary to substantiate the figures to be reported.

All returns must be filed with or mailed to the Treasurer of State, P. O. Box 1799, Columbus.

Information on the revisions in the sales tax law which became effective Jan. 1, 1962, should consult a representative of the department. This applies to vendors filing either monthly or semi-annual sales tax returns also.

To all little old ladies on busy street corners:

You may have to find your own way across, ma'm, the Boy Scouts are thinking about concentrating on a civic matter.

Paul W. Handel, Scout executive for the Central Ohio Boy Scout Council, said in a letter to Wright Erion, Smoke Regulation executive, that the group "is seriously considering taking up the crusade against ragweed" in the area.

Erion's story on his intentions to rid the area of ragweed was printed in this newspaper a few weeks ago. At that time, Erion said that he thought the Boy Scouts could help in the battle.

"We appreciate your confidence in the Boy Scouts of America," said Handel in his letter. "I am turning the matter over to Byron Redman, Jr., BSA civic affairs chairman, for consideration."

Erion is so happy over the response that he's ready to design a new merit badge for meritorious service in the detection and destruction of ragweed.

And he's seemingly not alone in his elation. Fifty thousand hay fever sufferers in the Columbus area should be as proud as a grade school lad passing his Tenderfoot requirements.

Erion feels that the city administration will give him little help in the matter.

J. R. Lowwill, superintendent of Parks and Forestry, said Monday that "the problem is too big for us to even approach."

The city has an ordinance against letting weeds grow but the city won't cut them down in vacant lots.

According to Kay Barber, Lowwill's secretary, complaints are sent a printed form which is returned giving the location of the lot. Then the Parks and Forestry Department contacts the landowners and asks them to mow the weeds within five days.

If no action comes, the matter is turned over to the city prosecutor.

"We can't mow them," Lowwill added. "We get 10 or 12 calls a day asking to mow vacant lots and we just can't handle it. We don't have the manpower or the equipment."

The Parks Department has 100 full-time men to care for more than 80 city parks. Thirty part-time workers aid in the summertime. A survey is being made now to see whether even this is adequate.

Lowwill feels his department is understaffed. "We're pretty thin," he said. "Our tongues are hanging out, I'll tell you that."

So, it may be up to the BSA and the BSA alone.

As Erion sees it, the project can be an educational one, too. The Scouts may be able to give talks to school classes informing students in the area on what ragweed looks like and urging them to pull any of the weeds they may see.

Of course, the Boy Scouts don't have mowing equipment, but Erion thinks they can make house-to-house canvasses, saying, "Lady, you have ragweed in your yard. We're having a crusade against it and we'll identify it for you."

"If we can get the help of the Scouts," said Erion, "we'll have a nice big chunk of the problem licked."

Incidentally, chronic hayfever ranks as the number three health problem in the nation, ranking with the number one disease, heart trouble.

One School District Not Just A Dream

By JACK L. ALLEN

County and local school district officials are not laughing at Dr. Harold H. Eibling's "pipe dream" of a single school district.

Although a little hesitant about commenting, County Superintendent Thomas Quick expressed a belief that such a plan, or one very similar to it, may be the answer to growing needs in public education which administrators foresee.

At present, Franklin County schools are discussing possibilities of a joint vocational plant, the first step towards the merging of finances, materials and buildings.

A current survey being conducted through the Ohio School Boards Association called "Ohio Project/School Finance," is looking for a solution to increasing costs for more technical secondary education.

At the same time, the Ohio Department of Education released a report that three other Ohio counties have come up with comparable figures to those of Franklin County, showing that 70 per cent of high school students are interested in more vocational program instruction.

Quick reports intermediate districts are catching on across the nation which do not dissolve small district identification. Eibling pointed out that this would be one of the objections to merging districts.

In studying the idea of a metropolitan district, Quick questioned the mechanics of such a large operation, especially how a downtown office can possibly handle area problems. He felt that sub-districts might be required.

The county official felt there might be some tax reduction, with little change in federal aid. Changes in state aid could not be so easily determined.

Quick believes more "working together" is the only possible answer to providing additional services. Organization of such a district would be up to the people as the law is presently written, but the more heavily populated areas probably would maintain administrative control since no ward system is provided for in school administration.

One school executive head, Robert Heischman of Reynoldsburg, echoed the county official's thoughts, pointing out that local identification and economic control would be lost for improved financial status and planning.

As Eibling pointed out, and Heischman agreed, a better utilization of equipment, personnel and buildings would be possible by the elimination of school district lines.

Talks of financial needs and a joint vocational school plant are expected to resume this fall when tabulations of surveys and ideas are completed.

Senior Given Appointment To Engineering College

James R. Brewer, 711 Queensway-dr, Grove City, has been appointed to General Motors Institute, an engineering college owned and operated by General Motors Corp., and located in Flint, Mich.

The institute, started in 1919, has developed into a large industrial educational institution with a student body of 2500.

Brewer, who formerly lived at 205 N. Haldy-av and graduated from West High School, will attend college on the cooperative plan, attending classes eight hours a day, five days a week, for six weeks, then returning to Columbus for a similar period for on-the-job training. Earnings received during the work experience periods are normally sufficient to cover instruction and living expenses while at school. Such earnings are more substantial than most scholarships.

Brewer will earn his engineering degree upon completion of the fifth-year phase of the program, and can under prescribed conditions, receive a Master's degree, from a participating graduate school, with further work.

Kiwanis Clubs Will Sponsor Jet Evening

At a meeting recently at Jet Stadium, the contracts were signed between Jet Manager Harold Cooper and all the Kiwanis Clubs in Central Ohio for another "All Central Ohio Kiwanis Club Evening," scheduled for July 18 at Jet Stadium.

The game will be between the Jets and the Atlanta Crackers.

Cooper made the statement that this has been a very successful arrangement with both organizations working toward the same goal; namely, the welfare of young boys and girls in Central Ohio.

All the monies raised by the Kiwanis Clubs by attendance on this special evening will be given to the clubs to spend on underprivileged children for various activities this coming year.

Present at the signing were Malcolm Pennell, West Franklin Club, and Dr. Bill Meyers, Newark Club, Lt. Governors of the 10th District; Frank Lossing, Downtown Club, Co-Chairman; the Jet's Larry Shepard and Cooper.

Absent for the meeting was Dr. Lou Chadwick, Northern Club, the other Co-Chairman.

Both Hilltop YMCA Little Nine Loops See Share Of Action

Here's a wrap up of Hilltop YMCA Little Nine loop action in both the American and National leagues:

NATIONAL

The Pirates won their second game of the season in the bottom of the last inning. The Giants were ahead, 2-0, going into the last inning. Their turn at bat gave them no more runs, but they had to hold the Pirates in order to win the game. The Pirates' first batter got on by an error of the pitcher.

The next man grounded out to the first baseman. Mike Johnson walked and two men were on base and Randy Horn belted a double, scoring Randy Friend and Mike Johnson. An [illegible] the second baseman advanced [illegible] to third, and Gary Wiseman hit a slow grounder scoring Horn to win, 3-2, over the Giants.

The winning pitcher was Dale Wiseman.

The Phillies came from behind, after giving up five runs in the first inning, to take the the Dodgers 6-5. The winning run was scored by Doug Davidson, and the winning pitcher was Bob Ganta. The Dodgers had five runs on three hits and the Phillies had six runs on no hits.

The Cardinals won their game with the Braves 6-1. However, the Cardinals' six run inning was a rally that saw only two hits. Both teams were held scoreless for four complete innings.

Bruce Humphrey started the Cardinal rally with [illegible] of the two hits that inning. Jim Zuiauf got the other hit of the Cardinals' half of the inning. The Braves had one run on one hit, and the Cardinals had five hits and six runs.

AMERICAN

The Indians won their second straight game by defeating the Orioles 6-4. After one complete inning the score was tied, 1-1. The Orioles were held scoreless for the next three innings, while the Indians racked up two more runs. The Orioles then rallied and scored three runs to go ahead, 4-3.

With two outs and a man on first, the Indians' catcher, Jim McVay, hit a smash to the third baseman who bobbled it and with men on first and [illegible], Bill McGee hit a double, scoring the tie run and the go ahead run. Gary Friand got an RBI by an error on the first baseman. The Indians' winning pitcher was Steve Hedges. The Orioles had four runs on three hits. The Indians had six hits for six runs.

The Tigers romped over the White Sox in their game last week, 12-3. The White Sox were held scoreless until the last two innings in which they scored their five runs. The Tigers scored their runs in the second, third, and fifth, the latter being the inning they scored nine runs on three hits. The winning pitcher was Mike Colegrave.

The Yankees dropped their game with the Senators in the last inning. The Yankees were ahead, 2-0, going into the top of the last inning.

Three walks and three errors blew the lid off the game for the Yankees, since in their half of the last inning they were unable to recover any of the runs and the Senators took their second straight win, 5-2. The winning pitcher was Jerry Thompson.

The Senators had five runs on one hit. The Yankees had 12 runs on four hits.

5 Westside Boys' Club Teams Have Big Week

The five baseball teams operating out of the Westside Boys Club were very busy this past week.

The busiest of these teams was the Babe Ruth Intermediate Knothole team which played five games and won four of them. On Monday they shut-out the Hamilton Rangers 4-0 on Dale Bettinger's two-hitter.

On Tuesday Pete Eyer threw a one-hitter at the Peers Club and shut them out, 3-0. John Morlan's wo-run triple was the big blow. A third straight shut-out was recorded Wednesday as Steve Pennell twirled a three-hitter for six innings and Dan Dent pitched the scoreless seventh inning in a 10-0 win over the Eastside Merchants.

Dan Thatcher and John Postle paced the attack with two hits each and Butch McDaniel had a bases loaded single. On Thursday morning a Ohio State University, Jack Husch and Thatcher combined for a two-hitter to beat previously unbeaten South Franklin Comets. Morlan, with a homrun and a single, and Howdy Donahue, with four four RBIs, led the offense.

On Saturday they ran into a buzz saw in the person of Bishop Ready's Pat Ellis and suffered a 7-2 loss.

The Little League team split two games last week, losing to St. Agnes and beating Grove City 10-2. This team, sponsored by the West Side Kiwanis and coached by Homer Humphrey, now stands four and four and is rapidly improving.

The Pee Wee team, coached by John Snoddy, was beaten by Scioto, 13-2. The previous week they beat Georgian Heights, 9-6.

The Pony League Junior Knothole team topped Troop 44, 20-1, on Larry Lambert's two-hitter while Tom Reynold's pair of triples paced the attack. On Saturday, they were beaten by St. Agnes, 9-3.

The Senior Knothole team capped the week's activity by blasting Sun Lite Products, 15-0.

Medical Chief Urges Sabin For Everyone

"If we are going to eradicate polio from this community, everyone over two months of age must be immunized with oral Sabin vaccine," urged Dr. Richard Fulton, head of the Columbus Academy of Medicine and chairman of the mass immunization program being spearheaded by that group, in an interview this week.

The Sabin method of immunization goes even farther than the historic Salk vaccine of a few years ago in that the Sabin not only protects the person receiving it, but also prevents him from becoming a "carrier" of the feared disease.

Fulton said anyone "up to 100 years old, regardless of whether he has had the Salk vaccine or not, should have the Sabin."

Co-sponsoring the drive, along with the CAM, are the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy, the Columbus Board of Health and the Franklin County Board of Health.

The dates for the inoculations have been set at Sept. 30 for the first round, Nov. 4 for the second and Dec. 9 for the final dose.

A steering committee for the program has been set up and a meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Thursday, July 12, at the Fort Hayes Hotel for representatives of the participating organizations.

Dr. Fulton will outline the program at that time.

An underwriting guarantee is being asked from all the communities in the county, although, according to Fulton, it probably will not be needed if enough of the twenty-five cent donations are received with each dose of the medicine.

Participating in the program will be Bexley, Columbus, Grandview, Upper Arlington, Worthington, Whitehall, Westerville, Hilliard, Reynoldsburg and Franklin County, which will represent all of the smaller communities in the county.

The vaccine program will also be administered in London, Springfield, Marysville and Lancaster on the same dates.

The immunization will be given as two drops of Sabin solution in a small glass of distilled water.

Public schools in the area will be the scenes of the mass program, but which ones are to be used has not yet been determined.

As a sidelight, Fulton added that the largest majority of abstainers in the recent Cleveland immunization program was in the 15-21 age group and the special emphasis will be put on informing them of the advisability of the program, since "polio knows no age limit and can strike anyone."

Show Cast Brings Afternoon Of Cheer To 500 Patients At State Hospital

BY TED BEARDSHEAR

Johnny Desmond, Susan Johnson, and Beverly Allyson, stars of the Kenley Players' production "Brigadoon," received a spontaneous and enthusiastic welcome at Columbus State Hospital, June 28.

At the formal reception in the superintendent's office, Lowell O. Dillon, chief administrator, expressed the feelings of the staff and patients alike when he said, "We do not have this opportunity very often and it is welcome. We are very grateful that legitimate stage actors could perform here."

Also present were Victor Ewald, chief of CSH's volunteer program, Dr. James Travino, director of activities therapies, and Robert Elliott, industrial therapist. Paul Rosenfeld, assistant director of Franklin County Mental Health, Association, presented the cast to the staff. He especially thanked Joe Vispi, associate producer of Kenley Players, who made the visit possible.

The "Brigadoon' cast wrapped the audience of 500 patients around their fingers. Johnny Desmond started the program with a group sing of "Heart of My Heart." During the proceedings he brought a patient to the stage and together they sang a duet.

This was the start of the show and the start of the realization of the FCMH's goal of producing in the patient the feeling that he is important . . . and not forgotten."

In a single act, Johnny captured the heart and the applause of the audience.

From there the program moved to a solo by Johnny, "It's A Sin To Tell A Lie."

Next, Susan Johnson stunned the audience with a selection from the show "Brigadoon" that was a ditty, done in dialect, about a Scottish wedding.

A group sing including "Baby Face" and a solo by Tony Mentalbano, husband of Beverly Allyson, rounded out the program. The cast then retired to the hospital commissary, in lieu of a tour of the hospital in preparation for their similar performance at Columbus State School.

Elderly's Needs Are Many; Bedfast Woman Volunteers

Lonely people, everywhere, would appreciate the problem of Mrs. Margaret Kell. And anyone physically cut off from everyday activity, and living on a strictly limited income would be especially understanding.

Her story is that of countless older people.

Although partially paralized and confined closely to bed and wheelchair since her back was broken six years ago, Mrs. Kell hasn't relinquished her interest in the world about her.

Through her bedside telephone, at 841 Harmon-av, Apt. A, Mrs. Kell keeps in close touch with friends and is always a willing volunteer in telephone campaigns for charitable [illegible].

She also, through phone calls, assists elderly people to find homes, and help when they are in need.

Widowed a year ago she finds that merely living — providing food, rent and necessities on social security and retirement benefits—is a problem. Paying a housekeeper's wages is next to impossible for one in these circumstances, but she is able to share her home.

Ohio ranks fourth in the nation in the value of manufactured exports—over $1.4 billion, according to OSU extension specialists. Ohio leads the nation in exports of rubber products.

A BREAK FROM POLITICS AND POKER

'Fiorello' Role Is Big Change For Singing Star Carroll

A big switch for Bob Carroll, who gained his reputation on his booming voice, is his starring role in "Fiorello," in which he commented "I do not sing a note."

BEVERLY

Carroll arrived in Columbus last week to rehearse for Kenley Players' production of the hit play opening here July 10.

As warm and vital a person as the man he portrays, Carroll talked easily and modestly about his rise to acting fame. Between bites of cottage cheese salad and a confab with the choreographer, Carroll told one of his favorite stories, complete with gestures of how he came to play the part of "Little Flower," the fiery, fiercely loved Fiorello La Guardia, mayor of New York.

"An agent saw me in the role of the colorful egomaniac songwriter in "Say Darling"—in which I got notices as if my mother wrote them—and the next thing I knew I was asked to read the role of Fiorello for the National Company."

Carroll tells that he sang 16 bars for George Abbott (whom Carroll thinks knows more about acting than other people who make more noise), was stopped and told his voice was too good. He then read a little of the part, was thanked and sent home. By coincidence the piano player who had accompanied Carroll in the try-out was on the same subway car going home.

"He asked me how I was going to like traveling with the company. And sure enough, when I got home, there was a telephone call telling me I got the part."

Since that lucky day 18 months ago, Carroll has received consistently favorable reviews for his portrayal of the Italian-Jewish mayor. Off stage he is personable, quick, unassuming; on the stage he has all the cockiness, arrogance and spirit that La Guardia was known for.

Carroll's acceptance as an actor gives a new dimension to his career; next year he plans to do a TV series called "Combat" and will appear on "Gunsmoke" and the "Untouchables."

What about his singing? Carroll has not neglected it entirely. Prior to his Columbus opening, he did a stint at Las Vegas' Flamingo, and, he confided to this columnist, "Since I don't sing in the show, I'd like to find a place in Columbus where I can go, play my guitar and just wail."

Li'l Abner Runs Again At Denison

"Li'l Abner," smash Broadway musical, is the current attraction under the Denison Tent nightly through Saturday, July 7, at 8:30.

Based on the popular cartoon strip by Al Capp, this will be the first of three musicals in the theater's 16th consecutive season, all being directed by Dale E. Moore, director of the Conservatory of Music.

Directing the show is Kenneth Roberts, who organized and managed Playhouse-by-the-Lake, the Pittsburg, Kan., area's first summer theater. Now associate director of the Denison company, Roberts had been a featured player in 1956, 1957 and 1958.

The entire company will be featured in the play. Cast in the leading roles are John Davidson as Li'l Abner and Sherry deRhodes as Daisy Mae.

Manners And Morals Theme Of Molnar Play

One of the greatest comedy successes of the recent international theatre, Ferenc Molnar's "The Play's the Thing," the comedy of continental manners and morals, is now playing at OSU's Stadium Theatre nightly through July 7.

Joe Colucci will be seen in the leading role of a clever playwright who has to rescue a number of people from a situation that threatens to complicate their lives. He and his collaborator and a young composer who is his protege arrive at a castle on the Mediterranean for a holiday. The composer happens to overhear some amorous speeches between his fiance and a vain, aging actor.

To save the actor and the actress from exposure, to save the wounded feelings of the composer, the playwright hurriedly concocts a play embracing the incriminating speeches so that they have an innocuous meaning — and everyone is saved.

Told with frothy lightheartedness aimed only at diverting audiences, the play will have in other roles, Beverly Bowman, Richard Morell, Curt Meeks, Richard English, Sky Lucy, Ronald Montgomery and Jamie Jamison.

TV Focuses On Eliot

Featured on WOSU's "Great Plays in Rehearsal," 10 p.m. Thursday, July 5, will be the director's commentary on St. Eliot's "The Family Reunion." He credits Eliot with responsibility for beginning a revolution in the modern theater, and marking the return of poetry as a medium for exploration on stage of the truths and values associated with tragedies.

READING GOD'S WORD

The reading of God's word is a neglected love by many today. It has been too easy to forget the price paid by many in the past, to make the Bible available to all. There was a time when men were hungry for all the wonderful messages contained in God's word. The Bible is full of wisdom and the teachings that men need.

"Man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

YMCA CAREER MAN IS COMMENDED

FOR THE CHAL DYERS, June 28, 1962, should be a long-cherished memory. The executive secretary of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA Board, who has announced he will retire soon after 43 years in the profession, was honored at a testimonial dinner at the Central "Y." He is pictured here with his wife. During the program many tributes to Dyer were voiced and he was given a book containing 200 letters of appreciation from all over the nation. During Dyer's tenure in Columbus since 1949 the YMCA has made marked progress. Successful completion of a $1,000,000 Development fund has resulted in the construction of a new Hilltop [illegible]y" Branch, the start of others in the South and Near East sides, rehabilitation of portions of the Central "Y," additions to Camp Willson and improvement and additions to the Central YWCA building.

As an added attraction, each YMCA or YWCA member may take one guest. The dance will begin at 7:30 and end at 10:30.

Carbon dioxide given off by dry ice can be used to put laboratory animals to sleep for a short time. In U.S. Department of Agriculture tests, the gas worked better than chloroform or ether.

Game times will be Mondays and Wednesdays at 2 and 6 p.m., Tuesdays at 6 p.m. and Thursdays at 2 p.m. All boys who attended practices and games will be eligible to play at least three innings of each game. Each team will play two games a week. Coaches are still needed for these teams. Anyone having the time and desire should contact the playground.

A week of fun will again be offered to boys and girls between the ages of eight and 12 at the Recreation Department Day Camp at Indian Village. Camp fees are $3.50 per youngster. There are only a limited number of applications for youngsters from this area and these will be on a first-come-first-go basis. COLUMBUS & SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY

YOU CAN CAPTURE the thrills of an ocean voyage as you board the Aquarama Sunday, July 22, one of the lucky persons to cruise on the block-long nine-deck converted ocean liner. You will be piped aboard for 12 solid hours of relaxation on Lake Erie if you join the Hartley Newspapers one-day economy package vacation.

Deadline Nears For Cruise Reservations

The deadline for making reservations for the second annual Aquarama cruise Sunday, July 22, is approaching. The cut-off date for this one-day economy package vacation will be set soon.

The Aquarama cruise package is being offered again this summer by the Hartley Newspapers following a very successful cruise last summer which was enjoyed by nearly 200 Columbus area residents.

The one-day vacation includes bus fare on chartered buses as well as a ticket to 12 solid hours of cruising on the cool azure waters of Lake Erie. The cruise ship sails from Cleveland, its home port.

Operators of the Aquarama launched out on a unique venture in the entertainment and travel world when they converted a block-long ocean liner a few years ago. The nine-deck pleasure craft has met with great success in its first few seasons of operation. The company is still seeking to build a clientele however, and is leaving no stone unturned to make each cruise a memorable event in the lives of each of its passengers.

Officials of the Aquarama company have promised to give the members of the Hartley Newspapers group the "Red Carpet" treatment. In fact some pleasant surprises await cruisers this year.

Hartley Newspapers look forward to making this an annual event and see the possibility of chartering the entire vessel for readers in the future.

It still is not too late to have a club or fraternal organization join the cruise as a group.

Chartered buses will leave Columbus at approximately 4 a.m. Sunday, July 22, arriving dockside at 8 a.m. Columbus time (Cleveland is on fast time).

Features of the S.S. Aquarama include movies and bingo, comfortable deck chairs for lounging in the warm sun, a complete library for the intellectually inclined, floor shows in the grand ballroom and later, dancing beneath the stars to the music of the ship's orchestra.

Other features of this elegant ship include elevator service of all nine of her decks, a completely equipped dispensary staffed by a trained nurse, both Protestant and Catholic Church services Sunday morning and a playroom where the children can be left free of charge, under the watchful eyes of a trained staff.

Four restaurants are kept busy serving delicious full course meals, while the two cocktail lounges are designed for comfort and relaxation. A la carte service is available at all times.

Entire cost for this fit-for-a-king cruise is only $18.50 for adults and $12.50 for children 5 through 11, which includes round-trip transportation to Cleveland and the cruise itself. There is no charge for children under 5 (and they will have a wonderful time in the glass-enclosed playroom).

To reserve space now, just fill out the coupon, stating the number in the party, and mail check or money order for the correct amount to CRUISE, Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, Ohio.

Don't wait . . . it may be too late!

Speech Center Asks Donations Of Hearing Aids

The hearing and Speech Center of Columbus and Central Ohio is making a plea for hearing aids in order to continue its Hearing Aid Loaner Service which provides aids on a loaned basis to persons who would otherwise be unable to obtain them. This service has been kept in operation through the years by the donation of new and used aids. The Center's supply of loaner hearing aids has dwindled to the point where a waiting list is growing daily.

Any hearing aid, even one not in working condition, is of value to this United Appeal agency. Non-working aids are repaired and loaned out.

The address of the center, for persons wishing to donate instruments, is Sellers Wing, Children's Hospital, 17th-st, at Livingston Park, Columbus 5. The telephone number is 252-3149.

Dog Bite Stirs Neighborhood

Miriam Addition residents are still on the lookout for a strange dog which bit a four-year-old boy Sunday morning.

If the dog is not found, it will be necessary to begin a long series of painful anti-rabies shots for young Brock Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Cline, 920 Stephens-dr. Brock was trying to drive the dog from his backyard when the animal turned on him. The boy was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for a ripped left ear and facial scratches.

Mrs. Cline said the dog looked like a cross between a spitz and a cocker, with fairly long legs and long yellowish red hair.

A GATHERIN' OF THE CLAN PLANNED

Honor Old Glory on Independence Day—July 4

Display The Flag Proudly . . . and Properly

In these critical times when the future of our nation — our way of life — is in jeopardy, all of us should show our patriotism by displaying our national emblem — the Stars and Stripes. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way; that is, with the union, or blue field, to the left of the observers in the street.

Largest Part Of Scioto Main Sewer Project Gets Approval

After a struggle in obtaining easements, the city officials announced that they have let a contract for the construction of the first — and largest — part of the Scioto Main sewerage network.

Harold D. Hoyman, principal civil engineer, said Tuesday that low bidder, Complete General Construction, was given the contract to begin work on the Scioto Main, part one, sewerage job.

Columbus City Council allowed $670,000 for construction of the trunk sewer during regular session Monday night. Hoyman said that the cost is expected to be $630,130 for the job.

The Scioto Main project is divided into three parts and eventually will hook into the Upper East Scioto parts one, two, three and four in Arlington. The Scioto Main operation has been proposed for about a year but the city had trouble obtaining easements in the area.

"We can't hit the people over the head with a club," Hoyman said. "It held us up considerably but we're ready to go on the first part now."

This "first part" begins at a spot known as the "grit chamber" south of Stimmel-rd and will wind northwest up to a point at the northeast corner of Green Lawn Cemetery.

It'll serve the southwest area of Columbus.

Eventually, Scioto Main, part two, will go across Mound-st up Princeton-av and end at Broad-st. Hoyman said the city has all plans ready on part two but the easements are holding that one up, too.

The final part, part three, will run to Harper-rd and hook onto the mentioned Upper East Scioto parts.

Hoyman reported that "it'll take a couple of weeks" to set up the books on the first part of the project but construction will begin on this largest link shortly.

The contract calls for a 300-day completion date.

At the same time that Council awarded the money for this job, it approved $30,000 for additional engineering on the Upper Scioto trunk sewer.

Hoyman added that he wasn't sure when the other two parts of the Scioto Main will be ready for construction. He indicated, however, that he hoped it wouldn't take as long as part one did.

Council To Meet Thursday; Walsh-av Question Settled

Two city service officials will speak at the bi-monthly meeting of the full West Side Neighborhood Council which will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 12 at Gladden Community House.

They are Hoby Clay, supervisor of the Columbus Street Maintenance Department, and Roland Brauch, assistant superintendent of sanitation. Time will be allowed for questions after their talks.

Several important committee reports will be given. Frank Schneider, chairman of the traffic committee, will report on the Walsh-av one-way street meeting with the street residents, as well as reporting on other pending traffic matters. Glen Beach, chairman of the health committee, will report on progress in the Hamilton area cleanup project, as well as street cleaning schedules.

Walsh Parking Discussed

After considerable discussion from both points of view, Walsh-av residents, in a simple majority decision, Thursday voted to request the West Side Neighborhood Council Traffic Committee to return their street to two-way traffic.

The passed motion reads as follows: "That Walsh-av be returned to two-way traffic flow, with parking on the north side of the street only." Chairman Frank Schneider of the traffic committee told the residents he could not promise that parking would be allowed, because of the narrowness of the street. City officials had earlier written the council that parking may be banned from both sides if the street becomes two-way, to allow for entrance and exit of emergency vehicles.

Following the neighborhood meeting, the traffic committee voted to forward to the City Traffic Committee the requests for stop and yield signs, street lights and street name signs of the residents of the Hamilton Addition, the Neighborhood Council's cleanup area this year. Also, the traffic committee is forwarding another request that the remaining parts of the overall master traffic plan for the West Side, worked out with the traffic commission last fall, be implemented at once.

$1000 In Prizes To Be Given In Three-Day Hilltop Bean Fest

Prizes of cash, merchandise and savings bonds totaling $1000, in addition to a planned program of entertainment, games and contests throughout the three-day event, an exciting mid-way and free beans served all three evenings, are in store for thousands of guests expected at the Hilltop Bean Dinner, July 30 and 31, and Aug. 1 at Westgate Park.

Members of the sponsoring Hilltop Business Association will award the prizes under two give-away plans.

The booming of a cannon at irregular intervals will signal an on-the-spot award for the person doing, at that minute, the something or nothing specified by the committee.

A freckled faced boy eating an ice cream cone, a man smoking a pipe or a woman wearing a blue dress might be the winner.

He, or she, would be handed an envelope containing a card to be exchanged at the prize wagon for a gift.

Coupons now being distributed by the participating members identified by posters are also part of the prize plan.

A number of the coupons will be drawn at the close of the program on all three nights, entitling the lucky ones to more prizes of cash, bonds or merchandise.

AMATEURS INVITED

Talented youngsters, baton twirlers, instrumental or band combos, or dancers may apply for a spot on the program. There are no prizes—just a chance to perform. Entry cards may be picked up at Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st or at HBA office, 2933 W. Broad-st.

Further information is also available by calling HBA, BR. 4-2400.

FUN FOR KIDS, TOO

And the youngsters are not forgotten by the planning committee.

There will be a pony tail contest for little girls 12 and under, Tuesday, July 31 at 2.

Sponsored by West Rural-Urban News, The Hilltop Record and West Side News, all little girls in the circulation areas are invited to enter and may register by calling the newspaper office, BR. 4-1155.

A goose is scheduled for Wednesday.

A parade of gaily decorated bikes, baby buggies and wagons, is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, with prizes for the best.

A twist contest for the younger set, an innovation this year, is also on the program agenda.

District Kiwanis Meet Scheduled For Tomorrow

The Kiwanis 10-W Division Council quarterly meeting will be held at 6:30 Thursday night at the Holiday Inn, W. Broad-st.

Malcolm Pannell, of Hilliard, and lieutenant governor of the district, will be in charge of the meeting at which final plans for the July 18 Kiwanis-Jet Baseball Night will be made and plans for the Kiwanis Kids' Day will be discussed.

Information on the Ohio District Convention will also be available at the meeting.

West Jefferson Kiwanis will be the host to 11 clubs. Represented will be Washington C.H., Circleville, Downtown, West Franklin, London, Asbville, Hilltop, Grove City, West Side, Southern and the West Jefferson clubs.

Slated Scrubbing Should Speed Slow Scioto, Says Stork

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Take down the "Don't Spit On The Floor—Remember The Scioto Flood" signs, Service Director Ernest Stork says we probably won't need them anymore.

Stork reported that, for the first time since the big flood of 1912, something is being done to clean out the slow and slovenly Scioto.

"We're trying to avoid a repetition of 1913," Stork said Tuesday. "We're going to start by cleaning the Scioto from Greenlawn-av south of Frank-rd and we have plans to dredge out the whole thing, eventually."

The engineering and planning for the project is being done by Rackoff and Associates and Columbus City council appropriated $40,000 for that purpose Monday night.

Stork said that he figures the entire project will cost "somewhere in excess of $400,000."

The City Finance Committee, particularly Robert Southwick, and William Formel, uttered a big "ouch" over the $40,000 engineering fee but finally gave it their okay when Stork reported that the city lacks engineers to do certain types of work and if the job is to be done engineering would be necessary.

This first phase of the cleaning project will actually extend 1200 feet south of Frank-rd. In all, a distance of two miles is expected to be dredged.

This "cleaning" means dredging of the river and cleaning off the banks in efforts to allow flood waters to have free flow. They also plan to remove the gravel under the Frank-rd bridge.

"That gravel has been a definite impotement to flood flow," Stork commented.

A stretch of the Scioto in the downtown area is being cleaned now and, according to Stork, "this is the first cleaning of that section since 1916."

The service director said he "couldn't understand" why the Scioto hasn't been cleaned out before this time. Stork took office as director in 1960 but served in the engineering department before that and said that it was a "topic of discussion at that time" but that no action was taken.

Stork promises that his department is going "to try

RECREATION DEPT. ANNOUNCES —

Westgate Groundbreak Friday

Six spades, manned by city officials and community leaders, will break the sod at 2 p.m. Friday for Westgate Park's new $369,000 recreation center.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, exhibiting typical Hilltopper hospitality, has invited out a large delegation from City Hall to help him do the honors. Among them will members of City Council, the Columbus Recreation Commission and City Recreation Superintendent Nick Barack, as well as the architects and contractors.

Local participants will include representatives of the Hilltop Community Council, Hilltop Business Association, the clergy and the press. City Recreation Supervisor Mel Dodge who will be master of ceremonies, said the public is invited.

Westgate Center will be erected in the eastern end of the 45-acre park, facing Westgate-av, and will sit back about 125 feet from the street. The building, measuring 120 by 190 feet, will be built on a plan closely duplicating that of Whetstone Center in the north side. The two-floor-and-basement structure will house a gymnasium, auditorium and stage, offices and numerous rooms for meetings, arts, crafts, games and sports.

Sheaf Construction Co. won the contract for general construction and site improvement. Work is expected to start immediately. A completion date of May 1, 1963 has been set.

Council Rejects Apartment Plan

City Council this week rejected an appeal for rezoning of .55 acres on the east side of Binns-blvd, south of Vanderberg-av for apartment use. The area is now zoned for single-family residences.

In her petition, Bessie Surafsky, said she planned to build two four-unit apartments and one two-unit apartment at the site.

Street Sweep Begins Today; Schedule Given

West Side Neighborhood Council's annual street sweeping program was to start today, according to Glen Beach, chairman of the Health Committee.

The annual event is made possible with an agreement between the council and the Street Maintenance Department.

The street cleanings will occur consecutively every Wednesday until Aug. 8.

Occupants are asked by council to remove their cars and other vehicles from the streets being cleaned. Most streets will not be posted, but official Neighborhood Council notices will be delivered to all residents prior to cleaning dates.

Following is a schedule of Wednesday, July 11, and Wednesday, July 18, with the sides to be cleaned:

NOW FIRST-COME, FIRST-SERVED

Last Call To Join Lake Erie Cruise!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If you haven't already signed up for the big Hartley Newspapers' Aquarama cruise slated for Sunday, July 22, you'll never regret it if you get out your pen and do it right now.

Reservations for the cruise will be accepted on a first-come-first-served basis after today. In no case can reservations be accepted after 5 p.m. Monday, July 16.

July 22 is a day when Aunt Ethel, Mom and Dad, the children can all slip off their land-locked boots and relax to the soothing roll of the good ship Aquarama which departs from Cleveland and glides its way to Detroit and back again.

It's a time when the tired businessman can forget humdrum office matters.

It's a time when Junior can show off his sea-legs to Sister and stand on the Captain's bridge and think of pirates and pieces o' eight.

It's a time when Pop can feel good about giving his family a nice holiday, a time for strolling sun-drenched decks, but, most of all a good time.

Those who took the Hartley Newspaper maiden voyage last year know what it's like. They know of the music and dancing and bingo and good food and floor shows and carnival games, and their nice comments played a part in making this year's trip possible.

Perhaps one of the most interesting things about the Aquarama cruise is the educational factor. Where else can you see ships from far away places with strange sounding names so close to your Columbus home?

Huge freighters from Japan, Australia, Great Britain sweep past the modern decks of the Aquarama.

Some of the foreign ships come so close to the Aquarama that local folks had a chance last year to shout "Hello" and hear a return from the strangely dressed sailors.

There's not much doubt that water holds a certain fascination for Columbusites. That is, a lot of water like Lake Erie. You have a chance to do some inner-thinking out there in the fresh-smelling air surrounded by blue waves and occasional white-caps. It's a great feeling!

It's one time when you hope

Committee Getting Set For Soap Box Derby

A calendar of activities for soapbox racers has been released by John Burpee of the Soap Box Derby committee. The event will take place Sunday, July 15, beginning at 2:30 p.m. with a parade. Racing should begin about 2:40 p.m. and end at about 5:10 or 5:15 p.m., followed by awards and presentations.

The race will be run on an unopened section of Interstate 71, south of E. Fifth-av.

The stretch is 1200 feet long.

Preparation for this important event begins Thursday, July 12, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Friday, July 13, 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. There will be racer inspection at the Arts and Crafts Building, 17th-av north of the fairgrounds. All cars will be brought to this building for inspection and impounded until race day. All entries will be given their Soap Box Derby T-shirts and racing helmets.

Friday, July 13, at 12:30 p.m. all boys will leave for the State Capitol via bus for a tour of the flight line at Lockbourne Air Force Base. Following the tour, at about 4:30 p.m., the boys will be taken to Jet Stadium for a picnic supper followed by a baseball game.

Saturday, July 14, at 10:30 a.m. there will be trial runs in race cars. Each boy will have the opportunity to test drive his car down the race course once. Of course Sunday is the big race day.

Early Aug. 1, the Columbus Champion will leave by automobile for Akron and participation in the All American Soap Box Derby.

Columbus boys will be in Akron Aug. 1 through 4. The national classic will be held Aug. 4.

Today there are more than 14 million people aged more than 65, as compared with only about three millions 50 years ago.

Southwest Chapter Of OA Is Organized

By CRAIG M. WEAVER

To bring about more interest in the Order of the Arrow in the Southwest District, and to bring the district's OA standing up to par, a district chapter has been organized.

Besides holding monthly meetings where scouts from all over the area can meet, the chapter handles such things as service projects, information to units, promoting scout camping, and other things that the lodge as a whole cannot successfully accomplish on such a large scale.

The Nimat-Linchen Chapter, Brothers of the West Wind of Katinonkwat Lodge 93, was organized in April to fulfill these purposes. The chapter acted as the registration team for the Ordeal induction held in June and plan to do the same at the upcoming August inductions.

The July chapter meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 26, in the City National Bank, 3100 W. Broad-st. This will be an important meeting and all 75 members are urged to attend. An informative movie will be shown, committees will be organized, and collection of OA chapter dues will take place.

Area Soldier Now In Korea

Army PFC Richard V. Klatte, 22, son of Mrs. Lucille A. Klatte, 3666 Eakin-rd, recently arrived in Korea and is now assigned to the First Cavalry Division.

A supply clerk in Battery B of the division's 21st Artillery, he entered the Army in February 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Prayer Edict May Be Blessing In Disguise

Amid the smoke and commotion generated by the recent controversial decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in regard to prayers being recited in public schools a statement by City Attorney Russell Leach serves to clear the local atmosphere.

Leach has advised the Columbus Board of Education there is no prohibition on the use of individual prayers by teachers in the classrooms of the local public schools. He asserted the ruling would prohibit the local school authorities from composing a prayer and compelling the recitation of it in the classroom.

Columbus School Superintendent Harold H. Bibler has indicated the system will continue its present policy of leaving the use of prayers to the individual schools and teachers.

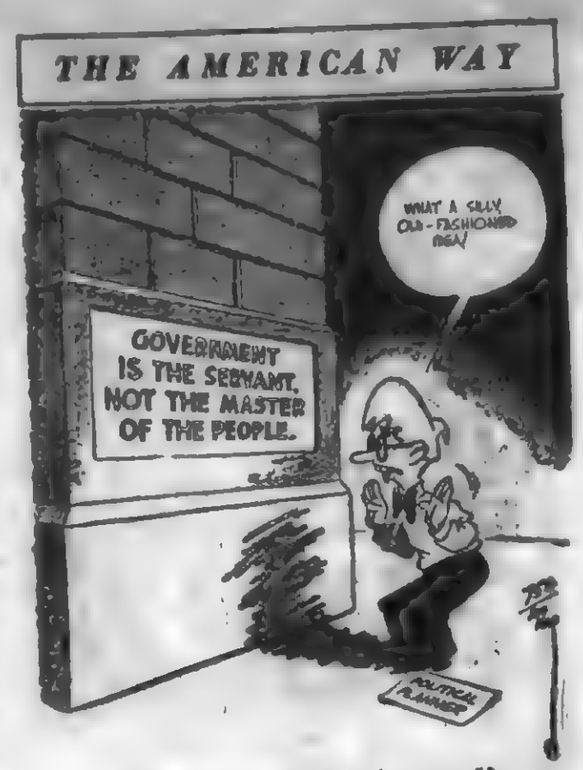
The ruling handed down by the court will be the subject of discussion and further legal interpretation for many years to come. It is being misconstrued in many quarters as prohibiting exercise of religious expression that is not covered by the decision.

The decision does open many legal questions that will have to be spelled out in the future.

To many observers it seems that the decision opens the door to the complete eradication of religion from the framework of our official governmental bodies. This is disturbing to those who reflect that our government and way of life was based on Judeo-Christian philosophy.



It seems strange that a small group of persons in New York should take it in their hands to challenge the whole philosophy of our government based on things that we accepted as being either sacred or as traditional as the Thanksgiving turkey and pumpkin pie. It seems ironic that this group appeared on the scene so many years after the founding of these traditions.

We might wish that it had not happened. But it did.

Since the decision has made headlines many persons have questioned the value of a prescribed prayer that is recited mechanically by rote. It would seem obvious that a prayer that is uttered by a teacher attuned to the lives of her youngsters would have much more meaning and impact on the lives of her charges than the 22-word prayer prescribed by the New York Regents.

We are happy that our area teachers will not be prohibited from such religious expression. Perhaps the court edict will be a blessing in disguise if more teachers will open their hearts and minds and accept the challenge of guiding their children in a prayerful appreciation of what this nation's basic principles really are.

He Wouldn't Understand!

May Indicate Unhealthy Trend --- Lausche

Editor's Note:
The following is the main text of a letter from Senator Frank J. Lausche to a minister who asked the Senator his views on the Supreme Court decision on the school prayer. It is reprinted in the interest of current discussion on the matter.

It has been pointed out that there is developing a line of legal reasoning, which might be followed to the end placing public education in a position entirely acceptable to non-believers or to atheists and totally unsatisfactory to the people who are believers.

I feel quite certain that anyone acquainted with the factual situation that existed in 1787 and thereafter with regard to some of the states levying taxes for the purpose of maintaining a particular religion within the state will not come to the conclusion that the Constitutional provisions relating to religion were written with the intention to satisfy atheists alone.

If all belief in God and mention thereof can be banished from our public school system, then what else will follow? Must the House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States cease to open with prayer? Can we no longer pay from tax funds the Chaplains of the two houses of Congress? What about the Chaplaincy in our armed forces? Is the ultimate result of some of the contentions that are now being made going to be that no longer can the taxpayers provide Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish Chaplains to minister to our boys in the armed forces? Will we find ourselves in a position where military officers, who are officers of the United States Government, can no longer advise a man in uniform who is in need of spiritual counseling that he ought to see his Chaplain? Will our men in the uniform who face a serious personal problem, such as a domestic difficulty, or word of the death of a loved one be compelled to leave his military base and seek the guidance of a non-government supported spiritual leader? Will the words, "Under God" in the official Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag be challenged?

I do not say that these things will come to pass. I do say that if they do come to pass, we will have removed from our official life the very thing upon which the entire American idea of Constitutional government, individual liberty and the dignity of man from all areas where government participates. Then we will have separation of God and Government and all actions where God is called upon to participate will have to be carried on by non-government individuals and organizations. — Frank J. Lausche.

Lest We Forget Our Nation's Foundation

A meeting was sponsored in our community to reveal the Communist advancement in our world. One movie, shown at the meeting, depicted the beginning and current picture of communism in today's world. Truly, this film was an "eye opener" to the inroads of this atheistic, materialistic, movement which has enslaved millions.

The second film was to reveal what we can do as individual citizens. Not one suggestion was presented as to the three basic institutions of society—the home, the public school and the church.

To me, this film was anemic and weak. It appeared the author was afraid of offending our liberals and atheists. Marginal suggestions were made such as — attending a school board meeting, attending a meeting of city council and be sure to vote and know your candidates personally. This was good but not good enough. Can we maintain our freedom and American way of life by constantly ignoring the basic institutions which gave birth to the greatest country in the history of man? I believe the same foundation our forefathers laid will be the dynamics to keep us free.

The American home . . . needs to be reinforced by parents teaching the principles of freedom. "When the home falls, America will fall," has been the warning of prophets of the American way for many years. Our day can become the day of rehabilitation of the American home. To make our country the "home of the free and the brave." Do not forget the image of Abraham Lincoln was a product of an early American home.

The public school system . . . both elementary and higher education, must become Americanized as never before if we are to win this cold war. The student riots, in my opinion, are the products of liberal political teaching in the classrooms. I cannot place the blame on our students but upon the liberal professors who are paid with our tax money to teach socialism and lean toward communism. It will take more than taking a pledge to our flag in order to keep our freedom. I believe we must put America at the center of our educational institutions in order to ward off communism in the tomorrows.

The church . . . stands for the emblem of the spiritual. Our day calls for a spiritual awakening in our churches and nation. History witnesses in every generation the materialistic philosophy of life ends in bondage. The spiritual philosophy ends in freedom. Freedom is the by-product of the spiritual. Let us once more make the church the foundation to keep our legacy of freedom and individual rights for which many died to acquire.

The American image of freedom was the product of the home, the school and the church. Out of this rock our free enterprise was hewn.

Politicians Have No Right To Dictate Prayer

It is alarming, the stands being taken by laymen and scholars in regard to the Supreme Court's ruling against a New York State law requiring the utterance of a 22-word prayer in schools of that state.

Since the decision was first handed down, public officials and the press, in particular, have lashed at the ruling, calling for such extreme action as creating an authority even higher than the court created by the Constitution to interpret and protect that document.

Allan

According to my history teachers, this country was settled by Europeans persecuted for the manner in which they desired to worship the Deity.

Forced to flee from one country to another in order to keep their heads in an upright position, a hardy band of pilgrims loaded a few worldly possessions aboard a ship called the Mayflower and set sail.

A century later our forefathers authored this piece of legislation from which all American life stems.

These words are contained in sections one and two of Article III of the original Constitution and have not been amended: "The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court. . ." "The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution."

Let us not in haste then, abolish the non-political last word in such matters.

What the Supreme Court has done for every American is to abolish the first attempt by politicians to create a sovereignty that would say "you will worship" and "you will say this prayer."

Certainly a law that would make available a time for prayer is proper. But when someone in the statehouse tells my children they will face the northwest and recite a certain passage of non-biblical scripture, it's also an open invitation to stare down the barrel of my great-grandfather's blunderbuss.

In many public places we are afforded the opportunity to salute our flag and utter a pledge of allegiance to it, but there is no law, in writing, compelling me to perform these acts of moral obligation.

It's time for a few minutes of silent meditation, followed by a rally around the high tribunal for boldly protecting and maintaining the American way of life, including "freedom of religion." The "of" works both ways.

—Jack L. Allen

Sees Partisan Snobbery In Bexley Parade

To The Editor:

Through their efforts to keep a Bexley Democratic Club float out of the Bexley Fourth of July parade (the theme — Our American Heritage!) Bexley city officials, while intending to obscure the club, have actually thrust it into prominence.

Compounding their inconsistency, they defend their rejection of the Bexley Democratic Club float by asserting that it would be partisan, and at the same time endorse two outrageously partisan displays that did appear — one not only critical but belittling of our Democratic President, and the other the Republican candidate for Congress, extravagantly advertised in a convertible.

This type of moral and intellectual snobbery on the part of Republicans is one of the reasons why the Democratic party is the majority party in this country, with a Democratic president and a Democratic congress. There are more Democrats than Republicans in Ohio, and the Bexley city officials, by these tactics, are encouraging the same trend in Bexley. Maybe they can "save" Bexley, but I doubt it, unless they immediately construct a high wall around it, with large signs every ten feet — "Democrats and Progress — Keep Out."

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Just One Difficulty, She Can't Back Up!

All night I tossed and turned fitfully in a struggle with my conscience.

What should I do? Should I obey the dictates of a loyal husband, or should I meet my civic responsibility?

Alas, the latter has won. Disregarding the disruption it may cause in my relatively tranquil domicile, I feel it is my duty to warn everyone.

My wife, Virginia, passed her driver's license test yesterday.

For the past decade, by guile, threats and tantrums, I was successful in preventing her from getting a license. I'll admit that I did teach her the rudiments of propelling an automobile forward when traffic conditions permitted a degree of isolation. But despite the fact that she tearfully saw several of her beginner's permits expire, I refused to teach her to back up and park.

"Honey, you're just not ready yet," said I repeatedly, kissing away her tears. "You will have to continue trying to develop your forward coordination before attempting to drive in reverse or park."

This seemed to mollify her . . . until we moved to a new community last year. Then she got mixed up with bad company.

On the surface, her new acquaintances, a bunch of housewives, seemed harmless enough. But it is now obvious they are meddling, conniving hens determined to sabotage the happiness in my nest. I'm not going to name these viperous shrews who snuck about encouraging and abetting my wife's nefarious plot, because they are married to nice, decent fellows—innocent victims of the system, like myself.

My only purpose, now that the damage has been done, is to warn area pedestrians and motorists to keep a sharp lookout for a nervous looking black compact sedan.

If you see such a car, and behind the wheel is hunkered a pony-tailed creature with a blank look of ecstasy on its face, run like hades.

Perhaps city officials had forewarning of this catastrophe. Last week they repainted the parking area lines in the downtown section. This may give some protection to the sitting ducks, but it doesn't help the moving targets.

Roses To Many . . .

My sincere thanks to all for the wonderful help given us in promoting the 10th Annual "Roses for Donors."

As you know we had three days in which to collect blood and issue Allied Florists gift certificates.

We collected 617 pints of blood, we issued 617 gift certificates.

Interestingly, we had to turn donors away late Friday afternoon. Our center was at standing-room capacity and we just could not accept anymore. Had these people come in Wednesday or Thursday we probably could have taken care of them.

Just Remember — you really can say "I had a small part in helping save a life."

Farm Ponds A Treasure To Fishermen

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Some men collect farm ponds like others collect jewels and it's tough to tell which is the richer. By collecting ponds, I mean the angler who seeks out farmers who have built ponds on his property and gains permission to fish them.

The pond collector has plenty of first class fishing available, and an evening when bluegills are hitting surface flies is more memorable than fingering a handful of gems. A pond collector's advantage over most of us is the wide variety of waters in which he can cast his line. If there has been a storm that muddied lakes and streams, he has two or three ponds, with woods or pasture watersheds, that will remain in fishing condition.

At this time of year moss and algae clog some ponds, but the collector will have one that remains free. There will be a pond with stumps that harbor big bass, and one with a monstrous bluegill "bed" where the action is nearly always fast. Some will be shallow for early spring fishing, and others deep for later on.

If you are unfamiliar with ponds in this area, they are usually roughly oval in shape. Farmers build them for stock watering, fire protection, swimming and fishing. Frequently they are underfished, for farmers seldom have the time during spring and summer to utilize them for sport. Some ponds are murky and dark, others sunny and bright; sometimes weed-choked, sometimes rimmed with growth of cattails and reeds, sometimes dotted with the decaying carcasses of trees that expired when the impounded water drowned them. Fishing is almost always good for some species during some time of the year — a collector hits each of his ponds at the proper time.

Right now the best time to fish ponds in early morning, late evening and night. When Mother Nature is calm and collected, drop a popping bug, fly or surface lure on the face of a pond. Twitch it a time or two. Wait a while. Twitch it again. Gently. Bang! Maybe a bass will erupt with the bait in his mouth. Or a bluegill will inhale the lure with a hungry slurp.

The bride's gown of pure silk peau de soie had a princess bodice with portrait neckline and featured elbow-length sleeves with lace motifs being caught with pearl trimmed bows.

The full skirt had inverted side pleats and at the back there were garlands of Alencon lace in a wedding ring design, ending in a wide circular court train.

Her bouffant veil of imported French bridal silk illusion was draped from a pill box of Alencon, with crystal droplets. She carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and an orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Barbara Lynch was maid of honor and bridemaids were Miss Audrey Bullock and Miss Nancy Hildenbrand.

Best man was Mr. James H. McCready, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Ronald Horcher, brother of the bride, Mr. Jack Cannon and Mr. Sam Webb.

A reception at Ilonka's Provincial House followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Carolyn Hildenbrand, Miss Maxine Bunnell, Miss Linda Hamilton and Miss Mary Helen Smith.

TASTE FOR CURRY GROWS WITH USE

Curry, like most potent seasonings, must be used with taste and skill. An overdose on the first try can turn the stomach—a subtle touch can lead to the love of a lifetime, for the taste for curry must be nurtured and cultivated.

Generally associated with Indian dishes or lamb and served with pilaf, curry is often overlooked as an exciting seasoning for many of our American dishes.

Mayonnaise gets a tangy lift with a bit of curry. For a zesty addition to vegetables, add a wee bit of the yellow magic—not more than a dip with a sharp pointed knife. Spinach in onion sauce is a delight with a dash of curry.

Simplest way to try your taste is to add curry to buttered rice. Doing a marinade? Don't overlook this exotic spice.

Goulash, stews, spaghetti sauce . . . wherever seasoning turns the trick . . . consider curry. Its punch will grow upon you. But always heed the rule, too much is too much.

Tuesday Reviews

'Fiorello'- Theatre With A Flourish

The name is LaGuardia and you won't forget it after seeing the Kenley production of "Fiorello." The colorful man inspired a colorful play and the Tuesday night opening did justice to both.

Bob Carroll had a tough assignment in portraying the cocky, confident, beloved mayor of New York. Part of the success of the part depends on his capturing the mannerisms and gestures of the little mayor who worked on "the side of the angels." For those who remember LaGuardia, he plays the part with a convincing amount of self-assurance and vitality; for those who don't, he brings alive a dynamic character whose concern embraced a country.

The play itself is a good one if not a great one. Its charm lies in its capturing an era from the days of Tammany-dominated New York, the advent of women strikers, through the Charleston rage, and the election of the singing mayor Jimmy Walker. The music in "Fiorello" states it all in the bawdy "Politics and Poker," "Little Tin Box" and the sentimental soldiers' welcome, "Home Again."

The Kenley cast offered outstanding support to leading man Carroll. Sherry O'Neil's 'I Love a Cop" vies for the liveliest single song on the show, with Jeanne Bal's (heroically laboring with a sore throat) rendition of "Marie's Law" running a close second. Helena Scott sings a lovely "When Did I Fall In Love?".

'Hotel Paradiso'- Nobody Slept In This One!

"What a night!"

First nighters at Stadium Theatre Tuesday heard that line again and again during the "Hotel Paradiso" opening. And they are echoing it themselves today.

A fast and furiously French melodrama, the comedy set the audience laughing at the start and continued to keep the pace that refreshes. The crowd loved every rollicking moment, despite occasional lapses into British accents by the cast.

James Klass as the two-faced Boniface sparkled in his role as a bored husband who loved his neighbor's wife. (Hilltop jeweler Lou Klass was in the front row to watch his son shine in this stage setting.)

Mary Jane Rotondo was delightful as the neglected, negligee-clad neighbor (Marcelle). Richard Wray (Cot) was believable as her prim and proper husband, more interested in architectural stresses than in those on the homefront. He and Ted Yaple (Maxime), cast as uncle and nephew, presented a pleasing character and physical resemblance.

Charlotte Gerrard was suitably shrill as Mme. Boniface, and John Beck (Martin) handled his role of the spasmodic stutterer with the right degree of frustration. Vickie Lauffer figured well in her first appearance as Victoire, the maid, who converted Maxime from a passive to an active student of passion.

Simply said, "Hotel Paradiso" is fun, without reservation.—Jeannine Orr.

RURAL-URBAN EDITOR MARRIED IN DELTA

MR. AND MRS. V. EDGAR CHURCHILL, JR.

Before an altar decorated with white gladiolus and green and white chrysanthemums, Miss Barbara Kay Arps became the bride of Mr. Vernon Edgar Churchill, Jr., on Sunday, June 17.

Rev. F. A. Rediger performed the 2 p.m. ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church, Delta, O.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elden G. Arps of Delta. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Edgar Churchill, Sr., also of Delta.

The bride wore a gown of white organza over satin with embroidered appliques of pearls and sequins at the sweetheart neckline and on the domed skirt. The long fitted sleeves came to a point over the hand and were buttoned at the wrist. A chapel train fell along the floor.

She wore a crown of pearls affixed with a shoulder-length veil. Cascading primrose yellow rosebuds, lilies of the valley and white daisies were gathered for her bridal bouquet. A pearl ring, given by the bridegroom, was her only accessory.

Miss Karen Romig was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Marilva Fedderken, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Arps, sister of the bride, who was junior bridesmaid.

Their gowns were mint green organza over taffeta, with fitted bodices, cap sleeves, v-necklines and street length belled skirts.

Their flowers were cascading white and green chrysanthemums and white daisies. Matching mint green ornamental organza flowers with pearls at the tips of the petals held the lace veils.

Mr. Daryl Morr served as best man. Ushers were Mr. R. Jon McQuillin and Mr. Tom A. McQuillin, uncles of the bridegroom.

The new Mrs. Churchill is a student in dental hygiene at Ohio State University. She is employed by the State Bureau of Conservation.

Mr. Churchill attended Bowling Green State University and is now editor of the West Rural-Urban News.

Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by a pearl encrusted organza flower plateau and her bouquet was of gardenias.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Larry Goodin and bridesmatrons were Mrs. Richard McKenzie and Mrs. Robert Calentine.

They wore dresses of leaf green taffeta and cotton Venice lace accented at the waistline with velvet ribbon sashes. They carried tangerine rose and carnation bouquets and matching flower plateaux with face veils completing their ensembles.

Mr. Thomas Palardy served as best man and guests were seated by Mr. Gene Lamb and Mr. Donald Hammerle.

'Horse Eats Hat' Presents Comic Problems For Hero

"Horse Eats Hat," a gay comedy with 30 lilting songs, will be the fifth offering of Denison Summer Theater, July 17-21 at 8:20 p.m. under the tent on the lower campus.

William Brasmer, managing director of the company, is directing the play. Settings designer is William Walters, and Sandra Jones is in charge of costume designs.

First produced at the Comedie Francaise in 1851, the play was originally titled "An Italian Straw Hat." Orson Wells retitled it "Horse Eats Hat" when he brought the play to the Americas in the 1930's.

The wonderfully absurd plot evolves when the hero, Fadinard, is about to get married when an attractive lady and her lover pop up and announce that his horse has eaten her rare straw hat. They refuse to leave the bridal chamber until Fadinard produces an identical hat, sending him on a crazy quest peppered with laughter and music.

Tom Ligon plays the gay blade hero, Fadinard. Other featured players are John Schuck, Alix Roterus, Mary Kay Williams, and William Walters.

Bergman, Britt Team In Film Of Ballerina's Life

Coming to the World Theater July 15 as part of the Sunday Night Classic Series is "Illicit Interlude," one of Ingmar Bergman's early movies.

In romantic, misty images, director Bergman traces a ballerina's recollections of a summer she spent as a girl of 18 in the lakeside home of an aunt and uncle and of her discovery of love for a boy who died soon afterward.

Here is an idlyll that evolves in lovely glimpses of two young people in their first experience with love.

"Illicit Interlude" is a picture from Bergman's early period when his direction already possessed psychological power but when he concentrated on simple effects, unburdened by mysticism. He tells his story in subtle cadences of close-ups, giving a beautiful visual sequence of the ballerina's youth. He adds sharp excitement to the film in his shots of the ballet troupe of the Stockholm Royal Opera at practice.

May Britt, in the lead role, works a particularly feminine magic both as the young, pretty creture taking joy in her first romance and as the same person ten years older, aged by a life without love.

The film will begin at 8:15 in addition to the regular feature. Consult the theater for the correct time. AX. 4-1133.

Ohio State Fair Grounds Will Have New Look

There's going to be a new look at the Ohio State Fair this year!

Even the name of the grounds have changed to "Ohio Expositions Center"—the home of the Ohio State Fair.

Improvements are well underway in preparation for the hundreds of thousands of people who will roam the grounds Aug. 24-Sept. 2.

Newly painted fences give evidence of the face-lifting. Flowers, donated by state institutions, line several streets and are located in various places around the grounds. Most of the buildings, including the grandstand and the historic William Henry Harrison House received fresh coats of paint.

Several of the less attractive buildings are being torn down and others are being reinforced. New roofing and stalls for horses and cattle are evident in the livestock areas. Neatly trimmed lawns and blacktopping of streets in the Expositions Center are also part of the new look.

Marshon Auditorium accommodates 3,073 persons with 1,496 seats on the main floor and 1,577 spaces in three sections of the balcony. The building is 200 feet long and 181 feet wide and contains in excess of 2,000,000 cubic feet.

TED YAPLE and Vicki Lauffer will appear as Maxime and Victoire, the maid, in Stadium Theater's production of the French farce comedy "Hotel Paradise" from Tuesday, July 10 to Saturday, July 14.

Famous French Farce Next At OSU Theatre

"Hotel Paradise" is said to be the grandfather of modern French bedroom farce and it wisely declines to try concealing its years.

Indeed, Peter Glenville's English translation and adaptation of this comedy, which will play a five performance engagement at OSU's stadium from Tuesday, July 10, to Saturday, July 14, makes a virtue of the healthy antiquity and presents it proudly as a jovial period piece, filled with comic alarms and excursions and cheerfully bent on kidding itself as well as the honorable institution of sex.

The authors have woven their crazy quilt around seven principal players: Boniface, weary of his homely wife, arranges a rendezvous with the beautiful bride of his best friend when the latter leaves on a business trip; the friend's nephew has become involved with Boniface's maid; another acquaintance (with four daughters) drops in for a visit. For one reason or another they all wind up in the Hotel Paradise. The remainder of the evening is occupied with people running up and down stairs and in and out of rooms in an effort to avoid one another.

Appearing in Stadium Theater as Boniface will be James Klass with Charlotte Gerrard as his wife, Mary Jo Rotondo as his friend's wife, Richard Wray as the best friend, Ted Yaple as the nephew, Vicki Lauffer as the French maid, and John Beck as the friend with the four daughters. The cast of "Hotel Paradise" also includes Kathy Anderson, Carole Kime, Megan Dunn, Patricia Dunn, Richard Price, Gene Gerrard, Andi Gorenstein, Tom Carlisle, William Mulpas and James Schwartz.

'A Roomful Of Roses' A Must For This Week

"A Roomful of Roses" is a sentimental play on a sentimental theme; namely, love and how the lack of it affects the human heart. "A Roomful of Roses" is also a funny play. And, as presented by the Playhouse-On-The-Green company, it is an excellent play.

BEVERLY

"Roomful" offers an interesting problem in presentation for the theater. The story centers on a young girl, the daughter of divorced parents, who feels she doesn't belong to either and is loved by no one. As the play evolves she learns what it is to give and receive love.

The problem arises in how to present this real-life theme—one that is fraught with emotion — on the theater stage without falling into maudlin sentimentality.

Part of the problem lies in the script; the other in the direction. Playwright Edith Sommer overcomes the first because she sees the humor in life and in people's reactions to emotional situations. POG director, Jack Bostick, takes care of the second by keeping the emotion in check while still producing the response of a few wet eyes.

Lois Kibee as the re-married divorced who is visited by her daughter after an eight-year separation, is as usual, competent in her part. Jean Middlebrooks, as the resentful daughter, plays her part with the right amount of resentfulness and longing for acceptance. Arlene Nagel, as the vivacious high schoolage girlfriend, is more at home in the role than in her previous one in "Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

Again, the brightest spots of the evening were provided by Martha Miller, whose comic talent has sparked every role she has played to date. She is well cast as the mad, merry next-door neighbor who always drops by in the middle of a family crisis.

Other supporting roles by Don Barton, Jay Smith, Jack Demarco and Peter Harris are effectively handled.

"A Roomful of Roses" provides a balanced evening's entertainment: it is both humorous and provocative. The only trouble—"A Roomful of Roses" should play to a roomful of viewers. The Monday night opening audience, while warm in response, was sparse in number. Quoth POG's lively producer Sallie Sexton after the final curtain: "Why don't people come to theater during the week instead of having to be turned away on weekends?" Our advice: See "Roomful" before Friday.

'As You Like It' Opens New Shakespeare Series

The professional cast of Shakespearean artists will perform nightly, except Monday, through Sept. 9. The range of plays include the histories from Shakespeare's earlier works, the comedies from the middle period and the tragedies from his more mature years.

Sweet Festival In Honey City

Thursday, July 12, is the last day to make reservations for the Franklin County Historical Society's July 14 tour of the Medina "Sweetest Week" festival. The festival will honor the city of Medina, recognized as the center of the honey industry.

A feature of the Saturday tour will be the activities of the downtown area in Medina including fireworks, the display of honey and honey by-products, and the reigning of the Honey Queen.

Scioto Flood Plan Study To Be Made

A study of flood plain development in the Scioto River Basin has been begun by the Ohio Water Commission, in preparation for a public hearing which it plans to hold later this year.

Described at a recent meeting of the commission, the study is to result in a dollar figure showing build-up in areas subject to inundation by a flood equal to those of 1959. A comparison will be made between the years 1950 and 1959, and a field and aerial study will show development which has taken place subsequent to the floods in 1959.

Primary studies will be in Franklin County, Chillicothe and Circleville, according to an announcement from the commission.

and clean all the rivers—as long as funds last."

He said he hopes to be compensated for some of the work by Army engineers but added that "we can't wait on them."

In addition to the cleaning, Stork reported that he introduced his "Levy Report" to the city lawmakers Monday night which recommended that levies east of Greenlawn-av be raised.

Stork also recommended that Dry Run—where a flood breakthrough was evident in 1960—and another culvert built under the Pennsylvania Railroad line, be raised to the height of the railroad itself, or about four feet.

Cleaning the banks may be the biggest job. Stork says they want to remove some trees from the area. He said he didn't know how long it would take to complete the entire job.

It's going to take the balance of this year to get the plans ready for the dredging process. They say they'll begin work in January or February.

"What happens if the Scioto freezes up that time of year?" Stork was asked.

"It probably will," he said, "but even that won't stop us now."

We all thrill to a...
FAMILIAR TUNE

It is so soothing, comforting, and pleasing to listen to our favorite tunes when played by capable artists. These tunes can make our minds wander back to pleasant memories of days gone by, and also awake us to new joys. Each Sunday we have the opportunity to be thrilled by the preaching of God's word, and the story of God's great love for us. Attend church Sunday and enjoy worshiping God with others.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and He demands for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

City In Process Of Taming Unruly Dry Run

COLUMBUS IS SPENDING $145,771.72 (exclusive of preliminary engineering costs) to reroute part of the flow of Dry Run, yet retain some of its beauty, just south of the new Hilltop Community Center. From time to time the creek goes on a rampage and erodes Hilltop residential properties. In 1959 it flooded the West Side. An early October completion date has been set on the project which is designed to do the following: Creek water enters from upper right and about a third of it is diverted over old route, (left of railroad.) Bulk of flow, however, is piped under ground (white dots) a distance of 1500 feet and rejoins the creek where it again crosses the railroad. Broken line (upper left) shows where old Dry Run portion has also been piped underground. Rest of creek's tortuous course is through newly built open rectangular channel, built of concrete. (Photo by Harley Groom, courtesy of E. Gomer Jones)

CONSTRUCTION VIEW of west end of 1500-foot length of 90-inch pipe where most of Dry Run's water is sent underground. At this point a "bleeder" valve diverts some water over the old creek route.

AT LOWER END of the 90-inch pipe is this junction where water again is combined. The pipe jogs slightly in its travel to get around, and underneath the north ramp of Westmoor School pedestrian tunnel.

DRY RUN becomes a creek again at this point just west of small bridges on Haldy-av. Farther east it enters newly laid concrete channeling and runs through a ravine. E. P. Condy & Co. is the general contractor.

FORMER PATH of Dry Run at rear of Hilltop Community Church, N. Huron and Steele-av is indicated here by dotted line. Bridge serving as south access to pedestrian tunnel has been removed. Water flows through under ground pipe here now but opens into channel. (see picture below.)

SPECIAL FORMS and machines are used by C. and W. Inc. of Fisher-rd, to pour this concrete channel from Clime to Haldy-ave. This view was snapped near the end of Roy-av.

St. Mary Magdalene's New Novena Services Will Run 10 Weeks

A new series of Miraculous Medal Novena services began Monday, July 9 at St. Mary Magdalene Church and will run for nine Mondays. Fr. Clarence DeRunta, of the Pontifical College Josephinum, will be the guest speaker.

Services are held each Monday at 8:30 a.m. with Mass at 10 a.m., 3, 4, 5:30, 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. Confessions are heard during each service.

Fr. Raymond Bauschard is pastor of St. Mary Magdalene, located at Roys-av and Wickliffe-rd.

A man of sensibility, as soon as his heart is touched, loses all traces of habit to guide his action; and how can he follow a path, which he has forgotten all about? . . . Stendhal.

YOUNG NAVIGATORS are given adult supervision in the play room aboard the Aquarama. The children have a vast array of "playground" equipment to delight the small fry of all ages.

Aquarama—

for a little rain. Nothing much beats watching the rain pelt the lake in unusual patterns. It was a highlight of the trip last year.

No sir, there's little chance for monotony on the Aquarama cruise. You'll be busy every minute if you want to be. Of course, you can just relax on the sundeck, read or carry on casual conversation but, chances are, you'll be too excited to sit still long.

Someone will shout from the rail that the Detroit skyline is in view and you'll be up off your deck chair to take a look-see.

Why, pulling into port at Detroit is an education in itself.

It's not often that your children — or yourself, even — will get a chance to see an ocean liner like the Aquarama dock and undock. You'll be amazed at the dexterity of the men working and throwing ropes to tie-down the big vessel.

When the sun sets, more fun begins. A big floor show in the ship's auditorium, tailored to family taste, will hold your interest until the Aquarama makes its final dock in the Cleveland port.

Sure, you'll probably feel a little tired after the voyage. But, you'll have enough mental souvenirs and memories to last you quite a while.

And, enough conversational matter to get you through about three months of coffee breaks back at the office or shop.

Our self-esteem judges the worth of others by the pleasure their friendship gives us; we measure their merit by their treatment of us — Rochefoucauld
